

Mrs. Winston Thanks Personnel of Pageant

The Enterprise has received the following letter from Mrs. Francis D. Winston, who was director of the pageant presented on the opening night of the Peanut Exposition at Aboskie: "I wish to thank all those who took part, and in other ways assisted, in the peanut pageant at the opening of the Peanut Exposition. My labors were greatly lessened by the cordial and intelligent cooperation I received. White bad weather prevented a rehearsal of the various episodes, yet I am confident that the failure to rehearse detracted but slightly from the presentation. Taking it all in all, I am confident it was a magnificent presentation, and I thank all those who made it so. Mrs. FRANCIS D. WINSTON, Director. Windsor, N. C.

Jamesville Boy at Unveiling of Statue in Washington

Wallace Fleming, of Jamesville, who is a student at the Georgia Military Academy sent last week in Washington attending the unveiling exercises of the statue of Alexander Hamilton

Stephens, which with that of Dr. Long, represents the State of Georgia in Statuary Hall in the Capitol. Wallace is in the academy band, which led the delegation of 2,000 Georgia people from the White House, where they visited the President, to the Capitol for the exercises. The parade went down historic Pennsylvania Avenue.

Very few first-year boys get places on the band, but Wallace's musical ability was recognized soon after his entrance to the school this fall, and now he plays a saxophone in this band, which is famous over the South.

His aunt, Mrs. W. H. Lilley, who was in Washington with him, says the only unpleasant thing about the whole affair was that somebody swiped Wallace's right new $250 "sax" out of a taxi.

riculture. There are over 600,000 members of this organization.

This subject was discussed by the elementary teachers; the purpose being to teach children to love trees in their natural surroundings and to interest them in protecting trees rather than destroying them. The children are much interested in the idea. They feel that they have an opportunity to help save trees and to interest others in doing so.
