MANNING-ADAMS

Pretty Wedding in Four Oaks Wednesday

A wedding of marked charm and beauty was that of Miss Sallie Adams and Mr. William C. Manning jr., solemnized at eight o'clock at the Four Oaks Methodist Episcopal Church Wednesday evening. The church was decorated beautifully and was a pretty setting for the occasion. Long leaf pine, smilax, and ferns were used for the background, against which were used white asters, lilies, and swansonia. Tapers on both sides of the church and arranged effectually in four tall candleabra back of the altar rail shed a soft glow over the whole church, completing the setting.

A program of wedding music was rendered prior to the entrance of the bridal party by Miss Mildred Yarbboro, of Spring Hope, pianist, and Mrs. Roy Johnson, who sang "For Your Sake," and "O Perfect Love." Traumerie was played softly during the ceremony.

Messrs. James C. Manning and Milton J. Moye, ushers, were first to enter. Then came the dames of honor, Mrs. J. C. Manning and Mrs. R. C. Canady; Mrs. Manning dressed in orchid georgette with silver trimming and carrying a bouquet of pink roses and asters. Mrs. Canady wore pink georgette trimmed with silk lace and also carried an arm bouquet of roses and asters.

The groomsmen, C. D. Carstarphen, jr. and Francis Barnes, were followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Margaret Manning, sister of the groom, and Miss Essie Jordan, of Creswell. They both wore light blue georgette dresses with panels of silver lace trimming and carried bouquets of old-fashioned garden flowers. Next came Miss Oma Adams, youngest sister of the bride, who was maid of honor. She wore a green chiffon and silk lace creation and carried pink roses. After her came little Miss Charlotte Debnam, cousin of the bride, of Raleigh, as flower girl. She was lovely in a pink georgette dress with flower and ribbon trimming. Meeting her at the altar was little Leon Adams, jr., another cousin of the bride, who was ring-bearer. He was attractive in a white satin suit.

Following her flower girl, came the bride with her brother, Thomas Adams, who gave her in marriage, and joined the groom, who was waiting at the altar with his best man, his brother, Francis M. Manning.

The bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white satin, trimmed with real lace and pearls, made bouffant style. Her veil and train were of embroidered lace caught in attractive fashion around her face with orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. G. T. Adams, cousin of the bride, of Sanford, assisted by Rev. E. D. Dodd, of Four Oaks.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was given at the lovely country home of the bride, by her mother, Mrs. B. Adams. The receiving line was composed of the bridal party, the bride's mother, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Manning, parents of the groom.

Punch was served on the front porch and after the guests had met the bridal party and been shown into the gift room by Mrs. Brewer, of Raleigh, they were served cream in bridal slipper molds, with green iced heart-shaped cakes and favors by Miss Margaret Strickland and Miss Margaret Brewer, of Raleigh. After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Manning left by motor for a few days' trip. They will take their real trip in October when they will attend the meeting of the Carolinas and Georgia Press Associations, to be held in Cuba.

Mrs. Manning is a daughter of the late David and of Mrs. Bettie Adams, of Four Oaks. She is one of the most beloved young women of her section, being a great worker in both the church and social life of Johnston County. Her lovely character and personality has endeared her to a host of friends in that section who regret her departure. She graduated in music from Atlantic Christian College and has taken post-graduate work at the University. She will be a great addition to the musical life of the town.

Mr. Manning is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Manning, and had too, graduated from Atlantic Christian College the same year as his bride. He is business manager of The Enterprise, and is a young man very popular in his home town, where he has decided to make his home.

WET or DRY.

A wet gas, as it would appear in the manifold, is a mixture of gasoline vapor with liquid gasoline globules which form a wet film at the manifold bends and enrich certain cylinders at the expense of others.

A dry gas, the new Texaco, vaporizes at a lower temperature than others on the market and forms a perfect dry motor fuel which distributes evenly and gives a smooth flow of power to every cylinder.

Is there a difference in the quality of different gasolines?

Every difference! The new and better Texaco Gasoline is different from other gasolines. It forms a dry gas. It is a true high test gasoline. It has a lower boiling point and lower end point. It is more volatile. The new and better Texaco gives more mileage—a quicker pick-up and better acceleration. The Texaco Red Star and Green T pump is the place to stop for gas.
