Ford's Labor Stand Shaken

Henry Ford, the great manufacturer, has paid and continues to pay fair wages to his employees, and while he has been doing that his policy was to deny his workers the right to organize themselves and bargain with him on the same grounds that one goes into a store and bargains for the purchase of an article. Probably Henry Ford will continue, as long as he lives, to treat fairly the workers who have figured prominently in the creation of the motor magnate's great wealth, but should his followers start beating down the wages of Ford workers and continue the stand of Mr. Ford against collective bargaining a different story would follow.

Mr. Ford's policy gives him the lash, but the Wagner labor relations act will in all probability take the future sting out of it. Henry Ford's stand is quite similar to that of a considerate slave owner in olden times. The slave owner was good to his chattels, but he denied the slave his freedom.

Share It, Brother

The "WPA shovel," complete with headrest, collapsible seat, and folding umbrella will be available to reliefers soon if a New Yorker's patent request is granted. With these spring days beginning to bear down, we wonder if it will be possible to share the benefits of the great invention.

Fire and Forests

We are wondering if there is to be a repetition of the inexcusable and unnecessary destruction of material values that have marked the forest fires in this section in recent years. Wandering if we shall look up to see the skies darkened with smoke from fires that will leave lone some and blackened sentinels that once were trees, proudly growing for future service and value to humanity.

For this is the period when this sort of loss becomes a monument to our stupidity. Three years ago, at this time, we were beholding a sight that was tragic, indeed. It will take years to efface the blackness and dreariness left by those fires in this northwestern area; many years to entice the beauty of those mountainsides back again. As for the material values represented in that destructive conflagration—they are gone forever.

We should remember that experience when we go into the woods for whatever purpose. Matches or cigarettes carelessly dropped could easily bring it all back again; deserted campfires or careless burning of brush could darken the skies again and turn homes into ashes.

It is a responsibility that should weigh heavily on those who might thus cause another disaster, and it becomes the concern of all, whether we own a tree or not, to take every precaution against fire, for upon these very trees may depend the future employment of some of us, and from them will be traceable some good for all of us, if we will only see to it that they are allowed to stand proudly in the sunlight and grow into values, instead of withered by relentless and inexcusable flames.

Next Tuesday the world's largest truck will be in Williamston for a one-day visit. This car is 55 feet long. Visit of the car to Williamston is being sponsored by the Boy Scout Troop here in cooperation with the promotion department of the U. S. Marine Corps. In the museum are over 100 exhibits of an educational nature. Odd and curious things collected by the Marines from all over the world are to be seen. While here the big car will be parked in front of the V. E. & F. Co. building, Tuesday, April 20, open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

CHUNKS OF STRINGS

POTASH

makes the difference in SWEET POTATOES

FOR the high yields of No. 1 sweet potatoes which will put the crop on a profitable commercial basis, use fertilizers high in potash. Experiments have shown that potash not only increases yields, but is the plant-food element that makes the potatoes chunky and of good quality. Successful growers have found that a 4-8-10 fertilizer can be depended upon to give good quality and high yield when applied at the rate of 800-1,000 lbs. per acre. Consult your county agent or experiment station for the right fertilizer for your own farm. See your fertilizer dealer or manufacturer regarding high-potash fertilizers. You will be surprised to learn how little it costs to get more potash in your fertilizer. Write us for further information.

George Harrison Is the Man

The endorsement of Mr. George H. Harrison for a position on the New State Highway and Public Works Commission has been widely approved by hundreds of leading citizens in this county—and in surrounding counties, as well. He is ideally suited for the position, and if politics is separated from the appointments, the governor could make no better choice than to name Mr. Harrison the commissioner for this district.

No one would give a more earnest and searching effort to learn the road needs of this section, and no one would protect with more zeal and earnestness the needs of the people. A hustling business man, and a man who enjoys doing things, Mr. Harrison is just the person for the position, and the thousands of the people in this section are hoping that the governor will give his candidacy every consideration.

A Real Puzzle

Recent decisions handed down by the United States Supreme Court favoring New Deal legislation are proving a puzzle to official Washington, and no doubt a shift in battle strategy will follow. The puzzling thing about the decisions, however, is the sudden change within the court camp. Could it be that all the heat created by public opinion has awakened the court, or could it be that the court members are making a last stand to save their jobs?

One thing is certain and that is the Supreme Court stands higher in the estimation of the masses today than it did just a few days ago.

The Owl's a wise old fowl

The Owl's the wisest bird that lives
And here's the sage advice he gives:
"Top and slip in moderation
And thus preserve your reputation."

Here's how an OLD FASHIONED is made the easy way: To one small lump of sugar, add two dashes of Calvert and one ounce of soda or plain water. Mix thoroughly to dissolve sugar. Now deposit one large cube of ice and add a finger of Calvert's "Reserve" or Calvert's "Special." Decorate with cut of pineapple and slice of orange. Complete the picture with a luscious maraschino cherry.

CLEAR HEADS CALL FOR Calvert WHISKIES

Calvert's "Reserve" and "Special" are made from the finest grain and aged in oak barrels for a long period of time. They are pure and delicious. Sold by J. C. Leggett.
