Maximum Cotton Payment Limited To $18.00 An Acre

The amount a farmer will receive for reducing his cotton production depends on the amount of lint cotton produced in 1928-29-30-31-32. The average production per acre for this period is taken as a base and payments at the rate of three and one-half cents a pound will be made on the acreage taken out of production. The maximum payment, however, is limited to $18.00 an acre. The first payment of one-half of the amount due will be made between March 1 and April 30, 1934, with the second half payable between August 1 and September 30, 1934.

Any Part Of Beef Can Be Preserved On The Farm

Beef can be preserved on the farm. Any part of a beef carcass may be preserved by corning. Cut the beef into five or six pound pieces and rub with salt. Pack these chunks in a clean vessel of stoneware or hardwood and cover with a pickle made of 1 1/2 pounds of salt, one ounce of salt peter, one-quarter pound of sugar or syrup and one gallon of pure water. Allow the meat to stand in this pickle for about two weeks. It may then be smoked lightly to improve the flavor or it may be allowed to hang some time. This causes the meat to dry out well and is known as dried beef.
