Ways To Serve Left-overs
The proper use of left-overs can mean a lower food bill at the end of the month. There is an opportunity for great variation; for example, the following will give one suggestions as to how the left-overs may be used.

Meats: Rost beef, meat pie, stuffed peppers, croquettes, spanish rice, Italian spaghetti, loaf.

Lamb: Lamb stew, lamb croquettes, chartreuse of meat and rice.

Ham: Souffle, mousse, stuffed peppers, omelet, baked macaroni and ham.

Veal: Veal pie, jellied veal, stuffed peppers.

Fowl: Chicken a la king, creamed chicken, molded chicken salad, souffle, stuffed tomato salad.

Fish: Baked or boiled—Croquettes, timbales, scalloped, fish and celery salad, cakes.

Breads: Dried out and ground or rolled to be used for scalloped dishes topping for casserole dishes, in meat loaves, in bread puddings, toasted crisp and served with bran at breakfast, cut in cubes or strips, browned or buttered and browned to serve with soups. For buttered or cheese toast. As a thickening in cheese souffle, custard or chocolate pie. Crumbled for stuffings and dressing in preparing fowls and meat.

Cakes: Foundation for fruit short-cakes; sliced and served with a hot lemon or other fruit sauce; crumbled and mixed with whipped cream, nuts of fruit; slice and spread top with a meringue, sprinkle with coconut, brown in oven (a layer of jam jelly may be spread on plain cakes, then the meringue.) Served with a cooked custard sauce over it. Cut into strips and place around edge of mold when making molded or congealed desserts.
