NOTES OF MY 14-MILE HIKE

By Billy Clark
We both kept our agreement and met at our fixed date which was five o'clock. The first event of our hike was when we arrived at Mr. Frank Weaver's house we quietly slipped to his well and drew some water. Then about a hundred yards farther a little dog started barking which made us both hasten our steps. As we drew in front of the county home we scared about five or six crows from their perch and at the same time we saw three mocking birds fighting. Then as we started through the woods for our mile hike, we suddenly were surrounded by briars which gave us a few scratches, but as a scout's motto is "Be Prepared" we painted the scratches with iodine from a first aid kit I had. As we were coming out of the woods Mr. Pope came by and waved at us. So we reached Everetts which was our destination without any other happenings. On the way back nothing happened except as we were wearily trudging homeward we scared up a flock of Bob Whites in a field nearby.

PAINS QUIT COMING

Kentucky Lady Took Cardui and Tells How She Was Greatly Benefited.

Hopkinsville, Ky.—"I used to have headache and dizziness, and at times would have severe cramping spells," says Mrs. Mackey South, of 102 South Kentucky Ave., this city. "This unfitted me for my work or any pleasures that I wanted to enter into. I am naturally a very active woman and I did not feel like I wanted to give two or three days at a time to aches and pains. So I looked around for a remedy. "I had heard a great deal about Cardui and seeing it advertised I decided to take it. I took four bottles and it did me a world of good. It seemed to regulate and strengthen me. I quit having headaches and felt fine. "I have never ceased praising Cardui to my friends and neighbors for what it did for me." For more than fifty years, women who had suffered, or who had gotten into a run-down, weak condition, have been enthusiastic in praising Cardui for the benefits obtained from its use. Cardui is extracted from herbs having high medicinal value, and contains nothing harmful or injurious. Get a bottle of Cardui from your druggist, today, and try it in your case. NC-270
