Bridge Party at Woman's Club
 There will be a benefit bridge party day night at 8:30. A small admission charge will be made, the proceeds to go for the benefit of the club. Six prizes will be given.

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Woolard Hostesses

Last Friday evening, from 8:30 to 12 o'clock Mrs. P. H. Brown and Mrs. J. D. Woolard entertained with a lovely bridge party at the home of Mrs. Woolard. In the various rooms every kind of summer flower was used. Beautiful vases and baskets of gladioli, daisies, roses, snapdragons, and other flowers were charmingly used to enhance the natural attractiveness of the new home.

A table was placed near the reception hall, where Mrs. A. R. Dunning served punch. There were silver baskets of roses on the table, which was prettily decorated with ivy and daisies.

There were thirteen tables for bridge, and the guests were directed to their places after they were served punch.

TORTURING PAINS

Carolee Lady Tells How She Was Unable To Find Anything To Relieve Them Until She Took Cardui.

Carolee, W. Va.—In talking to a friend who was benefited by taking Cardui, Mrs. Furtie Yorker, of this place, says: "At one time, I had a very serious spell which left me weak. At times, I would suffer such intense pains across my back and in my side that I could hardly stand it. I endured this over and over again. Every time the pains were worse than before. "I was in despair because nothing helped me. I tried several remedies, but I continued to suffer. "One day, I read about Cardui. Other women told how they had gotten strong and well after taking it. I have often been thankful for that day, for after I had taken Cardui for awhile, I felt like a different human being. "It did not seem possible, but I did not suffer the old, torturing pains, and I really felt well. I can heartily recommend Cardui, for I know how much I improved after I took it. Since then, I have taken it several times when I have needed a tonic, and I have always been benefited. It is a wonderful help. All good druggists sell Cardui. Try it for your troubles."

After the several games were played, the hostesses served a delicious ice course. Attractive butterfly favors were found on the plates.

Mrs. Roy Gurganus won the high score prize, a green crystal mayonnaise set and Miss Frances Hoyt received the gift for next highest score, a pretty pitcher. There were about 60 guests present.

Mrs. G. L. Bunch Hostess To Demonstration Club

Oak City, June 24.—Mrs. G. L. Bunch graciously entertained members of the Williams Chapel Home Demonstration Club and a number of additional guests at her home last Thursday. The object of the meeting was to demonstrate the making of felt hats. About 20 felt hats in white and pastel shades were made during the day. These were very attractive.

The club members enjoyed a picnic dinner, and in the afternoon the hostess served delicious ice cream and cake.

This was a very interesting meeting, and each member is looking forward to the next meeting, which will be held in July.

Mrs. B. W. Hardy Is Hostess to Card Club

Mrs. B. W. Hardy entertained her card club and a number of friends on Thursday evening at her home on Houghton Street. The two living rooms were thrown together and pink and white roses with daisies were effectively placed to carry out the color scheme of pink and white.

Mrs. Hardy served lemonade and salted nuts, while her guests played cards. Mrs. H. M. Stubbs received high score prize, a pair of hose and Mrs. J. D. Woolard got the club prize, a powder jar. Mrs. H. E. Kimele was presented a guest towel.

An ice course was served. The plates were charmingly decorated, the color motif of pink and white also being used in the refreshments. On each plate a little candle flavor was found. They were made of green and white candies in which little candles were placed.

ICE A NECESSITY IN EVERY HOME

Gives Distinction to Every Meal; Perfection Is Assured

Ice gives distinction to every meal, according to L. P. Lindsley, of the Lindsley Ice Co., this city. "On a bed of chipped ice, the familiar breakfast grapefruit becomes an appetizer fit to precede the most ceremonious dinner," states Mr. Lindsley. "Served in ice-circled glasses, the humble fruit cocktail takes on sophistication and glamour. "Fin hotels and smart restaurants achieve much of their reputation by the unstinted use of ice in the preparation and adornment of their myriad dishes and beverages. Ice insures that perfection which fastidious people demand.

"At home, only the feminine mind can fully comprehend the infinity of detail that makes up a successful evening's entertainment. In days of yore the popular hostess had only to provide food—and plenty of it—and the husky trenchermen fell to with gusto and grunts of approval.

"But we have higher standards of living today, and here are but a few of the problems which confront the modern hostess: Whom to invite and how to seat them to make everybody happy; what to serve that's different; how to arrange the table; what sort of flowers—a bewildering array of problems indeed.

"Yet reliance on ice will solve some of them, at least, for it tailors and professionalizes amateur efforts; it adds the finishing touch. Under its influence seafood cocktails become ambrosia and nectar; jellied consommé, chilled for long hours in the ice box, enlivens every one; olives and celery in cracked ice are crisp, firm, and cool, and contribute to the table decoration as well as the dinner; tomatoes in aspic contrast the hot dishes, and the home-made ice cream is deliciously rich."

You Met a Hundred-Thousand Dollar Man This Morning

Perhaps you are reading this at the breakfast table... or on your way to work... it makes no difference when or where... already you have met a hundred thousand dollar man... his face looked back at you from your mirror.

Send out a dollar to work a year, and it earns five or six cents. Send out a man to work a year, and he earns fifteen hundred, two thousand, ten thousand dollars.

Either dollar-power or man-power must be at work if there is to be income.

How many dollars would have to invest to produce an income as large as your present earnings? The man who earns two hundred dollars a month represents a $40,000 investment.

If you owned a fortune of many thousands of dollars, you would not rest until you had protected it in every way possible.

You are the most valuable asset you possess.

To what extent does your Life Insurance protect the real value of your life?
