

17 ARRESTED BY DRY AGENTS

(Continued from page one) Bill Fagan and wife, Beulah Fagan, of Aulander were introduced as typical bootleggers. Bill is the street cleaner there and while he does his work his wife takes care of the trade at home.

W. K. Powell, of Aulander, was charged with selling and transporting. He had sold to the officers who later engaged five gallons for Saturday delivery. The officers met him promptly and got the five gallons, the Ford car Powell was driving and Mr. Powell himself. He is a man 63 years old, of fine deportment and has apparently been a useful citizen in his neighborhood.

C. F. Allsbrooks, who lives on the Powell farm, was charged with selling and was required to furnish a $400 bond. His 15 year old boy, who is a brother to the boy who broke in Henry D. Harrison's home here last summer and was the penitentiary from this county, was charged with aiding in transporting. He was required to appear before the Wilson court for reprimand, without bond.

George H. Hargell, also of Aulander, was brought in for making various sales. The testimony showed that he had opened shop Sunday and lined his counter with a number of bottles for a number of customers. He is said to have sold liquor on other occasions and is regarded, according to the evidence heard Saturday, as a typical bootlegger. He was let off with a $500 bond for the Wilson court.

The Pitt county cases were greater in their size than either those in Bertie or Martin counties. There were two cases against M. D. Lewis, who lives near the Bethel-Conetoe highway, one charging sale, possession transportation and manufacture, the other charging conspiracy. He was required to give a $1,000 bond in each case.

Three colored men, Ed Reese, Dock Heath and Roosevelt Reese, said to be agents of Lewis', were caught and required to give bond.

WAREHOUSE FIRE

Wind Adds To Danger

A heavy wind from the south carried innumerable sparks on and around the Roanoke-Dixie Warehouse, and a stream of water was ordered turned on that structure to prevent another big blaze. One of the main lines running from the new truck was called for to protect the scorching timbers of the threatened warehouse.

With the old equipment alone in use, the fire would have eaten its way to the twin warehouses and the town would have suffered its heaviest fire loss in decades. It was stated that the new equipment practically paid for itself this morning, when by its use the firemen were able to hold the flames to the warehouse and the storage house of C. O. Moore & Co.

Insurance carried on the warehouse amounts to approximately $20,000, while Mr. Moore had only $500 on his storage house, which was valued at $1,000.

WOODLAND, 15; JAMESVILLE, 14

Martin County Team Eliminated in Championship Series Friday Night

Beaten by one point, Jamesville's high school basketball team was forced out of the State Basketball Championship series last Friday night in Rocky Mount, Woodland's team winning over the county boys, 15 to 14. It was a fast game, both teams fighting hard to maintain a right to continue in the series sponsored by the University of North Carolina. While first one team and then the other was in the lead, Woodland hit the high spot just as the game was closing, gaining the right to compete further in the series.

It was the second game between the two teams in the series, a tie score resulting in the game played here last Wednesday night.

QUEENS CONTEST AT EXPOSITION

Will Celebrate Seventh Anniversary of Annual Event This Year

The seventh anniversary of the queens' contest of the Eastern Carolina Exposition will be celebrated this year in Farmville on the second day of the Exposition at the night's program, it was announced by N. G. Bartlett, secretary-manager of the organization. All candidates that have participated in any of the queens' contests during the past seven years are urged to notify Secretary Bartlett at Kinston that they will be there for the occasion. It matters not if they have married, they are wanted anyway. Bring their husbands and children, if they have any, is the message the Secretary is sending out. This invitation includes the candidates in the Peanut Exposition contests also. In all there have been more than 200 of Eastern Carolina's finest young women to take part in these annual occasions. Each platform manager will be supposed to be present and introduce his flock after these many years absence.

The last peanut exposition held here did not have the queens' contest and platform manager, R. L. Coburn, was not the most pleased of the officials.

The exposition will very likely give a prize to the platform manager and his group that brings the largest number back for the reunion.

BLOATED FEELING

And Other Troubles Went Away After This South Carolinian Had Taken Black-Draught.

Iva S. C.—"I have used Black-Draught, at intervals, for about five years," says Mr. J. F. Gilliland, of this place. "I take it for indigestion."

"After eating, I would have a tight, bloated feeling, and pains in my chest and stomach. I would spit up my food, and some things I ate would not agree with me at all. I would be hungry, but afraid to eat on account of the indigestion. I would be constipated, too."

"Some one told me that I should try Black-Draught, which I did, with good results. I take just a small dose after meals, and I feel like a different person."

"I do not have any more trouble of that kind. I can now eat almost anything I want to, at any time, and it does not hurt me."

"Black-Draught is a splendid medicine. I can recommend it to others."

Thousands of people have found relief, in case of common indigestion, by taking a pinch of Black-Draught after meals, and continuing this treatment for several days.

Take Theodore's Black-Draught. It is purely vegetable and acts in a helpful way, without the bad effects of mineral drugs. RC-128
