The Disgruntled Forty

The disgruntled 40 now assembled in Detroit making plans in an effort to defeat Roosevelt are mostly a bunch of fellows who have lost their standing with their own constituency, gotten mad and are now out with the old snake disposition to destroy.

At the head of the list is Jim Reed who fought Woodrow Wilson while the great war president was on his death bed. A man who will do that is not entitled to the confidence of good people. Others on the list almost without exception are made up of the same type of men, men who have failed to make good and who are not trusted by their own folks. Now they seek to tear down by trying to advance what they claim is superior wisdom. Even Al Smith, the great traitor, was decent than any of the group, for he did have the decency to remain away from the meeting.

Learn To Keep Your Wants Simple

Probably the best advice yet offered as a solution to the wide-spread spirit of unrest throughout our country is advanced in the following paragraph:

"Learn to keep your wants simple. Refuse to be owned and anchored by things and the opinions of others."

We have dressed after the patterns of Paris, forgetting all about comfort and at a tremendous cost. We have duplicated the neighbors' purchases just to keep in style with the Smiths and Joneses when there was no real need for such action. And after we get it all, we are not satisfied.

Our standard of living rests too much on what others think and do, and not on what is right and just. A wrong act is not justified because another commits that wrong, but we reconcile ourselves because others do the same wrongs.

Says a clergyman: "They are very fine young people. Maybe impulsive, but not bad."

Who are "they"? Gladys MacKnight, who confessed she murdered her mother with a hatchet, and Donald Wightman, who held the woman's arms while the hatchet was swung.

Already, the Prosecutor of Hudson county, N. J., has announced that he is uncertain whether to seek an indictment for first degree murder.

HEAD WELFARE WORK IN COUNTY EXPLAINS SET-UP

By MARY TAYLOR Superintendent, Martin County Department of Public Welfare

The purpose of this article is to familiarize the people of the county with the duties, policies, and procedures of the newly organized Department of Public Welfare.

On December 1, 1935, the ERA officially went out of the relief business. However, by means of a final relief grant to North Carolina upon liquidation of the ERA, approximately $200,000 was earmarked for the purpose of integrating the remaining relief activities with the State Department of Public Welfare. This grant in many counties meant the beginning of an active unit of the State Welfare Department. The $200,000 allotted North Carolina was spent in maintaining certifying centers in the counties through June, 1936. At the present time the State Department is paying half the administrative cost necessary to maintain a standard Welfare Department with a qualified superintendent of public welfare in the various counties.

The superintendent of public welfare shall be chief school attendance officer of the county, and shall have other powers and duties as defined in "Laws Relating to Public Welfare Work in North Carolina," as follows:

1. To have, under control of the county commissioners, the care and supervision of the poor, and to administer the poor funds.
2. To act as agent of the State board in relation to any work to be done by the State board within the county.
3. Under the direction of the State board, to look after and keep up with the condition of persons discharged from hospitals for the insane and from other State institutions.
4. To have oversight of prisoners in the county on parole from penitentiaries, reformatories, and all parole prisoners in the county.
5. To have oversight of dependent and delinquent children, and especially those on parole or probation.
6. To have oversight of all prisoners in the county on probation.
7. To promote wholesome recreation in the county and to enforce such laws as regulate commercial amusements.
8. Under the direction of the State board, to have oversight over dependent children placed in the county by the State board.
9. To assist the State board in finding employment for the unemployed.
10. To investigate into the cause of distress, under the direction of the State board, and to make such other investigations in the interest of social welfare as the State board may direct.

The Department of Public Welfare will also be responsible for the certification of eligible persons to the various Federal programs, such as WPA, CCC, NYA, Rural Resettlement, the rules for eligibility to these various programs being specified by the agencies themselves and not by the Welfare Department.

There is also a board of Charities and Public Welfare in Martin County, which is appointed and approved by the State board and the State commissioner, Mrs. W. T. Bost. The local board consists of three people: Mrs. Wheeler Martin, of Williamston; Mrs. Mary M. Andrews, of Williamston; and the Rev. E. C. Shoe, of Robersonville. It is the duty of the board to advise with and assist the State board in the work in the county, to make such visitations and reports as the State board may request, and to act in a general advisory capacity to the county and municipal authorities in dealing with questions of dependency and delinquency, distribution of the poor funds, and social conditions generally. The members of this board serve without pay.

In addition to the duties already mentioned, the Welfare Department determine eligibility and distributes the food commodities made available through the Federal Surplus Commodity Corporation, and the clothing which is made in the various WPA sewing rooms throughout the county.

The need for a well-rounded Public Welfare program is becoming more apparent every day. The local office sincerely hopes that the citizens in the county will recognize this need and cooperate with those who are making every effort

The girl's attorney says she is "not cheerful, but hopeful." Hopeful? Why not? Before long, it will be obvious that the New Jersey police are impertinent for even arresting a young couple over such a trifle. Murder used to be a serious crime, matricide one of the most horrible of crimes. But we're supposed to be modern nowadays—even if we are just a bit "impulsive."

