

Defense Production Reviewed For First Year Of Emergency

ing 58,542 dwelling units in 124 localities of 45 states and territories. These figures do not include thousands of homes being built with private funds, partially as a result of growing industrial activity, OEM reported.

Cost of Living
OEM announced that while industrial production has increased about 25 per cent, wholesale prices increased only 7 per cent and the cost of living index rose but 3 per cent. Since the defense program began, nearly $500,000,000 worth of textiles and textile products have been bought, including more than three million sheets, 11 million khaki shorts, 18 million pairs of pants, 33 million pieces of cotton underwear, 63 million pairs of socks, and nine million pairs of shoes, for the expanding Army and Navy, OEM said. Food purchases for the services amount to almost $700,000 a day.

Employment and Training
The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that under the stimulus of armament production, non-agricultural employment has reached the highest level on record. The Bureau said employment in 15 selected defense industries aggregated 2,179,000 in April, 1941, compared with 1,530,500 in May, 1940. In all, the defense program so far has shown the need for 16 million man-years of labor—six million man-years of skilled labor, six millions of semi-skilled, and four million of unskilled, OEM announced.

The U. S. Employment Service announced 6,000,000 workers have registered at its 1,500 offices throughout the country as available for defense jobs, and OEM reported vocational training has reached an all-time peak. During the entire World War only 60,000 workers were given vocational training, the present defense program is about to graduate its millionth trainee, OEM said.

Plant Construction and Expansion
OEM announced more than 1,700 plants are being constructed or enlarged at a cost of $2,802,101,000. Some are already completed and almost all are nearing completion. The Government is paying for 73.4 per cent of the new plants needed for defense, and private industry, as represented by certificates of necessity, is financing the remainder, OEM said. These figures, however, do not include private investments in industries established before the defense program began or since built without governmental aid in the form of accelerated tax amortization. British commitments amount to an additional $146,400,000 for 47 plants.

Farming Out
The Army-Navy Munitions Board announced 4,750 primary contractors were employing 28,000 contractors and subcontractors, and the OPM Defense Contract Service—operating through 36 cities of the Federal Reserve Bank System to effect greater subcontracting—announced, as an example, one large prime contractor in New York has reached out to 16 states, including Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, North Carolina, and California, to utilize the men and facilities of 110 subcontractors and suppliers.

Priorities
The OPM Priorities Division reported it has imposed some form of control on 24 materials and classes of materials, including industry-wide mandatory priority control on aluminum, magnesium, nickel, nickel-bearing steel, ferro-tungsten, neoprene (synthetic rubber), and machine tools. In addition a large number of products, appearing on the Priorities Critical List, are subject to automatic priority control by the Army and Navy.

Defense Costs
OEM announced appropriations and contract authorizations amounted to $37,871,000,000 on May 17, and British orders placed with American industry, an additional 3.7 billion. The total program to date is the equivalent of $310 for every man, woman and child in the United States, OEM stated. Contracts awarded amounted to 15.2 billion on May 1. Cash payments amounted to 5.1 billion dollars by the same date, with the program calling for payment of five times this amount in the next year, OEM reported.

Materials
OPM announced many raw materials vital to national defense were acquired during the past year by extra imports and increased domestic production, "although the present inadequacy of shipping facilities probably will prevent accumulation in the amounts originally planned." These vital materials include such items as bauxite, tin and quinone, for which the nation is at least partially dependent upon outside sources.

Imbibes Freely And Dies Following Day

(Robersonville Herald)
Partaking of a considerable amount of wine, beer and whiskey in Williamston Sunday after umpiring a baseball game, LeRoy Sanders suffered a stroke of paralysis or an heart ailment which resulted in his death here early Monday morning. The party who accompanied Sanders to Williamston didn't realize the seriousness of his condition. They thought he just casually "passed out" so he was brought home and placed in bed. When he failed to revive on Monday morning a physician was called but it was too late. He died shortly after the doctor arrived.

A Rarity in the Equine World

Una Woodford, 16-year-old thoroughbred show mare, has good reason to be proud of her bouncing twin foals, an extreme rarity in the equine world. Una is owned by Lieut. Roger A. Young of White Plains, N. Y. The twins' sire is Kentucky My Own, a well-known five galter.

Outcome Of Russian And Nazi Situation World Still Awaiting

Supporting the rumors that Germany plans to invade Russia are developments involving Turkey. Germany has just signed a non-aggression pact with the Turks, indicating that Hitler wants that front quiet while he acts on another. The pact also adds confusion to an already confusing situation surrounding this war.

The news from Russia has overshadowed that from the other areas, but the reports state that British forces are continuing their drive in Syria and that the British air force is still pounding invasion ports along the French coast and also industrial Germany.

In this country, the war tension is gradually advancing. Following the closing of German consulates earlier in the week, Hitler has ordered American consulates closed in Germany and Italy, meaning that relations between this country and the Axis are rapidly nearing an end. It is a glaring fact that the closing of the German consulates in this country carries significance while in Germany it has long been known that the consulates were closed except for the handling of strictly routine matters.

Late reports state that the Russo-German situation is becoming more tense, Russia announcing that mobilization was well advanced and that maneuvers are underway on the German border. It was stated this afternoon that many believe Hitler will invade Russia even if Stalin yields to German demands.

President Roosevelt is delivering a special message to Congress this afternoon relative to the foreign situation. It is expected that this country will reply immediately to the closing of American consulates in Germany.

The Navy Department this afternoon expressed concern when the submarine, "O-9", failed to return from a practice run off the coast of New Hampshire. It was reported long over due this afternoon, making it appear that the boat and 33 men were lost.

