20TH CENTURY CLUB MEETING

Entertained By Mrs. W. B. Watts Wednesday Afternoon

The Twentieth Century Club was charmingly entertained by Mrs. W. B. Watts Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at her home.

The program was on the two places of interest, "Cuba and New Mexico." Mrs. Harper Holliday read a paper she had prepared on Cuba, and Mrs. J. W. Watts, jr., had the subject, "New Mexico." Both papers were very interesting. Mrs. J. W. Manning played a solo, "The Rustle of Spring," before Mrs. C. A. Harrison read a resume of current events.

When the guests arrived, the hostess served Coca-Colas, and after the program was concluded, she, assisted by Misses Gwen Watts, Myrtle Woolard Brown, and Louise Perry, served an attractive ice course, which carried out the Valentine idea. The ice cream was decorated with whipped cream and cherries, and the cakes and mints were in heart and diamond shapes in red and white colors. Each guest was also given a favor of a basket of salted almonds.

The occasion falling upon the birthday of Mrs. J. W. Watts, jr., a lovely decorated cake with twenty-six candles was presented her by the hostess. Mrs. Watts cut the cake and passed it around to the guests.

Those present, besides club members, were Mesdames McMasters, of Maryland, Robert Everett, Maurice Watts, A. R. Dunning, C. G. Crockett, F. W. Hoyt, and Robert Heydenreich.

More Soda More PROFIT per acre

THERE is one sure way to increase cotton yield per acre. You can say it in four words...

Put it under your cotton. Side dress with it after first chopping. The extra cotton you get per acre pays big profit.

It's Soda—not Luck
C. P. Ellis, Clayton, N. C., (Johnston County), has used Nitrate of Soda for 25 years. In 1927 a demonstration on his farm produced 2413 lbs. seed cotton from one acre fertilized with 500 lbs. acid phosphate, 100 lbs. Nitrate of Soda, 75 lbs. muriate of potash, and side dressed with 100 lbs. of Soda at chopping and 100 lbs. when first squares appeared. A second acre, on which the two side dressings were omitted, produced 1609 lbs. seed cotton.

Where the Norfolk, Baltimore and Carolina line is running small boats up the river, it would be using larger ones if it were not for the shallow water at the river's mouth. Captain Wise of that company states that every now and then government engineers spend a short vacation cruising around at the river's mouth to find out how deep the water is. "I can tell them exactly how deep the water is, and as long as they spend time and all the appropriation measuring, the water will get so after a while you can't float a canoe in sand out of the river," the captain stated.

Mr. C. G. Crockett stated that the shallow water at the mouth of the river is causing his company much expense and that something should be done to relieve the situation there.

"GOOD WILL," said Justice Wright, of the United States Supreme Court, "is nothing more nor less than the realization on the part of the public that they can get a service that is worth while from a business organization."

This bank counts the good will which it has built up by faithful service as one of the most valuable of all its assets. It invites business on its record of performance, a record which explains the public's realization that its service is genuinely worth while.

After lunch was over, Colonel Olds proceeded to take them to all the educational buildings, the museum being the first. Here the boys and girls saw many wonderful things. The next place was the "Church of the Good Shepherd" and the Catholic Cathedral "Church of the Sacred Heart."

They then boarded the street car and went out to the blind school. Here they saw the inmates at their work, some sewing, some making baskets and brooms. The children were amused to find that all the students after passing the fourth grade took typewriting and it was wonderful to see them at their work as they typed from dictation.

After hearing the blind children sing and play the piano, they went to the State's Prison. Here was seen many interesting things, especially electric chair, which was demonstrated by having the teacher sit and the straps bound to her feet. Arms, then they were shown how electric current was turned on after buying a few trinkets which were sold by some of the prisoners, they went to the Hall of History.

For some time the seventh grade studied the history and geography of the State, thus becoming familiar with many of the things they saw in the Hall of History. They were especially interested in the relics of the Civil War days, as that was the period of history they were studying at the time. As the class was particularly interested in history and had done a bit of research work, they found this, as a whole, the most interesting place they visited, especially the collection of flags, uniforms and in different wars in which North Carolinians took part, also in war implements used in days gone by.

As the day drew to a close all too soon, they had to tell their friend Colonel Olds goodbye, after declaring it the greatest day in their lives.

Every year, hundreds of school children go to Raleigh to visit Colonel Olds, and only last year children from 192 schools from all over the State went there.

The seventh grade boys and girls from Jamesville, N. C., had a