England's Educational System

When you strike down a nation's educational system, you blast its hopes and destroy its possibilities for future development. Of all the war stricken nations of the world, England is suffering most. They impose heavier taxes than other nations. Their educational system has fallen more than that of any of the enlightened nations. The grades have been lowered in the public system until only the grammar school is free to all. This was considered necessary that the country might care for its war debt. Yet, the action reaches the very vitals of the civilization of the British Empire, placing that country in the class of defensive nations rather than a leading nation.

Reflection

By MARGARET S. OWENS (Superintendent Child Welfare in Martin County)

It happened a few days ago—the rain was pouring down. The roads in the county presented a rough picture of red, slippery hills and ditched, muddy lowlands. The tobacco and corn bowed their heads under the strength of the downpour—the doors of the houses were closed, not a soul could be seen. There wasn't much beauty to behold as I rode along the lonely countryside—it was one of those rainy days when one likes to sit by an open fire and read. But there was beauty sitting right beside me—a child. A tanned child nine years of age, with unattractive features but with a soul. She was trying very hard to catch something of beauty out of the past and though young in years she had the mentality of an older person. Her thoughts were of the "home that used to be". Of a mother who deserted her and of a father who gave the last ounce of devotion. As she reflected and put those reflections into words she said, "I know my father cannot take care of me, but I wish he would take me—I love him". Then followed illustrations of the deeds of a loyal and devoted father who, because of adverse circumstances, can care for her no longer.

I have thought many an hour of the influence of that father on his child and of the moulding of a very beautiful character through that influence. I am convinced that whatever happens to her young life that she will always cling to and hold dear those ideas instilled into her young heart by her father. Well may every parent learn a lesson from this humble, tragic story; yet, one which shines like a beacon because that child reflects real goodness in her every expression.

Arming for War

Roxboro Courier

The nations of the world are arming feverishly, ostensibly for defense, but this means war sometime in the near future. A similar activity preceded the outbreak of the World War in 1914.

We may not know, but looks to us that the re-arming of the world has been forced by the activities of three countries, namely, Germany, Italy, and Japan. The first two are controlled by dictators with a thirst for national glory and adventure. The last-named nation is ruled by a military clique and is engaged in gobbling up as much of China as it can and as fast as it can.

We do not believe that either Britain, Russia, France or the United States wants a war, yet they would be foolish not to arm and prepare to defend themselves against possible attack. Disarmament is fine and desirable, but a nation would be foolish to practice it alone.—H. S.

COTTON SALES SLIPS MUST BE IN BY AUGUST 15

Farmers Urged To Return Certain Cotton Forms Immediately

August 15 has been set as the deadline for filing applications for cotton price adjustment payments. Mr. T. B. Slade, assistant in the county agent's office, said today: These payments represent the difference in price received by the farmer and the price on 10 spot markets on the day he sold. However, if the farmer received as much as 12 cents or more, he is not eligible to participate in the price adjustment payments. It is believed that all farmers in this county eligible to participate in the payments have filed their sales certificates and applied for the price differential.

Producers who had cotton under the 10-cent loan are not eligible to receive price adjustment payments on such cotton and it is not necessary for them to file cotton sales certificates, Mr. Slade said, explaining that the price on July 31 was above 12 cents a pound.

Mr. Slade pointed out that many farmers in this county who had received cotton price adjustment payments have not returned certain papers, known as Form N. C. A. P. 3. To participate in any future payments of any kind, the farmer must return this form properly executed. In other words, a farmer who has not executed and returned the form mentioned cannot participate in any soil program payments.

to serve the people in an unbiased, sympathetic and judicial manner. Those in charge of the work here cannot even hope to make this program a success without the cooperation of the people in the county. It is the people's program, as well as the State Department's and the County Department's program. The public is cordially invited to visit the local office at any time in regard to any problem which come within their jurisdiction.

(Paid Advertising) IN HONOR OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT You have seen the great depression. That has swept across the land. No doubt in my mind, Today was simply due to man.

They over-rule the Democrat, By voting in their man. His duty to his country. Man was a failure at his hands.

He thrilled the heart of women, And fooled a multitude of men, When he told them that prosperity Was just around the bend.

Just a few years ago, folks were throbbing at the heart, Sitting back riding in their Hoover carts.

We just couldn't see how the country could stand, But God sent a ruler from the Promised Land.

He now has an opponent—for God's sake, let him slide, His name is known as Landon—on the Republican's side.

If Landon is elected, how can the people know He may bring about the trouble that was five years ago.

Look out in the future, gentlemen, and think over the past; If Landon is elected, doomday may come at last.

The masses of the people can't tell you how they felt, When they saw they had elected your honorable Roosevelt.

He first took his oath, then took hold of the wheel, Then the folks began riding in their automobiles.

A dilapidated country, he took hold in complete, He made the bankers solid and put the paupers on their feet.

When his next term is over, we shall hate to see him part, For he has now blessed the nation by his sympathetic heart.

When you see the boys coming, just greet them with a smile, Men that have been Democrats ever since a child.

Line up, men, and begin to move about And put a chain of votes around him, he can't get out. By: J. A. GARDNER, Route 1, Box 77, Williamston, N. C. (Paid Advertising)
