

DEPUTIES SEIZE SEVERAL STILL IN PAST WEEK

Get Big Steam Plant and Outfit Near Oak City Thursday

OPERATORS ESCAPED

Another Plant Destroyed Near Old Sam Andrews Mill Site in Parmele Section

Last week while the federal officers were pushing their work in these parts, Deput S. H. Grimes with assistants pushed his own. Thursday morning the Deputy went to a point about a mile back of Roscoe Lark's near Oak City and found a big steam plant. The officers arrived at the scene while the plant was running wide open. The liquor was working its way to the jug, and the operators were firing the outfit off a finish. The officers were detected by the still's operators just a little too soon to make a chase possible. While the officers heard a conversation, they did not see but one man, and could not recognize him. They stated that they thought he was white, but there was so much dirt and smoot on his face that they had to express doubt as to the right color.

The plant was completely destroyed when the officers pried it in one big pile, primed it with the five gallons of liquor found there and applied a match to it.

Saturday morning Deputy Grimes went into the Parmele section where he destroyed another steam outfit. The plant was near the old Sam Andrews mill site near Parmele. The operators were running a little ahead of the deputy's schedule, for all the mash had been worked up and the results carried away. The outfit was destroyed.

Averages Show Increase on Markets in South Carolina

In brief, reports coming from the South Carolina markets indicate a little higher average than has been given since the markets in that State opened. In a personal letter to a tobaccoist here a man on one of the markets there stated that several of the markets were averaging around 26 cents, and that the Imperial Tobacco company was making heavy purchases on many of the markets.

HOT-DOG STAND MOVES TO ITS NEW LOCATION

Town Ordinance Forces Removal From Main Street

ONE MORE TO GO

Simon Lilley To Move His Stand As Soon As He Recovers From Present Illness

The hot dog stand once located next the Atlantic hotel and belonging to Messrs. Andrews and Leggett, was moved to a new location on Houghton street extension next to the Brick Warehouse company's property and that of the Roanoke-Dixie property. The move to the new location was brought about as a result of an order passed by the town commissioners some time ago requiring all hot dog stands to move from within the fire district.

The one next to the bank here has been closed since the 1st of this month, the limit made by the commissioners, and its occupant took his business to the building next to the Dunn plumbing shop. The building which is now vacant will be moved from the street as soon as its owner, Mr. Simon Lilley, recovers from a case of typhoid fever, it is understood.

FEDERAL AGENTS CAPTURE STILL

13-Year-Old Boy Only Person at Still; Released Under Bond

Saturday morning, P. L. Flinchum, enforcement officer from New Bern with two assistants, turned into the "Honey Road" at Corey's store near here and after going about two miles found a still running full blast. Johnnie Carrawan, a boy 13 years old, was the only person present. He said he passed along with his brother and the operator and owner of the still asked him to stay and watch the jugs for him about an hour when he would return.

In the meantime, however, news of the appearance of the officers in the neighborhood had spread and the owner never returned. Joe Carrowan, after learning of the presence of the officers, rushed down to the still to get his brother, Johnnie, and fell into the hands of the enforcement men.

The still was captured and the beer along with several gallons of liquor was poured out.

TWO FARMERS OF COUNTY TRY OUT BORDER MARKET

Much Tobacco Being Sold in Kinston and Wilson Territory

GET AVERAGE OF 18c

One Farmer Said He Saw a Few Piles Go As High As 35 Cents, But They Were Unusual

Two farmers from this county averaged 18 cents for a load of tobacco sold on the Lumberton and Whiteville markets last week, according to indirect reports learned here, he names of the farmers were withheld, but the average was given as being correct. The sale on the markets near the border were said to have been made more as an experiment than anything else, but it is understood that much tobacco in the Wilson, Kinston and their surrounding territory is going to the markets near the border.

The situation as it affects the markets in this immediate section is very little noticed, but in some sections it is not looked upon very favorably. Around ten million pounds of tobacco have been or will be sold from certain sections in this part of the State on the markets bordering the South Carolina line, according to estimates made by citizens in the towns where the tobacco is said to be leaving.

One of the farmers from this county who is said to have sold tobacco there stated that he saw one or two piles go as high as 35 cents, but that was out of the ordinary run of sales.

SUGAR CAUSES CAPTURE STILLS

Officers Looking for Stolen Sugar Run Across Several Stills

A quantity of sugar stolen from a box car in Parmele a few days ago led to the capture of several stills in that section this week and the latter part of last. Knowing the uses that sugar is put to in the manufacture of liquor, officers started searching the woods. Deputy Grimes was successful as far as stills were concerned in one raid, but found no sugar. Sheriff Reebuck also captured and destroyed a steam plant yesterday morning about a mile and half on the other side of Parmele, but found no trace of the stolen sugar.

Officers are still working after the stolen sugar and arrests are expected today or tomorrow.

