When the Bonus Is To Be Preferred

Congress has killed the bonus bill, which was perhaps the proper thing to do, especially when the government would have had to issue bonds to pay it.

The bonus, however, would be preferable to a big pork barrel bond issue to build needless public buildings. The bonus would give a better distribution throughout the country possibly than any other way and would probably afford some temporary relief.

Yet it would have no permanent effect in restoring better conditions, because good times will have to come some other way.

Equal opportunities to all classes of people will soon help the soldier boys, cause the bread lines to disappear, and bring prosperity back again. So long as all the governmental activities are used to protect wealth, the masses will suffer, whether we have the bonus or not.

Dropping to the Depths

One of the saddest things seen on the political horizon today is an electorate which, in the midst of the distress and dangers that are hanging over the people—can get their ideals no higher than alcohol.

This is a day when we need to follow the higher things in life rather than to flounder around in the channels of sin. Food and clothing are the important things for the people to center their thoughts upon.

Congress's Accomplishment

Congress expects to adjourn this week.

Its greatest achievement so far has been the passage of a tax bill, most of which will be paid by the poor and middle-class people. Of course, a few good things have been done, but nothing whatever is of lasting relief. Too many selfish influences are lurking around Washington.

His Choice

W. O. Saunders in his newspaper, The Independent, advances some able reasoning, we believe, in connection with the race between Senator Cam Morrison and R. R. Reynolds for a seat in the United States Senate. Mr. Saunders says:

"I am as strong for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and State Rights in the handling of the liquor problem as Bob Reynolds is. Probably more so, for I have nothing to gain and perhaps something to lose, by my opposition to National Prohibition, while Bob Reynolds hopes to gain a seat in the United States Senate with a salary of $10,000 a year and a couple of blonde stenographers thrown in. But there are more important issues confronting America than this aggravating issue of Prohibition and this is no time to commit problems affecting the bread and butter and liberties of 120 million Americans into the hands of happy-go-lucky sky-larking irresponsibles of the Bob Reynolds type.

"The restoration of beer and light wines or the legalization of ardent spirits in America is not going to cure the depression in America any more than light wines, beer, whisky and cordials have relieved the depression in England, France, Germany, Italy, Poland or Belgium. They've got their beer and depression too, over there. No European country with all its liquors, cordials, wines and beers has escaped the depression.

"In the crisis facing America I prefer to be represented in Washington by an elder statesman of mature and sober judgment who is profoundly concerned with our graver problems and whose first concern is not whether I shall or shall not have a glass of beer."

LARGEST FAMILY HAS 16 CHILDREN

W. B. Barber, of Skinnerville Section, Claims Record

Skinnerville.—Unless a competitor come forth that is at the present unknown, W. B. Barber, a farmer of this section, is generally regarded as the man with the largest family in Washington County, as he has 16 children living.

There are nine girls and seven boys. A number of the children are married now. But when the family was together a few years back it took 100 or more biscuits for breakfast, with sausage, eggs, and cheese to help along. Mr. Barber usually kills from 4,000 to 7,000 pounds of meat annually.

Today Mr. Barber is living with his second wife, as his first died some few years ago. It is very seldom that Mr. Barber has to employ help on his farm as his boys do all the work with his help. The girls helped their mother at home.

USE YEAST FOR QUICK BREADS

Makes Bread or Rolls with Liquid Yeast Whenever Desired on Farm

Liquid yeast, made at home with a commercial yeast cake, some Irish potatoes, a little sugar and salt and warm water, will aid the farm housewife in having bread and rolls whenever desired, say State College home demonstration workers.

Miss Violet Alexander, home agent of Beaufort County reports an interesting story of how Mrs. Edmond Jarvis, of the Pantego home demonstration club, kept a supply of this liquid yeast for about two years after the original cupful had been given her at a home demonstration meeting in April, 1929. Mrs. Jarvis secured the recipe for making the yeast at the same time and did not buy commercial yeast in renewing her supply but used a portion of the yeast previously made. She kept a fresh quantity on hand until Christmas, 1931, when she moved from the Winsteadville community.

This liquid yeast is prepared from eight medium-sized Irish potatoes boiled, 1-2 cup of sugar, 2 tablespoons of salt, one quart of luke-warm water and one cake of yeast dissolved in 1-4 cup of luke-warm water. The potatoes are peeled and mashed while warm and the other ingredients are then added in the order named. The mixture must not be more than luke-warm when the dissolved yeast is added. Cover and set in a warm place for an hour. Stir and then pour into glass fruit jars, not filling over 3-4 full and not closing the lids tightly. Keep in a cool place.

BILIOUS

"I have used Black-Draught . . . and have not found anything that could take its place. I take Black-Draught for biliousness. When I get bilious, I have a nervous headache and a nervous, trembling feeling that unfits me for my work. After I take a few doses of Black-Draught, I get all right. When I begin to get bilious, I feel tired and run-down, and then the headache and trembling. But Black-Draught relieves all this."—S. O. Hendrix, Homerville, Ga.

An Appreciation

While it would be my great pleasure to do so, I find it humanly impossible to thank each one personally for the support accorded my candidacy for the nomination of county commissioner in the recent primary. However, I do express my appreciation publicly with the assurance that I will do everything in my power to merit the good will expressed by the voters of Martin County and to pledge my best efforts in the operation of the county's business in the most economical way possible.
