

Seven Liquor Stills Wrecked In County

After a period of forced idleness by illness, Martin County officers returned to the woods to hunt the illicit liquor manufacturers this week and wrecked five plants.

Three of the plants were wrecked the early part of the week in Bear Grass Township. A varied assortment of plants was found in the rain Special Enforcement Officer J. H. Roebuck stating that one was a steam plant, a second one had a copper kettle and the third was a crude outfit with a 50-gallon capacity drum. Approximately 1,250 gallons of beer was poured out.

On Tuesday, the officers destroyed a 30-gallon drum and about fifty gallons of beer.

Going into Williams Township on Wednesday for the first time in recent weeks, the raiders found and wrecked a large plant consisting of a 50-gallon-capacity boiler, a 100-

WANDERER

Believed to have been released in 1937, by S. C. Gebhardt, in Youngstown, Ohio, a pigeon was caught in Griffins Township this week by Farmer George E. Roberson. On a band attached to the pigeon's leg was the marking, "G.28438-37".

Appearing at the home about two weeks ago, the bird ate with the chickens and became tame enough for the members of the family to catch him. A communication has been addressed to Gebhardt, but no answer has been received.

gallon-capacity wood still and 2,500 gallons of beer. The officers used fifteen sticks of dynamite in blowing up the unit.

Raiding in Bear Grass yesterday, Officers Roebuck, Haislip and Peel wrecked two 100-gallon capacity copper stills and poured out about 1,350 gallons of beer in Bear Grass.

Four Lose Lives And Many Hurt In Recent Tornado

(Continued from page one) and trucks. Thousands, some anxious to help and others seeking a glimpse of the tragedy, crowded the streets of Windsor and almost blocked the main highway north. Orders were finally issued to turn back the sightseers, but it was early morning before the traffic slackened to any appreciable extent.

Looters, taking advantage of the situation and while the victims lay injured in the hospital, stole a few articles, but patrolmen soon established an effective guard and cars were observed. The hurried search revealed a big cigarette robbery, the thieves deserting the car. One was captured, and the robbery was traced back to Washington.

Robert Lawrence, about 95 years of age, died at 9:30 that evening from injuries received when his home crashed in upon him. John Brown, 66-year-old chief of police of Colefain, while not a direct victim of the storm, was instantly killed when his car crashed into the back of a Norfolk Southern bus that was stopped by a fallen tree in the road. Mrs. George Lawrence, 66, died about 6 o'clock the following morning. Mrs. J. S. Mizelle died yesterday to run the death toll to four.

Among the seriously injured were Mrs. McKinley Connor whose back was broken and Mrs. Ernest Castelle who suffered a skull fracture and was paralyzed.

Aggravating the tragic situation was the destruction by fire of the C. J. Rhodes home that escaped the storm. The fire, starting Wednesday morning possibly from a flue damaged by the tornado, left eight more homeless in the stricken area.

Windsor people and others from adjoining territory faced rains and cold during long hours in their search for the injured victims, and the rescue work was most effective.

Hog Killings Are About Completed

Hog-killing days are about spent in Martin County, reports from various sections indicating that the farming population is amply prepared to supply the dinner pail and table for another season with choice meats. Incidentally, there's a bumper crop of sweet potatoes, and while ready cash money may not be so plentiful, there is no immediate danger of a famine in Martin County this season.

It is roughly estimated that Martin County farmers killed and salted approximately two million pounds of meat this season or enough to give every person nearly 80 pounds.

About the last of the hog killings was reported on former County Commissioner T. C. Griffin's farm out in Griffins Wednesday. Mr. Griffin, a leading farmer in the county, packed in excess of 3,000 pounds for his home use and an additional poundage for his tenants, who, practicing living at home, had raised their own meat.

The hog killing was typical of others held in Griffins Township, probably from the time the district was established. Neighbors from all over the community and other friends from miles around gathered at the home, most of them to lend a helping hand, and others to enjoy a community gathering and still others to participate in a sumptuous meal. All are welcomed on such occasions which are greatly enjoyed.

Several of Mr. Griffin's former associates in the county courthouse and a few other friends were special guests. And then there were Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Griffin and son, Thomas, of Goldsboro. Mr. Griffin, who has successfully operated the A. T. Griffin Manufacturing Com-
