Gives Recipe for Making Potato (Liquid) Yeast

Boil eight peeled Irish potatoes until done. Mash them free from lumps and add to the drained potatoes 1 quart of lukewarm water, 1-2 cup of sugar, 1 tablespoon of salt, and 1 cake of dry yeast dissolved in 1 cup of tepid water. Let this stand overnight before placing it in a partially sealed fruit jar, remembering that the jar should never be more than two-thirds full to insure best results. This mixture may be kept for two weeks in a refrigerator. One cup of this is sufficient for one quart of flour in making up a bread sponge.
