Recall or Kick Him Out

The general will of the people in this part of the state is to have Senator Josiah W. Bailey recalled, some going so far as to say that they had rather see him kicked out. The senator, without doubt, is simply failing in a big way to represent the people. His actions now are such as to create the belief that he would have campaigned against Franklin Roosevelt in the last contest if his own political hide had not been at stake.

Mr. Bailey favored the enlargement of the North Carolina Supreme Court a few months ago, but he now says it is dangerous to increase the personnel of the U. S. Supreme Court. Only last October, Mr. Bailey, encroaching upon the people by going into their own schoolhouses and court auditoriums, sweet-talked the voters, told about the removal of the Hoovercart from the highways and what great accomplishments followed under the leadership of President Roosevelt. He praised the President then because it meant his own reelection. Now, he leads the opposition, an opposition little different from that directed against the President in the last campaign. His words of a few months ago are remembered with great disgust by the masses, the masses one Josiah Bailey is supposed to represent. His actions now make the people who sent him into the senate wish there was some way to call him back or kick him out bodily.

Losing in the November, 1936, elections, the massed wealth of this country is now advancing a far greater campaign against the President and the people he represents than they advanced a few short months ago. The battle is removed from the hands of the common people and centered in Congress for the Bulwinkles, the Byrds, the Gasses, and the Baileys to play traitors' roles.

The common people of this nation are fast learning that the United States Supreme Court is not sent down from heaven. The common people of this nation are realizing more than ever that the Supreme Court is not answerable to the people—or to anyone else, for that matter. And if the matter was referred to them they would not only reorganize the body but make it answerable to the people.

Examining Servants for Diseases

The Sanatorium Sun

The Republic of Nicaragua seems to have stolen a march on many states of the more advanced United States, including North Carolina, by requiring that all servants must be examined by public health officials before they can obtain employment.

A law to that effect was passed a few years ago in New Jersey. Shortly afterward an arrest was made under it, the defendant, or defendants, sentenced, and an appeal was taken to higher courts. There, if memory serves, the matter remains, becalmed in the foggy stillness of constitutional law.

Nicaragua's forward step in the direction of better health conditions was announced a few weeks ago by Dr. Roberto Gonzales, minister of public health, who added that free treatment for the cure of certain diseases would be provided for those requiring it.

This action, Dr. Gonzales explained, was aimed at typhoid, dysentery and social diseases, but no doubt it will prove beneficial in improving the tuberculosis situation in that country and will likewise aid in general health improvement.

Dr. McCain touched upon a phase of the servant problem in North Carolina, and the problem in this state, of course, is not unlike that in other states—in his most recent biennial report. Discussing the prevalence of tuberculosis in Negroes and the peril involved for the white population, he wrote:

"Tuberculosis among Negroes is the most serious problem with which we have to deal. The death rate among Negroes is 3.2 times that of the whites. Although Negroes comprise only 28 per cent of the population of North Carolina, 53.7 per cent of the tuberculosis deaths occur among Negroes.

"Since Negroes are nursemaids, cooks, food handlers and personal servants in other capacities in the homes of the white population, their tuberculosis problem also vitally concerns the white population of our State, not only in a humanitarian sense, but also for their own safety. One of the greatest sources of infection among the whites is the Negro servant."

The work of curing tuberculosis and other diseases is showing results that are extremely gratifying to those whose lives are devoted to health building. The disease-prevention campaigns are also playing their part in reducing mortality and increasing human happiness. Food handlers in public restaurants and certain other groups serving the general public must convince the proper authorities that they are free of contagious diseases. It would seem a wise move to provide this measure of safety and protection to every child and adult who is served by a domestic servant.

"It's pretty hard to beat NATURE"

"APRIL" Empress of the Jersey STOCKWELL'S APRIL FUGGS, the only cow in the world twice winner of the President's Cup of the American Jersey Cattle Club, Owned by OWEN HOGAN, owner of Winston-Salem Journal and Salem, owner of Upway Farms, Woodstock, Va.

WE present a "close-up" of a world-famous Jersey cow, Stockwell's April Fuggs of High Pastures - "April" for short. She made a world's record over all breeds—3217 lbs. butter in 3 lactation periods within 3 1/2 years, each under Class A. A. with an average test of 6.46%. No Jersey farm in the world has ever bred, raised and tested her equal.

The pastures are full of Jersey cows—but there's only one "April." She's the empress—a hundred times more valuable than the rank and file of Jerseys—because Mother Nature gave her everything—a perfect natural balance of all the needed elements. So she eclipses all the others. Natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda is another example of Nature's balance of many different elements. Just as Nature favored "April," she favored Natural Chilean. To this nitrogen fertilizer she gave a natural balance of vital elements—the so-called vital impurities in her own wise blend. That's why Natural Chilean is more than just quick-acting nitrogen. That's why it is such an effective food for your crops.
