A Great Benefactor

Julius Rosenwald, the president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., of Chicago, has done a great work in the South during the past 10 or 15 years, a work that will place him in the roll of the country's great philanthropists. He was in Raleigh this week to see the opening of the new negro school building at Method, in Wake County.

Mr. Rosenwald has spent over $3,000,000 on 4,000 negro school buildings in the fourteen Southern States. He has contributed over $6,000 to the building of seven such buildings in Martin County.

Mr. Rosenwald, who is a Jew, was first impressed by Booker T. Washington to help educate the southern negro, in which enterprise he has proven very generous. The fact that he has selected a weak race upon which to bestow his blessings is commendable.

Too Much Free Thinking?

Are we facing the danger of too much free thinking? This is now a question of great importance. When the young man is given all the implements and tools of life and told to dig and build his foundation upon the truth, there are many chances for him to fail to build a durable structure. It is quite doubtful, if it is left to the individual, whether he will even know when he finds the bedrock of truth.

When the impressions given the students by many of the colleges and books of science carries a young man or woman no further than to the supposed knowledge that their fathers and mothers were fools and that the world has gone, up to now, on the wrong road or the back track, we need not look for very much accord among men or nations. Neither will there be much accord when each person has to create his own principles of truth.

God made the magnetic pole; man made the magnetic needle—an order than can not be reversed. God made the North Star and gave man the ability to find himself by it. Now, some critics think there may be some mistake about all this order of things, and the creature apparently feels wiser and more noble than the Creator.

It is quite unfortunate for every man to attempt to walk by his own light, which seems to be the trend of the day. The words of the devil to Adam and Eve still have their appeal to the selfish pleasure of people in saying God is lying; that you know as much as He. The young men and women of our land need to study a few of the principles which have sustained their fathers and mothers and enabled them to bring creatures of such great wisdom in the world.

We would say to the young people not to build on the quicksands, nor on the mud flats advocated by many of the modern guessers but continue on the rock-bed of truth, which has brought the race of men safely this far, and which has given us the civilization we now enjoy.

When Competition Becomes Greed

Competition among the interests has never been greater. It has really gone beyond competition; it is now greed. And greed for privilege, power and profits have killed competition, which has always been considered a stimulus in the life of trade.

It has gone so far that a majority of the things we use today are governed by one board of directors. There is no competition in the telephone field; none in the electrical world; none in the railroad cars; none in the tobacco world; because all are working under a single ownership, or non-competitive basis.

It is going much further. The manufacturer is laying his men aside and doing their work with machines; then carries his goods to the retailer, cutting out millions in the process of production and distribution.

It now looks as if the little fellow will not have much to do when the high-powered organizations get through squeezing them.

SPOTS BEFORE EYES

Miner Had Dark Spots Before Eyes. Felt Dull, Tired, Achy. Doesn't Get Down Any More.

Somerset, Ky.—Telling how he had known of the merit of Theodor's Black-Draught since he was a boy, Mr. Albert Garland, of this city, recently said:

"I used to work in the mines, but lost quite a bit of time on account of the sick spells I had. I would get to having a bad taste in my mouth, and a very dull, tired feeling and ache. I would have dark spots in front of my eyes, and I would be so dizzy I would stagger like I was drunk."

"I took medicine, but didn't seem to get any better."

"My mother told me to try Black-Draught, which I did, and after a few doses I felt much better. Now I take it as soon as I feel the least bad, and I don't get down. I certainly can say that it has done more for me than any other medicine I have ever taken."

"I never get without Black-Draught. If I go on a visit, I take a package along in my suit-case. My health is better now than it has been in years, and I believe it is the use of Black-Draught that did it."

Black-Draught is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, of highest quality. Try it. NC-195
