The guests were greeted at the door by the hostesses and Mrs. R. A. Phillips, of Kinston, and were directed to their places by Mrs. Elmo James. Tables were laid for bingo and bridge. Misses Anna Louise Taylor and Rachel Johnson had charge of the bingo. Mrs. W. F. To Miss Mary Bell Edmondson went an attractive picture, low score bridge prize; and Miss Doris Everett won linen handkerchiefs, the traveling prize. The color scheme of green and white was used both for the decorations of the house and the refreshments. Pine, ivy, fern and white pine cones were profusely used throughout the house. At the refreshment hour tables were spread with white covers, and in the center of each was placed a white candle, the base of which was decorated with fern and a sprig of a fall plant which had been dipped in white paint. Misses Ella Moore Phillips, Emma Lou Taylor and Florine Clark served the guests—refreshments—which consisted of green and white ice cream, white-iced cakes decorated with a pink rosebud, one small white poinsettia and fern tied with white ribbon. Not until the guests had nearly finished eating did they find baked in their cakes, the announcement—Helen and Woolard, December 11.
