Highway Commission's Crusoe Stunt

The State Highway commission, like other creatures, can make errors. This was clearly seen last Wednesday when the throngs of people gathered to see the new bridge across the wide Chowan river, but found the Highway commission had forgotten to build a road to it.

It looked very much like the deed of Robinson Crusoe when he built his large boat and had no way to get it into the water.

To be sure, the commission has let a contract for the grading of the road, but the road is not complete and work has reached only to that point where the road is in a muddy fix.

The people visiting the scene yesterday grumbled and cursed and made their autos to smoke and roar in an effort to reach the beautiful bridge. That's not all, they will continue to grumble and curse for several months to come because the road is a long way from completion.

The Highway commission just overlooked the fact that two things are necessary for travel, good roads and good bridges and not bridges alone.

Agricultural Schools and Peace

The report comes from the League of Nations that one of the greatest factors so far seen to promote permanent peace is the American agricultural schools among the peasants of the Near East. There the humble people are enabled to see the good life as they have never seen before. The political field has failed to give peace and prosperity; rather, it has led people apart and created strife and misunderstanding.

Political leaders do not want men to know each other because they know it leaves no place for them to play their political tricks.

Now that the poor people of the East see the good in the American by sight, they have learned to love our nation. So by bringing their farmers and our farmers together, we find it is doing more to promote world peace in a few short years than our diplomats and our armies have done in centuries.

This only adds further proof that you can't make friends of people by wounding and killing them.

Things To Think About

By JAMES D. TAYLOR

Your Duty to Vote

Will the time ever come when we will appreciate the importance of voting in elections? Most of us are interested in law enforcement and we want good schools. Certainly we would like for our children to be protected in every way possible. We want them to be prepared for useful service. Yet some of us do not associate the polls with the things we so much desire.

I have known good citizens to go fishing or to a baseball game on election day yet claim not to have time to vote. The votes of good citizens are needed more than the others. If you love your town, your county, your country and its flag, go to the polls and vote.

And remember if you do not vote you have little right to say that the wrong men are in office. You are to blame for the result. It's your fault when men known to be crooked are elected to office. The cap of neglect fits those who do not vote and there is nothing else to do but wear it.

Whenever there is an election, regardless of how busy you may be, remember it is your duty to help pull for the best man.

A Pal

There is nothing in this world more valuable than a comrade and pal. Everyone needs a comrade. There comes a time in each of our lives when adversity tests our courage. Often for days at time it seems we find new thorns and brambles in our path. Then we need, more than anything else, a pal.

It is very easy to have a comrade and friend but strange to say there are few who have real pals. Somehow we can better go our way without heeding any obstacles in our path when we have by our side someone who is sincere and true. Father, mother, brother, sister or someone to whom we can go when we find it hard to carry on.

I recently lost a good pal. He was only a dog but Jack was a wonderful comrade. Regardless of how my human friends treated me Jack was always the same. Kind and loving, he was a real pal.

Make someone your pal. Your wife or sweetheart or someone who will be true blue. Then you be someone's pal. Be just the kind of pal you want your pal to be. Do not be an easy pal but always be without a trait of quit or discouragement. With the steel of courage always showing, slip up silently to your pal and let him know that you will be near when it's cold and when it's dark.

WORLD GROWS SMALLER

That the world is growing smaller, sympathies, is illustrated by the visit this month to India of Charles V. in the sense that the nations are getting closer together in thoughts and Vickrey, general secretary of the Near East Relief. Americans generally think of the Near East Relief as a purely American organization, but its work has for some time had the active aid and participation of people in many foreign countries, and last year it enlisted the cooperation of organizations from more than fifty nations.

In India, Mr. Vickrey will confer at some length with Gandhi, the great religious leader and philosopher, who has long been interested in international philanthropy in the Near East. Mr. Gandhi is a thorough believer in the Golden Rule as a guiding principle for nations as well as for individuals, and his support will mean a great deal for the international Golden Rule movement fostered by Mr. Vickrey through his philanthropic activities for the children of Bible Lands.

In his present trip around the world, Mr. Vickrey has already presented his credentials as a "Golden Rule Ambassador" from America to the peoples of Japan, Australia, China and Siam. Most people look upon the Near East Relief as influencing strategically a few millions of people in Turkey, Syria, Palestine, Greece and Armenia. But close observers travelling through eastern Europe and western Asia get a new conception of geography and international relations, and they find that American philanthropy has become an influence for good in every country of the world. Constructive philanthropy, according to Mr. Vickrey, is contributing more largely than any other force to international good will, justice, righteousness and world

UNEASY SLEEP

"Nerves Were All to Pieces," Says Lady Who Tells How Cardui Helped Her When She Was Run-Down.

Hopkins, S. C.—Mrs. G. W. Arrants, of this place, says: "I was suffering from spells of weakness. These would come on me suddenly and I would have to give up and go to bed. For several months I did not sleep well at night and got no rest from sleep. I was very nervous. I could not bear the least noise. The children worried me. My nerves were all to pieces. I had taken Cardui several times before, so I sent at once for some and began to take it again. At the end of a short time I felt much better, so I kept right on taking Cardui. When I would feel a nervous spell coming on, I took it more frequently for a few days."

"I can certainly say Cardui helped me wonderfully, for after a time the nervousness disappeared entirely. I could sleep at night and my general health was better. My appetite picked up and I enjoyed my meals, too. Thousands of other women have told of the benefit they have received from the use of Cardui. Keep it on hand, to take when needed. A medicine of long-established merit, mild, harmless. At all drug stores. NC-100
