CHURCHES HOLD SPLENDID MEET IN WASHINGTON

Several Hundred Attend International Meeting Recently

The International and World Conventions of the Disciples of Christ held in Washington, D. C. October 14-23 were two of the marked achievements of that religious body of this year. The combined registrations totaled more than seven thousand, representing thirty-five nations of the world not including the United States and Canada.

Simultaneous with the International Convention, October 14-19 was held the Youth Convention. Several hundred young people from all over the country gathered to discuss the Highways of Life. The Convention was divided into groups under the following heads: The Highway of Economic Justice, The Highway of Racial Brotherhood, The Highway of World Peace, and The Highway of Christian Unity. Special significance is attached to this gathering when the fact that no one could speak during the discussions unless he had prepared in some study group previous to the convention.

The Program of the International Convention was centered around the observance of the 1900th celebration of Pentecost. The meeting also marked the 100th Anniversary of the Restoration Movement when Thomas Campbell was forced to make a final break with existing religious bodies. Some of the addresses reviewed the achievements of the past century in such fields as Christian Unity, Religious Education, and Home and Foreign Missions. Others dealt with the present day implications of Pentecost. The missionary work of the church was given special emphasis by missionaries and outstanding leaders of the brotherhood. Another feature was the stress placed upon the Pension Fund which is being established this year.

Possibly the greatest day of the entire series of conventions was Sunday, October 19. The new National City Christian Church, which has been erected by gifts from all over the brotherhood was dedicated at six-thirty Sunday morning. Thomas Circle was guarded by policemen so that the great host of several thousand people might witness and take part in this signal event without interruption from passing autos and street cars. Amplifiers were placed at points of vantage that everyone might hear every word spoken from the steps of the impressive structure.

Sunday afternoon simultaneous communion services were held at the Washington Auditorium, Constitution Hall and the new church. This is always one of the main events of the International Convention.

The World Convention, October 19-23 was the first in the history of the Disciples. In the future, these gatherings will be held every five years as a great fellowship of Christians from all over the world. The next will be held in Leicester, England. The session themes were: Deepening World Fellowship Among the Churches of Christ, Our Book of Beginnings, Achievements of a Century, Pentecost Among the Nations, Present-Day Affirmations of Our Christian Faith, Our World Opportunity and Responsibility in Christian Education and The Churches of Christ Confronting World Issues.

During both conventions, simultaneous sessions were held at the Washington Auditorium and Constitution Hall in order that every one might attend.

North Carolina was represented by more than two hundred delegates. These came from all over the state, from the coast to Asheville in the mountains.

"Inside" Information

Seed corn can be protected from weevils or grain moths by storing it in tight mouse-proof receptacles and enclosing one pound of moth balls or naphthalene for each bushel of corn. This will prevent damage by the insects and will not injure the seed. The corn should be thoroughly dry before storing.
