Taking It Out of the Hide of Labor

For quite a spell there has been a rate differential maintained by the railroad magnates in favor of northern industry. Labor leaders in the South for a number of years have pointed out the higher rate charged southern shippers was offset by the sweat from the worker's brow. Little attention was given the plea of those leaders who would have the rates equalized and the savings passed on to the common workers. Year after year, the common worker has worked to enrich the other fellow.

Now, the South is waking up and is demanding equal rates with the northern shipper, a demand that should have been pushed years ago. Our industrialists were content as long as labor bore the blunt of an unfair rate system, but when minimum wages and maximum hours face them they get in a hurry.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has recognized the rate differential, but it has done little to enforce equal freight rates mainly because of the low wages paid in the South

Governor Vacates

While the advertising group of the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development is sending out special invitations over Governor Hoey's signature urging foreigners to visit the State's vacationlands, the chief executive is spending his vacation in another State. But that's all right, Governor, us Southerners believe in Free Trade

Traceable to Wall Street

A whispering campaign, alleged to have started in Wall Street, is being directed against the President of the United States, one report stating that most of the charges are not printable.

The people of the United States are disgusted with such charges, and only ill will can come to those who give tongue to such false rumors. Wall Street, instead of gaining a point, is only heaping suspicion upon its own head by promoting such a dastardly campaign to discredit the people.

Mr. Roosevelt, during his five years and more in the White House has been charged with many things, but all those charges combined cannot equal the hush-campaign that is said to be coming out of Wall Street. Those who have charged the President with doing things in an unethical manner are now stooping to new low depths to belittle the administration.

The alleged utterances are traceable to Wall Street, the source of so many of this country's economic ills in years gone by.

In the Current News

Sandwiched in between the chronicled happenings from all over the world recently was a little story coming from a great university, the purported seat of religious education and training. Describing some improvement project, the story stated that lockers had been installed for the students to place their wraps and books for

Then why should we be so critical of the world at large when at the very foundation of righteousness and religious training it is necessary to guard against the common thief?

What the Years Have Brought

Morganton News Herald.

The news agencies and editorial writers have used the 99th birthday of a barber in Vermont to call attention to the pageant of social history he has witnessed since he began barbering. One writer noted the following changes that the aged barber has seen come to pass:

Once the talk was of barehanded baseball. Then it was talk about baseball with gloves. Trouser cuffs went from wide to narrow, to wide, and back to narrow again.

The customers panned new administrations almost every four years.

Collars went from hard to soft and back to hard, and back to soft, high, low, high again,

Hair went from long to short, and the part traveled all over the head.

Witch hazel in fancy bottles progressed to witch hazel in streamlined bottles

And over the customers' shoulders he watched the old Police Gazette, with its pictures of levely girls in tights, give way to the modern periodical, with its pictures-of lovely girls.

Standings in Coastal Plain League Are Juggled Again

Williamston Martins Drop Three Of Last Five Games

Outcome of Meeting Was Not Known When This Story Was Written

By dropping three of the last five games played, the Williamston Martins made little headway in the Coastal Plain league standing over

At present the Martins remain in fourth place, with but only a half game lead on Kinston. Third Place Snow Hill is four games ahead of the locals.

According to the views of many fans, with the Martins' inability to show any pepper and score many runs, along with the many difficulties experienced in handling of the Coastal Plain loop, baseball is fast dropping its popularity.

But President Ray Goodmon hope that the situation will return to a normal condition within the near future and the Martins will return to their regular game.

We Win, Then Greenville

Williamston and Greenville sp a double header last Friday after noon, the Martins winning the fir game, 3-1, while the Greenies to the second 5-4.

The locals scored two runs in the seventh inning when Bowen walke Lakatos was hit by pitcher. Dona D. Wilcox singled to score Bowe but over ran second base and w run down, Lakatos scoring in th meantime. The other Martin ru came in the next frame on a hit ba ter. Stanley's single and an error Larry Wade pitched the opening game allowing four hits.

George Bowen featured afield.

In the second contest, the Martins opened up with two runs in the first by combining a walk, wild pitch and two singles. Two more crossed the plate in the fifth when two singles and a walk filled the bases. An error allowed two men to score. But four runs was not quite sufficient. Breezy Beaird hurled for the Martins, allowing eight hits, white walking two and striking out three. Martins Lose Six Contests In Latest Mix-Up Of League

Hans Stanley Is Released; Club Now Looking For Left Fielder

Coastal Plain League standings, uggled in two previous mix-ups, were further entangled last evening when presidents of the eight clubs met in an executive session at Tarboro last evening and took six games from Williamston, one and one-half games each from Tarboro and New Bern and a lone game from Snow Hill and gave the Kinston Eagles four games.

Today, Williamston is tied with Ayden, Greenville and Goldsboro for fifth place, or the cellar position, if you prefer. Tarboro coninues in top position with New Bern and Kinston in second and third. Snow Hill goes into fourth

The meeting in Tarboro last evening apparently was the climax of one of those games in which the kettle had been calling the pot black, the club presidents taking what was believed to be a bad situation and straightening it out. But they had to tangle up the standings to bring peace and harmony to the league.

On two previous occasions, several clubs in the league were charged with playing too many class men. 519 Williamston, while escaping a di-519 rect charge, lost in both shuffles. And then last week the spotlight was turned on the Martins, some one charging that Hans Stanley was not Hans Stanley, that the police chief in his home town said he was Stanley Hodge. The charge was pending against the Martins when the club president entered the meeting last night.

Stanley's or Hodge's release was ordered today by the local club, and a search is already underway for a man to fill his position in left field. The left fielder who came here last season and who has been recognized as an able fly chaser is not a class man, local club officials maintain. "He played under an assumed name to maintain his eligibility in college," it was declared.

At noon today, the club officials were trying to get in touch with Wade Hardison, Roanoke Rapids young man. Hardison was in the Tarboro line-up at one time this season and is now playing with the Plymouth Rocks, an independent organization.

Following the long confab in Tarboro last night and early this morning, local club officials expressed a renewed termination to close the gap of eight games separating the Martins from the Kinston Eagles.

The meeting ruled that new players could not be added after tomorrow midnight except three rook-Of Grazing Pastures ies may be signed during the twenty days of the season.
