SPAIN CHANGES NAME OF SHIPS

Since Advent of Republic, Royal Names on Ships Are Eliminated

No more royal names for any Spanish ships. Since the advent of the new Spanish Republic, shipowners in that country have erased the names of members of the royal family and leaders of the old regime from their vessels and substituted the more democratic names of various Spanish and Latin-American cities, according to reports from British maritime circles forwarded to the Commerce Department by the office of the Commercial Attaché in London.

70.5 Per Cent Population Of State White in 1930

Of the entire population of North Carolina 70.5 per cent are white, and practically all of the white population are native, there being only three tenths of one per cent foreign born. Likewise, of the native white population, nearly all are of native parentage, there being only six tenths of one per cent of foreign or mixed parentage. Persons born in England formed 13.7 per cent of the 8,788 persons comprising the foreign-born white population of North Carolina. More than one-half of the foreign-born white population have been naturalized.

Mr. James C. Manning, recently appointed county superintendent of Martin County schools, arrived home today and will start his work July 1.

MANY ACCIDENTS IN STATE SUNDAY

Three Persons Killed and Fourteen Others Hurt By Automobiles

Three persons were killed and fourteen others were hurt more or less seriously in several automobile wrecks reported in North Carolina last Sunday. Since the series of near-serious automobile accidents in this county two weeks ago, owners are apparently exercising more care in the handling of their cars. No wrecks of any importance have been reported in the county for almost two weeks.

Miss Polly Burris, 22, of Salisbury, was killed in an automobile wreck near Newton Sunday. Walter Lynch, 17-year-old school boy of Selma, was fatally hurt when an automobile turned over on him early Sunday morning seven miles from Selma. John Rall, 19 years old, of Winston-Salem, lost his life when his car, a light roadster, turned over in that town early Sunday morning.

Two South Carolina youths were not expected to live late Sunday following a serious accident near Hendersonville. The twelve other persons figuring in the five accidents reported in the State Sunday were removed to hospitals for treatment.

1,141,129 Gainful Workers In North Carolina in 1930

There were 1,141,129 gainful workers in the State in 1930, of whom 867,807 were males, representing 55.1 per cent of the male population, and 273,322 were females, representing 17.1 per cent of the female population. Including both farm owners and farm laborers, agriculture employed 499,921, or more than one-third of all the gainful workers of the State. Of the 227,561 farm laborers, 133,687, or 58.7 per cent, were unpaid family workers. The various manufacturing and mechanical industries employed 286,245 persons, the largest numbers being in cotton mills, in the building industry, and in cigar and tobacco factories. There were 53,968 persons engaged in transportation, 99,193 in trade, including banking and insurance; 13,483 in public service (not elsewhere classified); 55,702 in professional service; and 101,436 in domestic and personal service.

SOVIETS GROW MORE TOBACCO

Expect To Increase Production By At Least 136 Per Cent

Soviet Russia needs to increase her production of tobacco by approximately 136 per cent if her domestic demand is to be met and if the requirements of a normal export trade are to be satisfied, according to Soviet information forwarded by Consul Lloyd D. Yates at Hamburg, Germany, and made public this week by the Commerce Department's Tobacco Division. This increase would mean a total tobacco area of 565,000 acres, and would involve the opening up of new areas where tobacco is not grown.

23.9 Per Cent Increase In Population of N. C.

The population of North Carolina as a whole increased 611,153, or 23.9 per cent, between 1920 and 1930, and of this increase 70.4 per cent were in the age groups under 35 years. The number of children under 1 year of age showed an increase of 3.8 per cent, while the entire group under 5 years increased 9.0 per cent.

MARKED CHANGE NOTED IN STATE FARM METHODS

Improved Machinery Now To Be Found on Nearly Every Farm

Improved farm machinery was once a rarity on the average North Carolina farm and where it was present, the machinery was used only at long intervals. Now such implements are in use nearly every week in the year. Oscar H. Phillips, one of the observing county agents of the North Carolina Extension Service, puts this in words probably better than any one else. Mr. Phillips has seen the remarkable change come about in Stanly county where he has worked for years to build a more fertile soil. In a recent report, he says, "The hum of the mowing machine as it glides through a splendid growth of spring hays is fascinating music to the wide-awake farmer. It is not merely the click, click of the mower, but the return in dollars from the feeding of well-cured hay that causes real satisfaction. Each year, a larger number of farmers join this class and this year, is no exception. First, we had hay-making with the group growing alfalfa. Next came the vetch and small grain growers, and this group is larger than usual. The early cutting of hay was damaged a little by the heavy rains but the later cuttings were cured almost perfectly. The red, sweet, and alsike clovers are now being cut with splendid yields. The mowing machine was idle during most of the year in former days, but now it is used on the well-managed farm nearly every week in the year and certainly every month with the possible exception of December, January and February." Observers passing through North Carolina in those latter days have observed this wholesome change. Not only does the song of the mowing machine rise melodiously from well-cultivated fields but other implements also add a chorus of freedom from soul-trying and back-breaking labor.

Rural Population Shows 14.1 Per Cent Increase

The rural population of North Carolina in 1930 was 2,360,429, comprising 1,597,220 persons living on farms, and 763,209 not living on farms, representing as a whole an increase of 291,676, or 14.1 per cent, as compared with the rural population in 1920 (2,068,753). The rural-farm population, taken alone, increased 97,274, or 6.5 per cent, between 1920 and 1930, while the rural-nonfarm population increased 194,402, or 34.2 per cent.