Continue to Hope for Safety of Redfern

No news has yet been heard from Paul R. Redfern, the Brunswick, Ga. flier who left Georgia last Thursday for South America the distance to his proposed destination being 4,600 miles. He was scheduled to land in the early afternoon Saturday but up to now not a word has been heard from him.

A storm raged in his proposed path at about the time he was due. Many theories are being advanced as to his fate. Some say he was blown from his course and finally landed in midocean, others think he was forced down in some of the lonely islands in the Caribbean sea and that he may be wandering around lost. There are some who think he reached the mainland of South America and that he is lost in the 2500 miles of jungles somewhere between the shores of the Caribbean sea and Rio.

T. F. Emery, Also of Washington, To Be Tried in Bertie Superior Court This Week

H. G. Pohlman, prominent Washington citizen, was killed in an automobile accident on highway No. 30, between Aulander and Windsor at 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Emery, also of Washington, the two cars hitting in a head-on collision, causing Pohlman to suffer internal injuries and a crushed skull. He was rushed to Aulander where doctors found they could do nothing for him. The Doctor Taylors, of Washington hospital, were called to meet the wounded man here, but in some way they failed to meet here and Mr. Pohlman was carried on in an automobile to the hospital where he died at 1:30.

Emery who was also from Washington, working for the town, was taken into custody and held without bond pending an investigation of the cause of the accident.

Mr. Pohlman came to Washington from Baltimore about eight years ago and was credit manager for the Pamlico Chemical company for a few years. ## Theater Management Puts Ban on Unnecessary Noises

As a result of numerous complaints made by patrons of the Strand theatre about unnecessary noises while the pictures were being shown, the manager is requesting all patrons to be as quiet as possible during the show. Two little movie fans were asked to leave the picture house last week when they violated the rule and made more noises than was their share.

The manager of the theatre stated that on the face of the request, it seemed out of the ordinary, but that the many requests justified this step and it was his hope that all movie fans will aid in keeping the house as quiet as possible while the pictures are being shown.

SUPERIOR COURT IN BERTIE DRAWS MUCH ATTENTION

Prominent Ahooskie Man To Be Tried on Charge Of Seduction

BIG ARRAY COUNSEL

Case of T. F. Emery, Who Was in Auto Collision Causing Death of Another, To Be Tried Thursday

Bertie county's Superior court is attracting wide attention this week, according to reports coming from Windsor where the court is being held.

T. F. Emery who was in an automobile collision with Mr. H. E. Pohlman Saturday night, resulting in the death of Pohlman three hours later, is being held under a $1,500 bond. His case is scheduled to be heard Thursday of this week.

While opinions differ as to the circumstances of the accident, reports are going that the Pohlman Ford car was forced off the road about two feet when it was struck by the Star car driven by Mr. Emery. It was further reported that Emery was partly intoxicated, while it is stated that at least two witnesses will support the statement that he was drunk, others will dispute it.

H. Clay Carter, of Washington, will represent Emery while the State will be represented by Solicitor Parker.

The case that is causing more talk and producing the bitterest fight scheduled for the term is the charge of seduction under promise of marriage against Jack Bowers, a prominent auto dealer of Ahooskie. The prosecuting witness is Miss Janie Bryant, of Roxobel, a beautiful blond of 23 years who is a member of a prominent and highly respected family. Bowers also stands well as a business man in his community.

Bowers is represented by Winston Matthews and Kenny and H. G. Harrington. The prosecution is represented by Solicitor Parker, E. R. Taylor and W. H. S. Burgwyn, of Woodland.

It will probably take three days to try the case. Bowers is held under a $3500 bond.

COPY OF OLD NEWSPAPER

"Martin County Times," Published in 1883, Has Interesting Items

The Enterprise procured the 28th edition of the "Martin County Times" which was printed under the date of April 20, 1883.

The paper was founded by Denison Worthington and W. Z. Morton, both practicing lawyers of this town in Oct. 1882. This copy of the Times was addressed to Miss Lizzie Taylor, of Spring Green, now Mrs. A. E. Smith, of Robersonville. Mrs. Smith has preserved it because it carried in its news items the account of the marriage of Mr. A. M. Riddick and Miss Willie Allsbrooks.

The paper, a six column four page sheet, was foreign print for the two outside pages, the two inside pages being hand set and home print. The subscription price was $1.50 per year, the same price charged for the semi-weekly Enterprise.

The advertisements were numerous and embraced a wide range of business and many professions. In the copy appear two church ads, two for lodges, one for town government, one for county government, four for lawyers, one for doctor, one for shoemaker, one for lumber, two for book-makers, one for railroad, one for a steamboat company, 15 for general merchandise, five legal ads, one guano ad, combination ads mentioning dry goods, groceries and offering Paul Jones and Cabinet brands of whiskey specialties, one horse ad, one jack ad, one hotel ad and one tonsonal.

