Tarboro-Plymouth Trains Are Needed

It now looks like we are to lose two of our passenger trains, numbers 56 and 57, known as the Tarboro-Plymouth trains, and which are designated here as the "one and five o'clock trains." The Atlantic Coast Line Railroad has filed a petition with the North Carolina Corporation Commission asking permission to discontinue these trains.

The people served by these trains have the right to be heard in the matter.

It will have to be admitted that the trains are not used so much and may not pay the expense of operation; but these trains are a part of a system that is paying big dividends. The railroad is a public-service institution covering a large area for the purpose, on the one side, of living by service. They are like the good merchant who carries a full stock to accommodate the needs of every customer, though there may be many articles that he actually loses money on. Many good farmers cultivate parts of their fields which never yield any profit, because the type of soil will not produce a crop that will pay its cost of production; but the farmer cultivates it to make his farm square up and look better.

The railroad's policy of discarding everything in their system which does not yield an actual profit is more selfish than the farmer or the merchant. It is a fact that not so many people are riding these trains. Yet they are hauling mail and express. The largest outgoing mail from Windsor, Plymouth, Williamston, and every town west to Tarboro goes on these trains. It means that much of the traffic will have to stay at Parmele for about half a day.

Unless the people who are interested take some action and go before the commission with a protest, these trains will be taken off; so it is up to the people to get busy, as they will have to do if they save these trains.

Enlightenment Falls Behind

George Washington doubtless expected greater progress in enlightenment when he said, "In proportion as the structure of government gives force to public opinion, it is essential that public opinion be enlightened."

Yet enlightenment is about as far behind in the great onward sweep of the universe as any other factor in the vast machine.

The structure of government is now shaped and handed down to the people rather than conceived by the people and then fixed in government. The dangerous feature is that politicians are now fixing the policies, whereas there was a time when statesmen looked after the molding of our policies.

THE LETTER BOX

CARD OF THANKS
As it is impossible to speak to each one personally, we take this means to try, in our feeble way, to extend to each individual who in any way aided us or ministered to our darling Stella, some of the gratitude with which our hearts are overflowing.

While nothing that tender hands or loving hearts could do could stay the hand of death, each act or deed, however small, will never be forgotten. Mr. and Mrs. JOHN R. COLTRAIN and CHILDREN.

CARD OF THANKS
Editor of The Enterprise:—Please allow me space to express my thanks to the large number of persons who recently contributed to paying my hospital bill, where I remained for three weeks and underwent two operations. I also wish to thank those of my friends who were instrumental in raising said fund.

Very truly,
THAD ROBERSON, Jr.

CHILDREN'S ILLS

Arkansas Lady Says She Has Never Found a Better Laxative Than Theford's Black-Draught.

Mineral Springs, Ark.—"We use Black-Draught in our family of six children," says Mrs. C. E. Nutt, of this place, "and we find it a good bowel regulator. I give it to my children for colds and constipation, or any other stomach disorders, and it certainly is very helpful. I have never known it to fail them. Where there are so many children, it is a good idea to keep a laxative on hand, and Black-Draught is what we use."

"I have taken it myself for indigestion. I would feel dizzy, have gas and sour stomach. I would also feel a tightness in my chest. I took a good dose of Theford's Black-Draught when I felt that way and it would relieve me. I would feel better for days."

"My husband takes Black-Draught for biliousness. He says he has never found its equal. When he has the tired, heavy feeling, he takes Black-Draught night and morning for a few days and he doesn't complain any more. I sure do recommend Black-Draught."

Sold everywhere. Get a package of Black-Draught, today. Costs only one cent a dose. NC-175
