

SIMPLE IGNITION SYSTEM IN FORD

Designed to Give Maximum Service With Minimum Trouble

Simplicity of design, which helped to make the Model T Ford car famous all over the world for its dependable performance and economical maintenance costs, is equally characteristic in the new Model A Ford.

This simplicity is particularly noticeable in the ignition system of the new car. This ignition system is standard, but the units are new in design and construction and somewhat revolutionary, but there is nothing complicated about it. Being, in effect, the very lifeblood of the car, it was designed by Henry Ford and his associates to give a maximum amount of service with a minimum amount of trouble and the thousands of Model A Fords which already have seen hard service under all sorts of conditions have vindicated the judgment of the designers.

One of the unique features of this new system is the elimination of high tension cables from the distributor to the spark plugs. Thin bronze springs, short, sturdy, and easily kept in place, are used for the connections between spark-plugs and distributor.

There is but one high tension cable, and this connects the coil, placed on the dash, with the distributor, which is on the right hand side and at the top of the engine cylinder head. The one primary wire from the switch to the distributor passes through the dash in a steel conduit which eliminates wear and danger from possible short circuits and which makes it impossible for any thief to cut the wires at the ignition lock and wire around it, so as to start the car without a key.

Ignition troubles, with this design, are rare and those few which may occur can easily be detected and readily remedied. For example, if the condenser, which is a part of the ignition system, should fail, it is so designed that it can be replaced in two minutes. Likewise, the breaker arm can be removed and replaced without the assistance of any tools whatever in less than a minute's time.

New Ships Press Water Down Instead of Aside

Bremen, Germany.—An innovation in shipbuilding has been tried out with results said to be satisfactory by Deschimag, the larger German ship and machine building company of this city.

The feature of the invention is the unusual shape of low and stern, designed to press water down rather than to each side, and to reduce friction on the sides. It is said to cause the water to flow by the shortest route from bow to stern.

Three high-sea fishing trawlers recently have been built by Deschimag on the new principle. The builders announce that not only is the fuel consumption reduced 25 per cent compared with other vessels of equal size, but that rolling and pitching, even in heavy seas, is reduced to an extent not previously attained. Test trips also have shown excellent steering capacities.

To Investigate Work of United States Attorneys

Washington, March 28.—President Hoover's announced intention for more effective law enforcement during his administration was carried a step further today with the issuance of orders by Attorney General Mitchell for an investigation of the work of United States attorneys throughout the country.

The order was issued at the request of the President himself and the inquiry was looked upon as supplemental to the work to be done by the commission to be appointed to investigate law enforcement in general. Mr. Mitchell emphasized that no one district attorney's office was being given special surveillance and that he hoped to ascertain how effectively the district attorneys were performing their duties.

Mails Party Dress To Daughter; Costs 4 Cents

Dodge City, Kan., March 19.—The postmaster here agrees that this is the day of skimpy dress. A woman handed him a parcel to be weighed for mailing the other day. It was about 4 1/2 inches wide and 8 inches long. "What does this parcel contain?" he asked in his routine way. "My daughter's party dress," the woman replied.

The postage was four cents. Mrs. David Keel and Mrs. C. W. Keith spent the week end in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Wheeler Martin, jr. left this morning for Wake Forest where she will visit her parents.

Joe Godard, III, is spending the holidays here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Godard, jr.

DEAR FARMER—STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN!

Here is your opportunity to gain in your yield of tobacco per acre by using the which gets the dirt from middle of the row and makes a perfect ridge without cutting off your feed roots. It has proved that hilling tobacco in this way has made a gain from $25 to $50 per acre.

For you know: When you side your tobacco the last times the feed roots are cut off, which checks the growth for a few days. During this time new feed roots are formed, which really causes a second growth. This second growth causes your tobacco to grow bony and thin. If the feed roots are not cut off, your tobacco will thicken as it spreads and make a better quality of tobacco.

Mr. Hyman Warren, Agent, Robersonville, N. C.
Dear sir:
I have used the Improved Fowler Cultivator about twelve years for laying-by tobacco, cotton, corn, and other crops. Also for hilling up sweet potatoes. I consider it one of the most useful and satisfactory cultivators I have ever used and would not be without it for many times the price.
Yours very truly,
J. R. WINSLOW.
