Dead Trees a Menace to Life and Limb

Dead trees in the town are very unsightly; but worse, they are very dangerous. There are now about a dozen dead trees on the streets of our town, from which limbs are constantly falling. Children play under them every day, and people walk under them constantly. It will cost the town only a small sum to have these trees removed. But should an accident occur and some person be killed or hurt the town will have to pay the full penalty.

The town has no right to permit any dangerous obstacle to remain.

There is nothing more dangerous than old dead trees standing, with rotten limbs tumbling off constantly. Clean-up week is the time to rid the town of these dangerous menaces.

The town is not liable for damages from the falling of green trees, but it is for damage caused from dead trees.

The Importance of Town Politics

This is the season when law dodgers are looking around in this State; it is the time for town elections, and the time when the lawbreakers are looking around for town commissioners and mayors and policemen who can't see well enough to distinguish a breaker of the law.

The speeder wants a police that can't tell the difference between a 20 and a 40-mile gait. The gambler wants a policeman who will keep watch for him lest he be slipped up on. The night prowler wants a policeman that sleeps a lot so he can make safe his raids. The bootlegger wants a policeman who thinks that every bottle contains nothing but water, and even if he tastes it still calls it water.

All the unlawful forces will consolidate their power, and unless at the one side or the other, stand with careful and constant watch, they will get such strong representation on most of the town boards that it will be easy to flank the law in almost any town in the State.

Then the people complain about the laws not being enforced. They need not expect law enforcement from mayors, commissioners, and police-men who are themselves unlawful citizens.

In our own town test questions will come up, as they always do, when those in authority will have to take

FELT VERY POORLY

Weak and Run-Down Missouri
Woman Got Strong and Well.
Says Cardui Started Her
On Road To Health.

Clarksburg, Mo.—Mrs. T. G. Harris, of this place, says:

"For two years I was in very poor health. Some of the time I was almost past going. I was very weak and run-down."

"I tried to make the most of what little strength I had by taking frequent rests, but I could find nothing which would start me on the road to health again, until one day I decided to try Cardui."

"I had heard about other women who had been benefited after taking it, so I made up my mind to see what it would do for me. I took Cardui for several months and was very much gratified with the results."

"I began to do my own work again, which I had not been able to do for a long time past. My color, which had been pale and sallow, became natural, and my complexion cleared up. I gained in weight and was pleased to have an improved appetite."

"When I finished my last bottle of Cardui I was feeling better than I had in years. Now I am strong and well."

Why Martin Has But 2 Grade 'A' Farmers

Martin County farmers did not in a crop lien to borrow money to score very high in grade when only two, Calvin Ayers and A. W. Bailey, were awarded certificates of "A" grade for 1926.

The reason that so few were included was that so few paid any attention to it. There are certainly more than a hundred Martin County farmers who can score 80 on the standard set up by the college and bankers. Most of them would appreciate having a document in their house signed by distinguished persons certifying that they were a blessing to their community and to the commonwealth.

Yet that little thing we call carelessness, neglect, heedlessness, want of concern, disregard, cause the most of the best of us to leave off doing our best.

It happens that in this case it causes no material loss. But the same reason—though on a bigger scale—causes hundreds of farmers to be utterly disqualified for certificates of efficiency in farming. They neglect to raise enough corn, enough hay, and had rather go buy. They neglect to feed the hogs and give them proper care, and have to buy meat. The neglect planting the garden, and have no vegetables. They don't care to go to the trouble to plant potatoes; they had rather eat biscuit. It is just too much trouble to milk the cow, and they hate chickens too bad to be harassed by them.

They frequently had rather buy fruit than pick it up. So far as wanting to take an inventory, they don't care to know what they have, as they only have to value it twice a year anyway; once when they have to put it

SUGGESTIONS FOR EASTER

The test of life is its attitude toward those with whom it is associated. If I claim to be a Christian and yet continually criticise and find fault with my companions in social life, every man sees the hypocrisy of my profession. If I have no control of my temper, but am constantly flying into a rage with my associates in social life, class room, or athletic field,

I am not exhibiting the fruits of Christian experience. The fruit of the Christ friendship is the friendly life. If one does not find himself growing into an increasing friendliness for men, if he is not more sympathetic in spirit, then he is not giving the Christ life a chance to mold his character.—("Introducing Men to Christ," W. D. Weatherford, Ph.D.)
