Henry P. Gibson Dies Near Here

Mr. Henry P. Gibson, 42-year old farmer, living near here died last Friday with paralysis of the brain. Mr. Gibson had been in feeble health for several months, but it was only in the past few days that his condition was considered very serious.

Interment was made in the little cemetery plot at the old home place where he was reared and where he resided throughout his life.

Besides a widow, he leaves three small children, Thos., Louise and Harold and one brother, J. L. Gibson, and a sister, Mrs. J. T. Griffin.

Services were conducted by L. T. Holliday.

Mr. Asa Edmondson Dies Near Hurst Schoolhouse

Mr. Asa Edmondson, a farmer of the Hurst School House section died last Tuesday and was buried at the family plot nearby, Elders B. S. Cowing and J. N. Rogerson, officiating.

Mr. Edmondson was 72 years old just a few days before his death. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Mary D. Edmondson, five sons, G. B., C. M., M. D., Robt. A. and James Edmondson and two daughters, Mrs. Lizzie Bennett and Mrs. Myrtle Gurganus.

Former Williamston Man Is With Nat Reiss Shows

It will be along the order of a homecoming for at least one man when the Nat Reiss Shows come to play at the Roanoke fair here next week. When the long train of 25 cars, arrives in town Sunday, Jimmy Pritchard, once of Williamston, but now more properly giving his address as "U. S. A.," will be a passenger on that train.

In 1910 young James E. Pritchard, then 22 years old, left Williamston after having spent his entire boyhood here. For a time Jimmy devoted his talents to the prosaic field of commerce; but about 15 years ago he heard the call of the open road and became a showman. He is now with one of the largest amusement organizations in the country, the Nat Reiss shows, presenting the largest and finest midway ever seen in this part of the United States.

Mr. James B. Mobley Dies in Cross Roads

Mr. James B. Mobley, 49 years old, died at the home of his mother in the Cross Roads section last Tuesday night.

Mr. Mobley had farmed practically all his life and had never married. For some time he had shouldered the duties at his home and cared for his mother, Mrs. Harriett Mobley. In 1925 he took membership in the Modern Woodmen camp at Everetts, and to that order he was always faithful.

He was buried Wednesday afternoon by members of the Everetts camp. Besides his mother, four sisters and one brother survive.

ODOR OF WOOD SMOKE

Odor of wood smoke borne on a brisk autumn wind—how it sharpens your appetite! How good the sandwiches taste—crisp, frizzy, brown bacon between generous slices of your baker's rich white bread. And for variety, rolls, cinnamon buns, raisin bread, cakes, doughnuts, etc.

Today your baker has so many interesting "specials" you can always find among them just the right bread for the standard three meals a day; for tea, for after-the-theater suppers, for motor trips or for cross-country hikes.

Now, your every-day meals need never lack the bit of glamor which comes from delightful variations in breads. So skillfully does your baker make all his breads, remarkably few home-baked breads can equal their uniformly tender crust and even texture.

By asking for his "specials," you can enjoy these breads at their best—brown and fragrant—fresh from his scientifically adjusted ovens.
