Mrs. Downs Entertains
 Hamilton.—Mrs. R. E. Downs was charming hostess to a number of the younger set Friday evening from 8 till 12, when she entertained in honor of Miss Dolly Myer's 15th birthday.

The guests, upon arrival, were invited by Mrs. Downs into the living room, which, with its warmth and light and profusion of spring flowers shut out completely the wintry night outside. When the last guest was seated, Dolly was told that the heap of packages on the davenport table were for her. She opened and placed them on display while expressing her pleasure and appreciation to her friends in a very gracious manner.

A number of games were enjoyed, after which Mrs. Downs, assisted by Mrs. W. T. Thomas, served hot chocolate and pimento sandwiches. Following this, "5-minute dates" and dancing were in order until Mrs. Downs led the party into the kitchen, where, by the light from the 15 candles on the pink and white cake they enjoyed ice cream and sugar wafers.

Those enjoying Mrs. Downs' hospitality were Misses Dolly Myers, Martha D. Johnson, of Oak City; Ella Pitt Johnson and Katie Mae Bennett, of Plymyra; Bessie Pugh, Margaret Peel, Elsie Davis, Mary Stalls, Dorothy and Virginia Perkins; Messrs. J. D. Bunting, Bernice and Milton Bennett, of Palmyra; Herman Davenport, Willie Edmondson, Robert Davis, Dick Slade, Julius Bunting, Hilton Everett, and Charles Perkins, jr.

HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS
 By Miss Johnnie Camp, Home Service Director Virginia Electric And Power Company

Candies
 Regardless of the season, candy is quite palatable to all groups of society. Whether she should or should not eat candy the fact remains that we do, although we should eat it at mealtime and count it as part of the day's food. Between meals or in excess at any time, it is unwholesome. Pure homemade or hard candies are much more preferable than candies too rich with nuts and chocolate.

A modern confectionery shop is a dazzling array of marvels made from sugar. The confectioner's wares are the result partly of his own skill, his special equipment and partly of his use of a few, simple principles of sugar cookery. The following principles of sugar cookery are the basis for many of the practices in candy making.

1. Be sure of good proportions (use tested recipes).
2. Measure accurately.
3. Cook candy with candy thermometer. Guesswork in this is a form of extravagance. The sugar spoiled by guessing at sugar temperatures would soon pay for a thermometer.
4. While the mixture cooks use wet cheese cloth strip wrapper on a fork for wiping the sugar crystals from the sides of the pan. Boil the mixture gently.
5. If creamy candy is desired, cool the mixture before beating, stirring or pulling it.
6. For a clear candy, pour the hot mixture without stirring it.
7. All sugar mixtures produce better results if not stirred while cooking. If stirring is necessary do only enough to prevent burning.
8. A little corn syrup or an acid will help to produce a creamy smoothness in candy.
9. Surfaces for cooling or molding candy should be buttered.
10. Clear weather is the best kind for candy making.

Peanut Brittle
 Three cups of sugar, 2 cups peanuts
 Three-fourths teaspoon of soda
 Put sugar in a large skillet (heavy aluminum or iron) over medium heat. Stir constantly with back of spoon until well melted and brown, add the soda and peanuts, stirring fast and pour out on marble slab or a bread board which has been wet with cold water. Allow to cool. Break into regular pieces when hardened.

Popcorn Balls
 One-half cup water; 2 cups brown sugar; 1 cup molasses, 2 tablespoonfuls of butter and 4 quarts popped corn.
 Boil all ingredients, except corn, to 290 degrees. pour over freshly popped corn, stir well and mold into balls.

Fairy Taffy
 Two cups of sugar; 1 cup water, 1-4 tsp. cream tartar, 1-2 tsp. flavoring (either cinnamon, cloves or wintergreen), coloring, if preferred.

Cook all ingredients, except flavoring and coloring in a smooth kettle to 310 degrees. Do not cook too rapidly. Pour out on a buttered platter. Cool, turn edges to center. Add flavoring or coloring; pull while very hot, using only finger-tips. Use oil of cinnamon flavoring for pink coloring, oil of wintergreen for green, oil of cloves for red and oil of peppermint for white. Pull out into long ropes, twist slightly; place on wax paper. Break or cut with scissors to desired length of pieces.

Fudge
 Two cups brown sugar; 3-4 cup of milk; 4 tablespoonfuls grated chocolate, 1-2 cup nuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-2 tablespoonfuls butter and two tablespoonfuls of corn syrup.
 Cook sugar, milk, corn syrup and chocolate to soft ball stage, 238 degrees. Remove from fire; add butter and allow to cool to 105 degrees. Beat until creamy, and add nuts and vanilla. Pour in buttered tin and mark off into squares.

Uncooked Fudge
 One-half pound chocolate; 1 1-2 tablespoonfuls of butter; 2 eggs; one teaspoonful of vanilla and one cup of confectioner's sugar (may need little more).

Melt chocolate in double boiler, add butter, yolks of egg well beaten, and sugar. Mix well; add whites of egg well beaten, nuts and flavoring. Spread in a well-buttered square tin cake pan. When firm, cut in squares. Almonds slightly toasted are very delicious in this fudge.
