QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS AS TO FARM PROBLEMS

Question.—How long will it take to cure my sweet potatoes, and what temperature should I maintain in my storage house.

Answer.—With a temperature of 80 to 85 degrees the curing process takes about two weeks. Watch the potatoes carefully during the curing period and when the sprouts begin to appear the potatoes are cured. After curing, the temperature should be kept at 50 degrees. However, if soft rot becomes severe the house should be heated until the potatoes are well dried out before lowering the temperature again.

Question.—Is there any benefit from cutting and plowing under tobacco stalks after harvest?

Answer.—Yes. Standing tobacco stalks and the suckers that grow on them furnish a breeding and feeding place for millions of insect pests that will attack the crop the following season. When plowed under many of these insects are destroyed. The stalks also furnish a small amount of plant food to the soil.

Question.—What kind of lime is best for acid soils?

Answer.—Where lime is used sim-ly to neutralize acidity, it is best bought on the basis of calcium carbonate equivalent and the fineness of grinding. On sandy soils, subject to magnesium deficiency, however, it is best to use a dolomitic limestone which carries magnesia.

Question.—What is a good grain mixture for yearling heifers, and how much should I feed?

Answer.—A good grain mixture for dairy heifers of this age consists of 3 parts, by weight, of corn meal, one part wheat bran, and one part ground oats. This mixture, however, should be used with a good legume hay or a hay in which the legume predominates. The amount to be fed depends upon the condition of the animal, but from 2 to 3 pounds a day is usually sufficient where roughage is fed in liberal quantity.

Question.—Is it too late to sow cover crops?

Answer.—No; with the exception of crimson clover. Austrian winter peas, vetch, wheat, oats, barley, and rye can be sown during the month of November in practically all parts of the State. These crops will come in good time for spring grazing, turing under for soil improvement, and will also make a fair crop of hay or grain from the late planting.

Question.—How can I get rid of lice on my beef cattle?

Answer.—Dip or spray the animals with any coal tar dip or nicotine sulphate solution. Dipping gives the best results, but where there is no dipping vat available each animal should be sprayed with a hand machine until wet to the skin. Any of the commercial dips can be used, but as all vary in strength it is important that directions on the containers be followed. Repeat the treatment in 14 or 15 days for thorough control.

Question.—What is the best age to breed dairy heifers?

Answer.—No arbitrary age can be set for breeding, as this governed by the maturity of each animal and the breed. Heifers that are fed a liberal grain ration in addition to their roughage will mature rapidly and can be bred earlier than the slower-maturing animals. A good rule to follow is to breed Jersey and Guernsey heifers to freshen from 24 to 30 months of age; with Ayrshire and Holstein heifers breed to freshen from 27 to 32 months of age.

Harvests 83 Bushels Irish Potatoes From One Bag

Catawba Farmer Makes Profit on Poultry Again

From an average of 156 birds during the past poultry year, Lee Drum, of Catawba County, secured an income of $207.43 above feed cost.

Craven Farmers Put 7,000 Pounds Meat In Storage

About 7,000 pounds of meat have been placed in the curing room of the local ice plant in New Bern by Craven farmers. Many of these men plan to sell cured meat next spring and summer.
