

Drive for Red Cross Far From Complete

The Red Cross membership drive was reported far from its goal in this county today, the chairman, Harry Biggs, stating that only $27.10 of the $200 quota had been turned in so far. The early reports carried the names of 22 members, smaller contributions amounting to $5.10.

The drive is scheduled to close tomorrow, but it is likely that it will be continued several more days. Only three of the fifteen canvassers have reported so far, but it is apparent that the campaign will fall below expectations after complete reports are filed.

Names of members reported to date:

Colonial Oil Co., W. I. Skinner Co., Williamston Hardware Co., W. G. Peel, Harry Biggs, Mrs. Fannie S. Biggs, Mrs. Erah Cobb, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Cobb, M. D. Wilson, Mrs. S. Gano, Mrs. Dale Tetterton, John Ward, Julius S. Peel, D. P. Hardy, Mrs. A. R. Dunning, R. E. Taylor, Mrs. J. C. Anderson, J. D. Woolard, C. O. Moore, P. P. Peel, D. Pender store, W. O. Griffin, Mrs. Young.

Prisoner Held In Hospital For Treatment Walks Out

Third Fire In Few Days On Washington Street

Slight damage was done to the roof of the Deale Wilson, colored home on Washington Street here yesterday afternoon by fire that started from a defective flue. As far as it could be learned no insurance was carried on the property, but the resulting damage was not great. Mrs. Bettie Gurganus owns the building.

The fire company, delayed by a run-down battery on the truck in answering a call a few days before, was back on a regular and swift schedule and reached the scene in time to check the fire that was fast going out of control on the dry shingles.

Sheriff C. B. Roebuck Sets Up New Collection Record

Sheriff Chas. B. Roebuck chalked up a unique record and a new one since he has been in office with his collection of county taxes for the year 1935, it was learned this week following an audit of the books. The total cash collections represent 89.51 percent of the 1935 levy of $179,418.90. Land sales represent 6.20 percent and the insolvent list stands at 4.29 percent of the entire amount.

The insolvent list amounts to about $6,000, a large portion of which will be collected before the books for the particular tax year are closed. It is likely that the uncollected accounts will be turned over to a special collector after next first Monday in accordance with law.

OUTLINE OBJECTIVES SOCIAL SECURITY ACT AT MEETING FRIDAY

financing, and as a result the Social Security Act was created.

While the social legislation reaches into nearly every phase of the relief problem, the national act provisions are contingent upon action by states in cooperating with the program, with one or two exceptions, where uniformity must be maintained to eliminate discrimination between industry in different states or sections of the country. The speaker pointed out that the individual states could pass or re-bacco and who was later entered in a Washington hospital for the treatment of syphilis, said following his re-arrest and return to the county jail yesterday.

Bland denied that he jumped out of a window at the hospital, but talks about how good a filling station man treated him with cakes and pop when he begged for food. Confined to the hospital for about two weeks, Bland did not seem to think toast and eggs were sufficient to keep even a sick man alive.

Farmers Provide Feed for Quail and Other Birds

Franklin County farmers are leaving small quantities of cowpeas, lespeze and other feed crops in little nooks or corners near the woods to provide food and cover for quail and other birds.

Eastern Carolina farmers who purchased feeder pigs from the drouth area of the mid-west report that the animals are gaining flesh rapidly now.

Corn Fed To Hogs Brings Farmer Increased Profits

Hogs fed by N. J. Miller of Bertie County made a new profit of $1.00 a bushel on corn fed to the animals in a recent feed demonstration.

ject legislation coinciding with that embraced in the social security providing joint aid to the blind, to dependent children in homes of distant relatives and other welfare undertakings. The main act as it will apply on a national scale provides (1) old-age benefits for all those employed in commerce and industry (with certain exceptions), beginning in 1942; (2) old-age assistance for unemployed persons and those who reach 65 before 1942, to begin in and when the state provides for matching dollar-for-dollar with the Federal government; (3) unemployment insurance for those employed in firms with eight or more workers.

Results of this far-reaching legislation, according to Miss Engle, will be a stabilization of budgets, the elimination to a great extent of the irregularities in production and consumption. It will serve as a reserve fund from which the unemployed will be aided in meeting grocery bills and house rent. While the act will not prevent unemployment, it will mitigate it, the speaker declared.

In handling the old-age pension accounts, the federal government will hold them in Washington, where credits will be entered, regardless of how often the worker moves or where he moves to. If he dies before he is eligible to receive old-age benefits, the amount he has paid in full will be turned over to the person's estate.

The speaker, for several terms a member of the State of Maryland assembly, said in closing that we effect plans for handling traffic on our streets and highways, and insisted that careful planning should be provided to meet economic conditions and assure those who have worked during all their early life a means of subsistence in their old age.

The conference held here was the largest held in any of the districts of the state, and was described as very successful by Miss Mary Taylor, president of the conference and head of Martin County welfare activities.

TWO ARRESTED FOR MURDER OF YOUNG ROBERSONVILLE MAN

destroy any evidence that might be offered against him should he be faced with the robbery charge. Watson maintains he was talking to Holliday, when Bullock, unseen up to that time, slipped from the side of the filling station and hit the keeper on the head with a hammer. Holliday was dragged from the station driveway to the side. After entering the station and taking money from the cash register and a number of cigarettes, Watson said he got in his car and left Bullock hammering on the already unconscious man, that Bullock ran from the station.

Tracks similar to those made by Bullock's shoes were seen around the station, and bloodstains were found on the bottom of his shoes. He insisted that he got the blood on the bottom of his shoes when he went to the undertaking establishment where Holliday's body was carried and prepared for burial. Officers state there was no blood on the floor at the undertaking establishment. Bullock then maintained that someone had disturbed his clothes after he retired, suggesting that someone had borrowed them. Bullock was not heard when he went home, occupants there said.

Important evidence in the case has not been disclosed, officers stating that they were trying to prove whether Bullock was seen with Watson after 1 o'clock that morning. It was unofficially learned that Watson stopped at the Mickey Inn, near here, about 2:30 that morning and he was accompanied by someone. Watson maintains it was Bullock, and Bullock denies he was with Watson.

Attorneys have already been employed to assist the state in the prosecution. The present indications are that a charge of first-degree murder will be vigorously pushed against Watson and possibly against Bullock.
