Green Pastures, Indeed

The Green Pastures celebration at Charlotte recently was a complete success. The people generally feel that we are truly dwelling in green pastures...

Truly, the redemption from the slavery of debt and its attending burdens, the great change in the general condition of things, makes us want to repeat the words of the Psalmist when he wrote: "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me by still waters. He restoreth my soul."

1936 Models All Gone

A local automobile dealer informs us that he has no 1936 models of his car left for sale and his factory has started work on 1937 models without missing a day's production. He can get no more 1936 cars from the factory and is scouring the countryside trying to find a dealer who has a model or so left in stock.

There are more new automobiles on the streets of Roanoke Rapids today than ever before. There are more automobiles here than ever before.

The payrolls of Roanoke Rapids are larger than ever before. There are more people working here than ever before.

Keep Your Eyes on Germany

Germany now proposes to take back her lost colonies. We have always thought the Allied armies should have gone farther, crossed the Rhine and gone on into Berlin in 1918.

The German Government was solely responsible for every man's death in the great World War, for the millions of wounded, and for the billions wasted; and now she is preparing for another great slaughter.

We must not take our eyes off of Germany. She will strike in the dark at the first opportunity. We cannot trust that "Kamerad" talk under the present leadership.

Choice

At Chautauqua, N. Y., Franklin D. Roosevelt said: "I have seen war. I have seen war on land and sea. I have seen blood running from the wounded. I have seen men coughing out their gassed lungs. I have seen the dead in the mud. I have seen cities destroyed. I have seen children starving. I have seen the agony of mothers and wives."

I hate war. At Avellino, in Italy, Benito Mussolini said: "Italy, with war in Africa, has acquired an immense, rich, imperial territory. . . . we reject the absurdity of eternal peace, which is foreign to our creed and to our temperament."

Which will the world choose?

Note To Mulletteers

The Dare County Times comes up fairly yelling with the happy news that North Carolinians shouldn't be alarmed at the prospect that white side meat may hit a peak of 50 cents a pound before the winter is over. What if it does, asked the Times. We don't have to eat it. We eat, instead, keg after keg of salt mullet at the comfortably low price of 10 cents a pound, and spend the difference on—say—caviar, if we like.

Having spoken, that journal realized what a pickle the salt mullet industry was in. There, in fact, wasn't any salt mullet industry any more, despite that there are no fish more tasty or nourishing than mullets. . . . with good sweet potatoes and fine corn-bread.

The business of catching and packing mullet once upon a time was an important industry along the coast. No family was so poverty stricken that it was unable to have as many of these as it desired, and no family was so selective in its table dishes that salt mullets in the winter had no place. We'd no idea the folks had grown away from the old stand-by winter dish, and with the Times we join heartily in ad-juring the mulletteers to be up and at em. We may need those mullets before spring and blackberries come again.

We list just two of the many good sales made on our floor this week. We cannot truthfully say that common and some of the medium types of tobacco are selling good, but we do say that we are selling good tobacco for a premium. Bring us a load and we'll show you.

ROUGH EDGES KEPT OUT A gold mine of flavor kept in! The first thing you'll notice about Ten High is the extraordinary mellowness and balance of its flavor. Its hearty fragrance forecasts its rich bourbon flavor, but, robust as it is, it slips down smooth as cream, with no rough edges in a million bottles. HIRAM WALKER & SONS - PEORIA, ILLINOIS Hiram Walker's TEN HIGH STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY 85c PINT FROM A $9,000,000 DISTILLERY The world's largest distillery insures you against rough edges in Ten High. Every bottle has the same smooth richness that cost $9,000,000 to produce. FROM BLUE RIBBON CORN Hiram Walker pays premium prices for corn as rich in flavor as Ten High itself. If a shipment fails to meet Hiram Walker's high standards, it is rejected. HOW SOUTHERNERS TEST BOURBON Look for dark, rich amber color; look for stimulating, pleasing aroma; look for the robust tang that typifies full-corn bourbon. Ten High scores on all 3 points!
