The Human Heart Still Has the Light of Love

We sometimes hear the fear expressed that the human heart is rapidly changing from the organ of our better and lovelier nature, filled with affection and joy, to an organ of bitter and sterner nature, filled with self-interest and cold calculation. Such a fear is not only false but dangerous. Because it undermines every expression of nature and violates all the principles of Christianity. We may sometimes feel that the best things in life are far off, yet it is only the smoke screen of pleasure and commercialism that has hidden the true heart of the world for a time. But get sick and see how quickly the world finds itself. See those people who actually count in life come with their service to make life real. So we are sure that the day will never grow so dim nor the night so dark that the light of love will not flow from the human heart.

The Line Between Investment and Service

This air business is getting rather monotonous. Every day the wind is wrong for the Byrd flight. There certainly is plenty of wind for the flight, but it is just wrong. We hope Mr. Byrd will meet with the same fine success that Col. Lindbergh had, because he is a worthy and daring American citizen. Yet we can see no good reason why so much should be said about the hop-off.

It looks as if we American folks are the greatest people on earth for neglecting our cool, sober business affairs.

Secretary Davis's Good Suggestion

Nothing has hurt the country's business more than the old Harding cry of "Back to Normalcy." It caused all the small businesses to try to adjust themselves to pre-war prices and conditions, which were exactly contrary to economic conditions then existing and made more impossible by the great war debts added to the unparalleled private debts of the people.

"Back to normalcy" meant almost the same thing to business when it was in a strain as pulling the fire from the boiler would have on a locomotive that had a long hill to climb with a heavy load to pull. The power to pull the greatest financial load the country ever had on it was cut by the old false cry of "Back to normalcy."

they made good traders of hundreds of thousands of people. They raised freight rates to pay their additional wages and to cover the interest on the large additional indebtedness they had taken on themselves. They collected these charges from the gang that was singing "Back to normalcy," and letting their wages and crops and products sink back to the level of the old days. The plan followed by the railroads of the country has caused the value of their stock, as a whole, to double in value, while the property of the "Back to normalcy" gang has gone down to about half its true value.

Secretary Davis, of the Coolidge cabinet, now comes out and says the remedy for the country is to increase the price of the country's products;

Time To Come To Earth

"I think it is a good investment," were the words of C. S. Woolworth, vice president of the Woolworth Co., when he and Frederick J. Platt, another of the vice presidents of the same company, recently turned over a $400,000 dormitory to the Y. W. C. A. of Scranton, Pa.

Without inquiring as to the purpose or meaning of Mr. Woolworth in his opinion as to the investment, everybody will admit that it is a wonderful investment for the young women of Scranton and will make the world better.

However, there is a distinct line dividing investment and service. It is not hard for the wealthy to bestow their goods on the poor and call it an investment, because it is too often returning only to those from whence it came.

It is hard—or couned hard—to take up the cross and follow on in actual service, the kind that takes more than the check signature, the kind of sacrifice that puts man in the background instead of in the foreground.

It is not always a safe sign to see a man turn over "one-tenth to the Lord" and the other nine-tenths to his own pleasure. The Lord is not nearly so much concerned over His one-tenth, because he has riches enough without it; what counts with the Lord is how His subjects use the the labor and the commodity the labor produces, whether it be the goods from the factory or the crops from the field. Then the fellow that owes taxes, interest, and debts will be able to pay them. There is no other way for a man to pay his outstanding obligations except by receiving enough above a living wage or salary to apply on his obligations or debts. Of course, economy should be the watchword in the living, and not extravagance.

If Secretary Davis can put his idea into operation in the country's business, it will put a new and healthy life in the country. And it is about time to break the stranglehold of big business from the necks of the producers of this country and let the boat adjust itself to an even keel again.

nine-tenths they spend themselves. There is no special need to turn over the tenth to the Lord, but it is of great consequence as to how we spend our own energies.

No man need expect to invest in heaven with silver and gold. There is already plenty of riches there. All they need up there are those who have proven themselves to be worthy servants here. It helps if the man both willingly gives and serves.

BAD PAINS IN SIDE

Spells of Nervousness Also Troubled This Lady Who Gives Cardui Credit for Helping Her Get Well.

Depew, Okla.—"For six years," says Mrs. Edd Burton, of this place, "I suffered as bad as a woman can suffer and still keep going."

"I was good for nothing, was lifeless and pale, unable to eat anything. Nothing agreed with me. At times I had such bad pains in my sides and back I would have to go to bed. I had cramping spells and would faint if I stood on my feet any length of time. My nerves would become upset at the least little thing and I would have spells of crying that were so exhausting they left me prostrate.

"Several of my friends suggested that I take Cardui. They told me of their experiences with it, how much they have been helped. At last I decided to try it.

"In a few weeks, I could see that I was improving, so I kept on. I did not expect the troubles of years to disappear in a few days, nor did they, but in time I was much better. I kept up the Cardui treatment for several months and thanks to it I am a well woman now."

Announcing The New Benthall Peanut Picker

The 1927 Benthall Peanut Pickers will be equipped with one size chain throughout, mechanically improved sprockets and closed grease cups instead of oil pipes. This will mean less wear and upkeep, therefore adding to the life of the pickers.

Picking and Brush Bars have been added which increase the capacity.

Pickers are equipped with combination hopper and feed stand so that the machine can be fed with fork from the ground, thereby dispensing with one man.

These improvements have added to the cost of production, but the prices remain as heretofore.

This age of high standards welcomes the Camel quality

MODERN smokers are the most exacting ever known, and they place Camel first among cigarettes.

For Camel was created to succeed in the hardest-to-please age ever known. It was made to satisfy those who demand the utmost, and modern smokers have given it such popularity as no other cigarette ever had.

If you're downright hard to please, just try Camels. Tobacco taste and fragrance will be revealed as never before, for Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos, supremely blended. This modern cigarette exceeds all other standards but its own. To light one is to find taste fulfillment. "Have a Camel!"
