We Need to Practice Brotherhood

The practice of brotherhood is one of the chief needs of the day. Yet it really seems that the trend of the tide is the other way. Only one thing is needful to fully solve the problem. More love for each other.

Judge Cranmer in his address at the Chautauqua tent Sunday night placed emphasis on this particular point. Americans can not hate Italians, British, French, French Germans, Germans, Japs, and at the same time operate a successful peace pact. Nor can Jews hate Greeks, Catholics, protestants, and protestants Jews, and fulfill the laws of God, which say "Thou shall love thy neighbor as thyself."

Some wise men say we will have another great war, just as soon as we can raise a generation that has little enough sense; it being admitted that those fellows who have just gone through the horrors of war will not stand for another one.

Yet we are cultivating hatred for the foreigner, and instilling it into our children. If in no other way, we are at least putting ourselves in the "Better than thou" attitude, which is one of the greatest sins.

We do not need a cult nor a school of thought, nor a type of theology, nor a fraternal organization, nor an ethical society, nor comrades of a crusade, nor knights of a reform, nor devotees of a klan, nor members of a party. We want a society of brothers created by the love of God in Christ Jesus, to such an extent that every grace and good work will flow out of it, and every good come to each member from all the rest. For in a brotherhood the strength of all belongs to each. When we are all willing to be brothers we will then have no "antis," "progressives," "digressives," "soundness," "unsoundness," "heretics," nor "pharisees." Wars will cease and peace will reign. We need to be brothers.

Will The Church Bow to Liquor Traffic

Will the church bow its knee to the liquor traffic?

In a large way the church has refused—at least, failed—to bow in worship of God; apparently giving its time and attention, and even affection, to the things of the world. Its votaries have supported the gambling rings, the dance halls, the vice group, the bootlegger. In fact, almost every evil of the day has been fostered by them.

Up to now these things have been done by individual members and without church authority or sanction. There was a day when the church did not stand for it. It had the moral standing and spiritual dignity to call the offenders to account. Then men seemingly had more respect for the church than they now have.

But things have apparently changed. In this new order of things, some good-paying brother is found drunk; some good sister dances a little. Some body is seen falling. Then the church concludes that it is a good thing for folks to do as they please. They use the words "free conscience of man," apparently putting it before the commands of God.

Now comes the Federal Council of Churches saying it is impossible to enforce the prohibition law, which seems to have nerved the German beer makers and the French wine mixers to attempt to put what they call light wines and beer on the people's gain.

Thinking people feel fairly secure against such a condition. But at the same time thinking people know something of the power of paid politicians and the weakness of drunken church members.

Now is the time to look the great problem in the face and fight for better law enforcement. As disgraceful as the enforcement project is said to be, everybody knows there is great improvement; not half the liquor drinking now as under the old plan of legalized liquor.

Perhaps one of the worst things a civilized nation can do is to legalize an evil. Liquor people wrote the law of State and nation until the people outlawed the business. Now is the church going to so belittle itself as to lie down and say, "Liquor, you are a great big evil; you have caught some of our folks already, and we are afraid to fight."

What the church needs is religion. What the country needs is men and morals.

ONE WAY OF REDUCING NAVY'S PERSONNEL

At last our country seems determined to reduce the personnel burdened to reduce its Navy.

Week before last is best and biggest-flying ship was destroyed in a storm and a number of the leading airmen in the navy were killed.

Last week one of the best and latest model submarines was destroyed, and more than 30 men went to their death.

This fighting business seems to be surrounded with many dangers. It seems to be pretty dangerous even to get ready to fight.

ATE TOO FAST South Carolinian Took Black-Draught For Indigestion, and Says He Could Soon Eat Anything.

Ballentine, S. C.—Mr. W. B. Bouknight, of this place, gave the following account of his use of Theford's Black-Draught.

"Just after I married I had indigestion. Working out, I got in the habit of eating fast, for which I soon paid by having a tight, bloated feeling after meals. This made me very uncomfortable. I would feel stupid and drowsy, didn't feel like working. I was told it was indigestion. Some one recommended Black-Draught and I took it after meals. I soon could eat anything any time.

"I use it for colds and biliousness and it will knock out a cold and carry away the bile better and quicker than any liver medicine I have ever found."

Eating too fast, too much, or faulty chewing of your food, often causes discomfort after meals. A pinch of Black-Draught, washed down with a swallow of water, will help to bring prompt relief. Bloating sensations, eructations, bad breath and other common symptoms of indigestion have disappeared after Black-Draught has been taken for several days.

Theford's BLACK-DRAUGHT LIVER MEDICINE

said bond the undersigned trustee will, on the 14th day of October, 1925, at 12 o'clock noon, in front of the courthouse door of Martin County, offer at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, the following described tract of land:

Beginning at a black gum at the Calet Mizelle line and James A. Rodger corner, thence westwardly along James A. Rodger line to a ditch knoll along said ditch to a long leaf pine, thence along Sophie Rogers line to a lightwood stop; thence east along a line of marked trees to a black pine and pine in Calet Mizelle's line, thence along Calet Mizelle's line to the beginning, containing 50 acres, more or less.

This 14th of September, 1925.

Makes Night Driving SAFE

The Controllable Beam on the Better Buick

Night driving strain, the blind insecurity when you dim to keep glare out of the eyes of an approaching driver—both have been eliminated by the Controllable Beam Headlight, a feature of the Better Buick.

Daytime visibility every inch of the way! Bright light all the time! A simple control on the steering wheel lowers the beam when you near another car.

And this is only one of many 1926 improvements which Buick engineering has given to the Better Buick. 75 horsepower and more; Duotone in Duco finish; Triple Sealed Valve-in-Head engine; light-pedal pressure clutch; approved mechanical 4-wheel brakes; and many other exclusive advancements now make the Better Buick the better car to own and drive.
