

TREASURER REVIEWS FINANCES OF TOWN

 terest and principal on these bonds, there remain only $7,000 for general operation of all the town's departments.

When the light and water departments were reached, the report took on another aspect, this time a most favorable one. As against an operating loss for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, a profit amounting to $20,000 from June 30, 1925, to April 1, 1927, was shown. Besides showing a large profit the department has pumped the town's water and furnished street lights. No less than $3,000 would be required to furnish this service, and that amount should be added to the $20,000 as additional profit.

The budgets for the various departments have been closely adhered to, in one or two instances they were a little too small and in others they were a little too large.

The report in full, as prepared by Mr. Meadows, appears elsewhere in this issue, and should be interesting to citizens of the town.

Text of Address Made by President Of Woman's Club

 club by which the kitchen is so well equipped that the work there is no longer burdensome.

As your retiring presiding officer I might with the prisoner of Chillon exclaim, "I, even I, regain my freedom with a sigh,"—a sigh not for the surcease of presidential responsibilities but a sigh for the things that might have been accomplished,—a sigh for the things that can be done.

I shall ever feel grateful for the privilege and honor of serving as your first president, and if I have had a small part in putting together the foundation of a basic structure I shall count myself fortunate. I bespeak for our incoming president the same loyalty, the same whole-hearted cooperation which you have given me: officers, departments, committees, individuals have granted every request that I have made, an experience which I believe to be almost unique, and for this unwavering support I wish to convey my thanks and sincere appreciation.

In the life of the Club—a life that is just beginning to, as it were, stand alone, we have much to be proud of and as we look towards the future let it be with hope and courage for "all may do what by man has done." With more women enlisted greater achievements are ours—let us strive for the time, if not in our day then in that of your daughters, when North Carolina will not be "static" but will be able to broadcast she is not "too ignorant to vote nor too poor to educate."

I thank the Club for all courtesies extended me—for the trip to the State meeting in Asheville which broadened my vision and showed the possibilities that lie before the women of every community when they are banded together to support the best interests of the community. Nor am I unmindful of the many kindnesses and courtesies extended the Club by the town and individual citizens—water and light come to us without cost—fuel has been donated by the Lindsay Ice company—the Enterprise has given cheerfully and unstintingly of its space for our announcements, programs, etc., and individuals have rendered various services even to the washing of dishes—services probably small in the estimation of the individual, but meaning much in the aggregate.

As I dream of the Club's future the veil is lifted, and I see the spaces between the windows lined with bookcases, a cheerful and cheering fire glowing on a large old-fashioned hearth, reading tables placed here and there, magazines at hand and grouped around these tables I see men and women, boys and girls enjoying through the printed page the achievement of all the ages. I see it not as a centre of amusement alone, but a centre of worth while things—when art, music memory contests, better English week and the last club lecture will not be topics foreign to our thought. Dreams, you say? Maybe, but yet dreams with potential possibilities.

And now may I urge you to buy the Federation Histories now on hand, that you make an effort to attend District and State meetings—such information and inspiration can come to you in no other way?

As I quit the office with which you have seen fit to honor me may I leave you this little gavel? May it never be used in harshness but ever with wisdom and love; as it calls us "to order" may it also call us to service—"to strive, to seek, to find and not to yield."

Buy Your Oil with Your Eyes Open

See the golden color as it pours

Many motorists do no more when buying oil than drive up and say "two quarts." Some go a step further and buy their oil by name. But the motorist who wants Texaco, and knows why he wants it, goes still further and proves that the oil he gets is the oil he pays for. He identifies it by the clean, clear, golden color of Texaco Motor Oil which is as distinctive and easily recognizable as the trade-mark on a sealed can.

See the golden color in the Texaco Comparoscope. Watch the golden stream as it pours. From then on—so long as you continue to buy golden Texaco—your engine will be free from carbon troubles and excessive wear. Consult the Texaco Lubrication Chart for the right grade to use.
