Person's Ridiculous Suggestion

Now comes the ten thousand cure and tell the boys just how to handle that.

The one most laughable comes from Wiley M. Person, the recently defeated candidate for superior court judge from the Franklin-Wake district, and the famous attorney who has sought to kill the farmers' tobacco association, finally succeeding through his pernicious methods, in throwing it into the hands of receivers; and who is now barking at the heels of Judge Meekins trying to extort from the association an outrageous fee.

Now comes the Hon. Person, with love for the poor farmer and gold to fill their pockets and food to fill their mouths.

His plan is for the State to call a special session of the legislature to declare the price of cotton to be 17 1-2 cents per pound, at present 6 cents above the market price.

The Hon. Person says let the farmer carry his cotton to the sheriff and pay his taxes at a basis of 17 1-2 cents per pound, and let the State furnish the county money to run on until cotton goes to 17 1-2 cents. The Honorable Person would require the sundry sheriffs to receive, store, and keep the cotton in their respective offices until such time as cotton rises in price to the 17 1-2 cent level. He figures that it will only take 17,000 bales of cotton to pay the Wake County taxes. Of course, he did not state how many bales it would take to pay the Martin County taxes, but it would take, according to a fair estimate, 3,500 bales. Now, we hardly think Sheriff Roberson could take care of that much cotton in his 12x16 office. Person makes no provision for interest, insurance, and storage; but of father than they do as words of wisdom he could drop into the legislature.

Peanut Growers Struggling for Existence

Peanut growers are in a great struggle to organize themselves, for the protection of their industry.

No great business today moves without completely organized cooperation. Everything in business is completely organized except the justice of farming. For the want of the peanut farmer. He loses on a big crop and gets no price advantage from a small crop. This is because the overflow from China and Japan floods into our country and holds down prices, whether we have a small crop or a large crop. Oriental peanuts can come to our country and pay the present tariff duty and put the price at actual cost to the American farmer to produce.

When the farmer learns that every man he sells to is organized to beat down his product and every man he buys from is organized to sell him at a high price, he will probably wake up, yet it may be too late.

If the peanut farmers of North Carolina and Virginia fail to complete their organization by October 15 the peanut industry stands a chance of being forced from the field in this country.

The only feature in the contract is to handle a portion of their crop collectively and market it an orderly manner. Farmers should remember the last day of the contract period is October 15.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear Mother, Thomas Bonnie McCoy Leggett, who departed this life October 9, 1925, to enter the celestial regions above, where all is peace, and joy, and love.

Asleep in Jesus brother lies; His soul at rest beyond the skies, While we linger here below Awake to sorrow, grief and woe.

He viewed the flowers of Eden fair Amid the misty realms of air. Oh, who could doubt his resting place When they beheld his peaceful face? Laying there so cold and still, Asleep in Jesus at His will.

Sleep on, dear brother, and take thy rest;

I loved thee, but God loved thee best. A precious one from me has gone; A voice I loved is still;

A place is vacant in our home, Which never can be filled.

Jesus, thou art the sinner's friend;

As such I look to thee;

In all my sorrows, conflicts, woes, Dear Lord, remember me.

—His loving sister,
Mrs. GEO. C. JENKINS.