In the group of advertisements, there were three from Hamilton, three from Tarboro and 37 foreign ads, mostly of the medicine kind such as St. Jacobs oil, Mexican Mustang liniment.

With very few exceptions all the local advertisers in the paper are dead but several of the business firms are in existence today. Mr. Eli Gugganus, merchant, Harry W. Stubbs, lawyer and T. B. Slade, of Hamilton advertised in the paper.

A news item under a Windsor date line, April 11 describes the lynching of a negro named William Council. It states that 200 Windsor people, both white and colored, opened the Windsor jail at 2 a. m. and carried the man a mile out and swung him to a limb of a tree, but that all were ignorant as to the participants. The article is signed, "Handy."

According to the best information obtainable, the paper was printed in a little building located on the spot where the City Hall now stands.

POSTMASTER AND FAMILY SPEND WEEK TOURING

Take Trip Through Shenandoah Valley of Virginia

TRAVEL 1,083 MILES

Also Go Up Into Pennsylvania Mountains, to Gettysburg, and Visit Washington on Way Back

They chose to see the beautiful Shenandoah Valley and on up through the Pennsylvania mountains rather than the sea breeze and ocean waves.

The first day took them up lengthwise the good old North State passing along Highway No. 90 to Raleigh then along No. 10 through Durham to Greensboro where they took No. 60 to Winston-Salem.

This journey had already carried them through the greatest Educational center in the world in proportion to population.

In the circle which includes Greensboro and Raleigh with their fine colleges are to be found our State University at Chapel Hill, and Duke at Durham, also Elon College, and when all are counted the statement, the greatest educational center in the world according to the population embraced will prove true.

Another thing seen in the first day's travel before getting out of our own State is Winston-Salem, the town that pays more Federal tax than any other city in the world of its size. They found the first days run would carry them over into Virginia and continued over to Roanoke, 361.60 miles from Williamston and spent the night at Hotel Roanoke.

Wednesday morning they moved to Natural Bridge, which is the best bridge in all the State of Virginia built before the foot of man was ever set on the continent. It is now used to look at only. A visit to the Endless Caverns was made which is also one of nature's wonders. So many things were seen that the second day only carried the party 143.80 miles and they lodged for the night at the Brook Hotel at New Market Va.

"Ham" said the proprietor of this hotel keeps all of his hams until 2 years old so they will be good, and "Ham" says they were good.

Many of the old battlefields of this section were visited during Thursday's trip which took them by Harpers Ferry, West Virginia, a distance of 146.60 miles to Gettysburg where they spent the night and next day rode through the graveyard of one of the world's greatest battles, where a Martin County man, the late James A. Whitley was one of the three "Furthest at Gettysburg."

They describe both the Federal and Confederate cemeteries which are now kept by the United States Government spotless. The Confederate cemetery is now embraced in the territory of the City cemetery. They saw the spot where the North Carolina Gettysburg Memorial monument will be erected, the place was selected the day before they were there. Our last legislature appropriated $50,000 to erect this monument.

After leaving Gettysburg our Postmaster and family set out for Washington City, the seat of our government, the densest political jungle in the world. The city of red tape and recognition of voters just before primary time, yet the most beautiful city in all the world.

Sunday morning at 8:20 they set the Buick for Williamston and glided along the 277.60 miles with two stops of about an hour and a half and reached home at 7 P. M.

They had traveled 1083 miles burned one quart of oil, 75 gallons of gasoline, seen a fine section of country in five states, at a comparatively low cost.

START WORK ON NEW FERTILIZER FACTORY HERE

Highway Commission Is Having River Bridge Repainted

TO REPLACE ASPHALT

Railroad Company Is Also Rebuilding Spur Track to Site of New Fertilizer Plant

With three concerns working large numbers of men, things around the river here have taken on a very lively appearance during the past few days.

The highway commission is having the river bridge painted and other improvements made. The commission's workmen will take up the coat of asphalt now on the draw part of the bridge and replace it with new. Several days will be required to complete the job. Yesterday a Sullivan paint sprayer was being used to paint those parts of the bridge where a brush could not be used effectively. From the bridge here the sprayer will be carried to Sweeten Water and Gardner's creeks where the painting of the two bridges there will be completed.

A large number of men started work on the fertilizer factory yesterday morning, and it is understood the work will be rushed to completion. While some of the men are busy clearing the lot of old material once used by the old Cooperage company, others are preparing the foundations for the new plant. Judging from the space marked off by the surveyors, the three story building will cover a large space.

Next to the factory, track employees of the Atlantic Coast Line are busy replacing old ties with new ones and attaching the rails to them. Work will be started on the railroad trestles within the next few days, making ready for the dirt train which will rebuild the roadbed in several places where the rain has washed the dirt away.
