NEW SALES TAX RULES TO GO IN EFFECT AUG. 1

cessive rates of tax on small sales. To compensate the loss of tax on sales below the taxable line the use of a cumulative rule on purchases at one trading period was denied, so as to give the merchant an excess on taxable merchandise to make up the loss on non-taxable sales below the taxable line. This denial of the right of the customer to have the tax computed on the total of purchases made at one time, rather than upon each article, in many cases resulted in tax charges of 5 and 6 per cent when the total purchases were large enough to apply a straight 3 per cent. This was so confusing that many merchants elected not to use this advantage.

These experiences have been strong persuasive in the direction of a single schedule for all merchants, starting with a lower taxable line for the benefit of merchants having a large volume of sales below the taxable line and making it adjustable to all merchants by using a higher top range in each bracket and giving the customer the benefit of a tax adjusted to the total sum of his purchases at one trading period.

Under the new rule now promulgated, it will not be possible for the merchant to include the tax in the price of each article of merchandise, because the amount of tax on a given article is not an exact sum, but will vary with reference to whether two or more purchases are made at the same time, and depends upon the total sum of such cumulative purchases. The single uniform schedule gives to the merchant the advantage of fair and uniform trade practice, and to the purchaser the advantage of a tax applied to his cumulative purchases as near to the 3 per cent tax paid by the merchant as can reasonably be applied. The rule does not require the use of coupons, stamps, or sales tickets, and can be easily applied by every merchant and easily understood by the customer.

Under this simple single uniform rule the customer can never be overcharged more than a fraction of a cent on any purchase or group of purchases, and is given a part of the break of fractions on taxable purchases and no tax on single purchases below 10 cents.

The general scope of this new schedule has been discussed with representative merchandising groups in the State, and has met with a very pleasing degree of approval and assurance of cooperation in its observance.

The practical unanimity with which it has been accepted by merchandising groups is a fine indication of their real desire to cooperate with any set of regulations that provide uniformity of practice and protect them from absorption of the tax, which was the clear intent of the General Assembly.

In the interest of uniform practice and understanding the new regulation has been put in the form of a placard that is printed by the Department of Revenue and will be furnished without charge. The accompanying cut is a fac-simile reproduction of the placard. They will be furnished in lithograph printing on bristol board, size 11 by 14 inches, in such quantities as may be needed, to merchants' associations for distribution to their members and other merchants. In communities where there is no organization of merchants it is requested that some particular merchant order a sufficient quantity to supply the merchants in the community.

"I get up in the morning feeling dull and sluggish, a dose of Black-Draught takes the feeling away and causes the feeling to pass away, and in a day or two I feel like a new person.
