Look for the Meaning

Why is DuPont's yacht in eastern Carolina waters? And why is John Small making liquor speeches for John J. Raskob in this part of the State? Apparently there is some low dive politics going the rounds. And it is a safe prediction to say that it is for the purpose of electing a wet man to the United States Senate from North Carolina.

Now is the day for every voter and especially every woman voter to look well into the life of the men they support for high office. It is easy some times for men to get in high places whom we are later ashamed of. There is little doubt about the fact that there is a lot of liquor money being spent in North Carolina. It is slipping in from the North and it is Republican money trying to beat Senator Morrison for a seat in the United States Senate.

A Blow at Free Government

The Associated Press has the following on a speech made recently by W. Irving Glover, second assistant Postmaster General:

"Urging Missouri postmasters to defend and support Herbert Hoover, W. Irving Glover, second assistant Postmaster General, told the postmasters' state convention here today that 'as long as you do that you are filling the job of postmaster.'

"You are a part of this administration," he said, "it is best for us to get out on the firing line. I shall be back in Washington Monday, and I shall be glad to take the resignations of any of you postmasters who do not want to do it."

"Answering those who say what America needs is a leader, Glover declared, 'We've got a leader. We have had one for years. If we do not stand back of that man Hoover, regardless of party, God help this country.'

Nothing could be further from free government than this. Every voter in America owes it to himself to vote as he pleases.

Of course, postmasters owe to the administration that puts them in office honest and efficient service, but they should be as free as anybody else to vote for their choice of their party, or for any other party, if they wish. Free government is in serious danger when a man's job depends on his vote.

Branding Fountain a Republican

The Ehringhaus leaders have taken a pretty low dive in trying to brand Fountain as a Republican.

The fact is that Fountain's Raleigh speech is just exactly the kind of Democracy the people want.

It seems like a puny popgun attack to try to put such a thing across on the people who have advanced far enough into the political books not to swallow everything the politicians say.

The truth is Fountain's shot was too hot for them, and they are trying to divert the fire.

The Most Horrible of Crimes

The law-makers will have to name a new crime, one that has proven to be more horrible than all others—stealing and then murdering an innocent baby.

Of course the law-makers should not prescribe lynching as the proper punishment; yet, there are no less than a million good, honest American who could be induced to help lynch or even burn at the stake the abductor and murderer of the little Lindbergh child.

Democracy Must Redeem Itself

The Democratic Party will finally decay if it bows much longer to certain New York influences headed by Tammany Hall, the most selfish and corrupt political organization on the face of the earth. It is an organization with two vicious habits—electing officials and sucking the life out of the people. Unfortunately it is now following the policy of dictating to the party or of running it.

Tammany is made up of every class of people known on earth. They know very little of the needs of the rank and file of the folks throughout the country. Now the Tammany influence is trying to override the balance of the country in the selection of a presidential candidate, and is apparently backing Owen D. Young, a man who knows big business and cares not for little business. He is a man who stands a long ways from the true meridian of Democracy.

The important question is will Democracy agree to sacrifice itself again this year because of the demands of the roughest and most undesirable element of the party? The only place Democracy can redeem itself is in the national convention, and it can never do so by bowing to Tammany.

Waiting for Prosperity

We continue to see many folks passing around waiting for prosperity to come marching back. And it is a pitiful sight, because they are not going to see it. There is still an opportunity to meet prosperity if a fellow runs fast enough and digs deep enough. But the fellow that waits will never see it. There are some farmers who have never done anything but farm and who will not farm now because they can't find anybody to feed and clothe them. They prefer to whine rather than change their old habits of renting land, half working and drawing all they can carrying not if they pay out when the fall comes.

We should be frank in advising people to change their methods, to urge them to do more work even if they can't get so much for it. When the final show-down comes it will be a question of whether we have enough to eat or not. Those who have been feeding beggars because of the unemployment situation, are going to ask the fellow seeking alms next winter what he was doing when the sun was shining during the summer. Especially will the charity seekers find this true in those communities where there is plenty of land lying uncultivated.

The man who stands still and waits for prosperity is going to find things hard in the future.

Dark Outlook Here

★ One of the largest magazine publishing houses published a survey which they recently made to find out the tire buying plans of car owners for this year.

In this survey they covered twelve states and interviewed 1,403 of their subscribers. They found that 68% of those interviewed are going to buy tires this summer, and that 27.2% of these car owners are going to buy Firestone Tires—the next highest is only 20.6% which shows the demand for Firestone Tires is 32% more than for any other make.
