ers in order to be properly housed. Cotton factories are idle; weavers, tailors, and seamstresses are out of work, and an "over-production" of cotton forces prices below production costs—and yet millions who need clothes and would like to work to buy clothes are ragged!

And so on with numberless illustrations that might be given. "The engineer has outrun the economist," as someone puts it. Our ability to produce seems limitless. Our ability to distribute has had a collapse of tragic proportions. It is an indictment of our governments, our captains of industry, our educational system, and of the common sense of mankind.—Progressive Farmer.

Mr. Fountain's Chance

The value of the coming session of the North Carolina Legislature and Dick Fountain's chances for governor will be determined this week.

If Mr. Fountain masters the senate in such a way that it will be a people's legislature and not a special interest makeshift, then he will be hard to beat in a gubernatorial race even with the money powers and politicians combined against him. But if Mr. Fountain permits the politicians to take over his job and handle the senate, then the side will be out. He will not stand a chance and the people will not get as much as they are entitled to if he fails now.

Better To March Slowly

Some of the leading North Carolina dailies say, "Buncombe county has large program." That is the trouble with Buncombe county now. It has had a program that proved too large. Many of the other counties have also had programs too large in their nature and scope to assure the desired results.

One of our mistakes in the past resulted in our attempt to make things perfect in one generation. It is a good plan to march slowly and surely.

Solving the School Problem

A good way to help solve the school question is to limit some of the big ideas hatched among the high-ups. These ideas and methods are costing much money, and the results are disappointing.

Do away with some of these methods and let the teachers come down among the folks and do some heal-hones-to-God service on their own initia. Make it unnecessary for the teacher to kiss the feet of a high-up board. If this is done, we will have schools equally as good and the costs will not be as great as they are now. Some of the schools might not be quiet so good; yet, many would be better if the teachers had the opportunity to teach without being bridled to death by an upper-board.
