

LONGER STAPLE COTTON BEING GROWN IN STATE

Records So Far Show N. C. Far Ahead of Famed North Georgia Crop

According to a report issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, bureau of agricultural economics, Washington, D. C., under date of October 4th, and based on 213,507 bales of cotton ginned up to that time in the State of Georgia, the Georgia cotton was running 67.09 per cent 7-8 inch staple; 27.14 per cent 15-16; and 5.58 per cent 1 inch and better staple.

The records of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association up to that date make quite an interesting comparison: 31 per cent of their receipts were running 7-8 inch; 36 per cent 15-16 inch; 20 per cent 1 inch; and 13 per cent better than 1 inch.

These comparisons make quite an interesting study in cotton production. It is quite well known in the cotton trade that only a few years ago North Georgia cotton was known far and wide for its superior staple; in fact, there was so much demand for North Georgia cotton that it has been said that while they produced only one-half million bales of north Georgia cotton, the trade sold annually two and one-half million bales. But we hear very little of North Georgia cotton now; their reputation has waned.

Five years ago North Carolina was producing a very inferior grade of cotton, and in some sections they are still growing extremely short varieties—just cotton. But the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association soon learned that we had a valuable market right at our doors with our own Carolina mills for a better grade of cotton than was being grown in this State, and they began to hammer it into their members that the way to get a better price was to grow a better product and market it in such a way as to get the premiums that a better product was entitled to. The records of the association show that the membership has been increasing the length of staple year by year as evidenced by the above table of figures.

Miss Hilda Harden and Mr. Robbie Walters attended services at the Christian Church Sunday evening.

LOCAL TASTES AND PREFERENCE GIVEN CONSIDERATION FIRST

It was made just for Williamston expressly to suit the Williamston taste. The first good bread baked in this city was by a Williamston man—and he had in his very blood the right instinct for local tastes and preferences.

The loaf that he gave to the housewives of this city was so like their own home-made bread that their own husbands couldn't tell the difference.

That's why Sally Ann has always been the first choice of Williamston's particular housewives. They feel that they know this bread.

The big clean bakers where Sally Ann's bread is made is one of the city's landmarks. You've all driven past it a thousand times.

Many of you have made us a visit of inspection—seen with your own eyes the ovens of Williamston's delicious, fresh, rich milk unloading at our doors—watched the giant mixers blending the ingredients—wondered at the scientific precision with which the rising is controlled—sniffed with delight the delicious fragrance of the newly baked loaves tumbling from the oven.

And Williamston housewives know that they can trust Sally Ann's, because every loaf bears the seal and guarantee of the City Baking Institute—which means that it has been scientifically tested and pronounced perfect by bread experts.

Fresh, of course—not once, but twice daily—at your own bakery.

Camel

The cigarette that earned first place by its goodness

The greatest endorsement ever given to a cigarette is revealed by the fact that Government figures show that more Camels are being smoked today than ever before. An endorsement by the many—not the few.

If all cigarettes were as good as Camel you wouldn't hear anything about special treatments to make cigarettes good for the throat. Nothing takes the place of choice tobaccos.
