

ROBERSONVILLE SCHOOL NOTES

On Thursday evening, December 15, at the Parents-Teachers meeting, the quadruple wedding, marking the end of the Husband-Hunters Contest, was solemnized.

To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Essie Robinson, Mr. T. R. Jenkins, soloist, upon the arm of Mr. (?) Ida Whitehurst came down the aisle. Following the song—"Though you belong to somebody else"—sung with great gusto by Mr. Jenkins, Parson Roberson marched down the aisle and took his position on the stage. After him came the little fairy-like Muriel Wynne, ring-bearer. Then, Miss Eva Peele and Mr. Herbert Highsmith, Miss Maude Maness and Mr. Pitt Roberson, Miss Lenora Moore and Mr. (?) Millie Roebuck, and Miss Alma Murray and Mr. Wiley Burras Rogerson were united with the ring ceremony.

The connubial felicity enjoyed by them was of short duration, because within the hour they were in court, the husband or the wife entering suit for divorce upon some fictitious grounds. With Mr. Haywood Everett (supposedly of Nevada) as judge; Mr. R. I. Leake, lawyer for the defendants; Mr. G. H. Cox, lawyer for the plaintiffs; and Brownie Roberson, Christine Taylor, John Robt. Jenkins, and Vernon Ward, as witnesses, the divorce proceedings were interestingly and feverishly carried out.

Miss Alma Murray, the bride winning the greatest number of votes in the contest, was awarded the wedding cake. Afterwards in the Home, Economics rooms the wedding supper was served, to which all the couples, their campaign managers, and several friends were invited.

The campaign managers with the amounts raised by them were:

Mr. T. R. Jenkins for Miss Moore, $1.65; Rev. E. W. Mason for Miss Maness, $15.58; Miss Rook for Miss Murray, $59.35; Mrs. V. A. Ward for Miss Peele, $5.10.

The total was $81.68, an amount for which we want again to thank each campaign manager, each person who took part in the wedding, and each person who voted in the contest.

It was generally known that the money raised in the Husband-Hunters Contest was to be used to make the first payment on the new school piano, a beautiful Ellington. It was quite fitting that at the culmination of the contest—the P. T. A. meeting—the piano should grace the auditorium stage and make its first official appearance.

At three o'clock on Friday afternoon, December 16, all examinations ended and the school assembled in the auditorium to witness the Christmas celebration and to see Santa Claus and his big, beautifully decorated tree.

Around the tree were the gifts arranged in grade groups. These were delivered at the conclusion of a short program, Santa giving out those to the children of the first grade and the teachers with pupils, as assistants, distributing those to the other grades. Then fruit was furnished to each pupil by the teachers. Both pupils and teachers shared in the joys of Santa Claus. The gift though that brought the most surprise to the recipient and the most real joy to the donors was the school gift to Mr. Leake, a combination smoking stand and magazine rack with accessories.

The Christmas holiday begun on Friday afternoon, December 16, will last for two weeks. School work will be resumed on Monday, January 2, 1928. It is hoped that each child will have the biggest and merriest Christmas ever, and will be ready to begin the New Year in dead earnestness.

Despite the fact that school work closed on Friday, December 16, ten of the school faculty showed their school spirit by attending the County Teachers' meeting. To do this several had to change previously made plans considerably.

Don't forget the box party to be given by the Seniors on January 3, 1928. Come and bring others with you.
