HARRY AND JOE

The Men Behind the Dixie Warehouse

The above picture will be familiar to thousands of farmers in this and adjoining counties. By their honest services and hard work, Messrs. H. L. Meador and Joe Taylor have made themselves popular in the eyes of the people of this section. Ever striving for the interest of their customers, these two men have established a patronage that few warehouses enjoy.

Mr. Meador has been in the tobacco business for seventeen years and the most of this time he has spent on the Williamston market. He is also a farmer, and he knows tobacco from the plant bed to the factory. He has been a mainstay in the upbuilding of this market, and it is with much diligence that he strives ever onward to that end where this market will become one of the largest in this section. It is largely to the credit of him and his partner Mr. Taylor, that the Williamston market this year promises to surpass all previous records.

Mr. Taylor, with 15 years of experience in the tobacco business has placed his whole heart and interest during the period of time in the Williamston market, always striving to please each and every customer who entered his house.

Mr. Taylor is also a farmer and knows the plant from beginning to end.

These men have operated the Dixie warehouse for the past several seasons, and they bid all their old customers and new ones welcome to their house this year.
