Miss Jean Dent Watts Celebrates Birthday

Little Miss Jean Dent Watts celebrated her sixth birthday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Watts, in New Town, on Tuesday afternoon.

There were about forty little folks invited and they had a happy time playing games together, led by Mrs. W. B. Watts, Mrs. J. W. Watts, jr., and Miss Alice Dent. The little hostess was presented with many lovely birthday gifts.

Mrs. Watts served her daughter's guests with ice cream cones and cakes which they heartily enjoyed.

When there is a real cooking job to be done, nothing will "pull the load" as well and give the cook's skill as much of a chance as a good old coal and wood range, in the opinion of B. S. Courtney. Mr. Courtney is not knocking the many recent inventions in cook stoves. He sells lots of the new type. But he contends that any woman who wants to succeed at her three meals a day, hot water when asked for job needs a Majestic Range. There will be a worth-while exhibit of new model Majestics at B. S. Courtney's furniture store all next week. A fine set of cooking utensils, choice of two sets, will be given away with every Majestic bought during the week.
