Advance Fall Showing

Our Stocks Are Larger — Our Selections More Varied — And Our Values More Numerous—

This store is in a better position to serve you to a greater extent this season than at any time during our history.

The reasons are obvious . . . the longer we serve a community, the better position we are in to anticipate the needs and wants of the people of the community.

Many improvements have been made to our store recently. It has been painted and here you'll find competent and responsible men and women to serve you.

We begin the Fall season with a stock of merchandise for men, women and children which, we believe, cannot be equalled for variety of selection, for quality, and for real honest-to-goodness value. A stock that has been provided with the thought foremost in our mind that:

"Quality is obtainable at all stores at a certain price — but quality is certain here at any price, for we never sacrifice quality for price."

How Martins Did or Didn't

They are a bit late, to be sure, but the figures below have just been made ready for the baseball guide and are recognized as official as far as what the Martins did or didn't do during the season closing not so long ago.

Just about every fourth man who went to the bat for the Martins got a hit which isn't so bad, after all. The home records show that Howard Earp batted .300, but the official record shaved away 5 points, but then he led McCay and Stevens by a seven count. Four of the boys, McCay, Stevens, Stanley and Deim were about evenly matched when it came to batting in runs. Earp, Deim and Lakatos were about as liberal as one another when it came to making errors. Earp and Lakatos stole about the same number of bases. Home run honors were evenly divided between McCay and Stevens.

Rollins came out ahead in the pitching work, gaining 15 wins against 6 defeats, and incidentally, he led the league with 202 strikeouts to his credit.

The facts and figures follow for those players with 100 times or more at bat:

Depression's Gold Rush Was A Flop

Washington—Government mining experts said a few days ago the depression's gold rush was a flop.

A group of works progress administration experts who checked up on the prospects for the jobless finding gold along creeks of the west reported that of all the ideas for relieving unemployment, this was "the most romanticized and exaggerated."

Although placer-mines in the richer areas still strike a few bonanzas, the experts said, the 28,000 small operators panning creek-water for gold averaged $72 apiece in 1935.

Even the romance is running thin because rattletrap cars have replaced the old prospector's burro, and the placer-miners shake the gold out of the water by machinery (if at all) instead of by hand.

But placer mining still has its good points.

The experts commented: "Although the income of the small gold miner is low, the life has many features that lure him. Besides being free from rent and practically all other expenses except food, the miner works without supervision. His hours are his own and his vacations are taken when wanted . . . The million-to-one chance against the miner apparently does not deter him from dreaming that his next clean-up will produce a nugget."

Cotton Pickers Face Real Job According To Figures

Crop statisticians figure cotton pickers have one trillion, 388 billion, 320 million (1,388,320,000,000) bolls to pluck in the seasonal harvest of the south and west.

The estimate was based upon the government's September forecast of a yield of 16,000,000 bales. Planters said 170 mature bolls were required to make a pound of lint cotton at the gin and $5,000 to make a 500-pound bale.

Seed Sweet Potatoes Be Chosen From Good Area

To maintain a good seed stock the seed sweet potatoes should be selected at digging time from areas where the sweet potato diseases are not present. If the home grown seed is diseased then a new seed should be bought from some grower whose sweets are free from disease. As a usual thing seed potatoes produced from vine cuttings and grown on healthy soil will be free of such diseases as black rot, scurf and stem rot. Select medium size potatoes that are true to variety and strain.

Green Wave Holds First Scrimmage

(By JACK BAKER SAUNDERS)

Williamston's Green Wave football squad had its first scrimmage of the year yesterday. Coach Sam Edwards had his first and second teams square off in a bit of heavy work, emphasis being placed on the fundamentals. The first club was able to gain at will against the reserves, but they appeared ragged in spots. The boys are working hard, and with the opening game just ten days away, a lively fight is expected for some of the positions. Several experienced linemen are back and the locals will be strong in that department. Only two veteran backs are left from last year, Joe Hardison and Fred Summerlin. The other half of the first backfield is William
