The rooms were attractively arranged and decorated for the occasion with Halloween decorations. Yellow and black ribbons were used effectively and huge jars of yellow flowers were placed in appropriate places, making a charming background for the twenty tables arranged for bridge.

Halloween place cards directed the guests to their places and chocolate covered nuts were served during the five progressions made.
Mrs. Milton Moye made high score and was given a bottle of perfume.
Mrs. J. C. Anderson, holder of second score, was presented a double deck of cards. Miss Mary Cook was given a Halloween cap for consolation.
After the games were concluded, the hostesses served a salad course with hot tea, and each guest was given a basket of mints carrying out the Halloween idea.
Guests from out of town included Mrs. C. J. Rhea, Mrs. Charles Lyons, and Miss "Honey" Rhea.