Dr. J. T. Llewellyn is visiting relatives in Newport News.

Miscellaneous Shower
Mrs. Edwin Trahey entertained at a lovely bridge miscellaneous shower at her home on Houghton Street last night in honor of her sister, Mrs. Jarvis Edgerton, of Kenly, a bride of the spring.

Miss Dorothy Mae James, of Parmele, sister of the hostess, greeted guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line, composed of Mrs. Trahey, Mrs. Edgerton and Mrs. Bob Perly, also a recent bride. Miss Eleanor Glenn James passed the bridal tidbits.

The rooms where play was in progress were attractively decorated in white, green and pink with the accent on the mantle in the living room of a bridal scene banked with green and white.

During progressions guests were served lime ice and afterwards, bridal ices, individual cakes and nuts with a clothespin bride as favors.

High score prize was won by Mrs. Edgerton, runner-up by Miss Lillian Breen, and low by Miss Lorene Weaver.

Other guests were Mesdames Hoke Roberson, David Modlin, Oswald Stalls, Bill Harrison, Miller Harrell, Bill Howell and Wheeler Manning; Misses Mary Carstarphen, Marie Griffin, Ella Mae Gaylord and Evelyn Daniel; Miss Opal Brown, Mesdames Oscar Davnport, Clarence Sexton and Effie Holliday, of Jamesville; Miss Doris Everett, of Robersonville, and Mrs. Bob Perly, of Fountain.

Mrs. Julian Harrell assisted the hostess, and Mrs. G. C. James, of Parmele, and Mrs. J. W. Riddick, of Fountain, joined the group for refreshments.

Mechanic "Borrows" Car And Leaves Hurriedly

J. C. Hendricks, local garage mechanic, "borrowed" a car from O. S. Winborne early this week and so far has not been heard from. Coming here about two weeks ago from Clinton, Hendricks, after working on Mr. Winborne's car a few days before explained to the owner that the new part had come and that he wanted to install it. The owner turned over the keys, and Hendricks said to have issued several worthless checks, left hurriedly for unannounced points.

Members of Hendrick's family were here Wednesday from Clinton, Sheriff Roebuck stating that they had not seen him and did not know where he could be located.

Arrested In Connection With The Theft Of Gun

Louis Cherry, young Everetts colored man, was arrested Wednesday evening for the alleged theft of a shot gun from Paul Daniel there last Sunday. Paul Moore, also colored, was arrested for allegedly aiding and abetting in the larceny of the gun.

Cherry was heard trying to sell Moore a pistol, a short time ago, Moore, according to the report, having stated that he was not interested in pistols but he did want to buy a gun. When Daniel's gun was missed, the conversation was recalled and the arrests followed a short time later.

By a vote of the club $10 was contributed to the children's playground fund.

Mrs. W. B. Sutherland and daughters, Betty Lou and Carol Lee, of Norfolk, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Champion at their home near here.

Bombing Increasing Fighting Spirit Of The English People

us. Our neighbor next door but one, had some of her furniture and curtains on fire before they discovered the bomb was there, but they got it out without too much damage. But lots of our near neighbors lost their homes entirely with fire and the death toll was heavy.

But with it all the people are more determined than ever to go on with the war. Nearly all the people I know say they would rather die than give in to Hitler. It is a most cruel war. The women and children are so defenseless and they it is who are murdered in air raids.

Someone we know lost both her children, a baby of one year old, and another child of 7 years and she herself is seriously injured. Another young draughtsman from the office I was in lost his 23-year-old wife and a baby of 10 weeks, and he himself is in a hospital. Several young girls I know have lost their lives. That is just one or two cases. I know there are such a lot of tragedies.

Of course, we are all looking to America for help and speedy help or they will be in the same place we are. I think your president is a very nice man, and very wise. Well, must not make this too long, but think you will be interested to know that tomatoes are now 10 shillings a pound, ($2.40), if anything will make me hate Hitler that will because I am very fond of them; cucumbers, 2 shillings each (48 cents); and lettuce, 10 pence each (about 20 cents); eggs, if we are lucky enough to get any are 3 pence each (about 6 cents). The cheapest they have been for some time. Codfish, that used to be 3 shillings 6 pence (about 84 cents) but the government is trying to control that to bring the price down.

These commission agents are to blame for a lot of it. High time that kind of thing was wiped out. There was a case given in the paper of how a pot of marmalade passed through several hands in name only. The price when it reached this country was 8 1/2 pence (19 cents) a pot. When the man in the street bought it, the price had reached three shillings and 6 pence (84 cents) a pot, but that is controlled now. The price fixed is one shilling and 8 pence (40 cents) a 2-lb. pot, but our ration is only 1/2 pounds a month per person of either jam, marmalade or syrup. We had some stock we had not quite exhausted so have just managed up till now.

Cake is almost out of the running and when we get it, it is not very sweet and the sultans are staring at each other. We still get plenty of the essential food, but one does want a few of the trimmings.

Jack is still at Vantage on the farm—he seems quite happy. We hope to be able to run down to see him soon. Walter is busy planting his garden just now. We are going out to Will's place to sleep, tonight the moon is nearly full and they are doing their worst, but we brought 16 down one night without losing anyone and two or three nights eight or nine were brought down mostly by fighters and last night and early this morning another thirteen. I hate war and do not really rejoice over these things, but they brought it on themselves and can't help but be encouraged by any of their downfalls. I wish something drastic would happen to them that would end it quickly.

We all ready Sally's letter with interest, and Dottie answered it and I wrote about the same time, but several boats went down just about that time so am wondering if you received them. Your letter took six weeks to come.

Well, really must end this now. We all send our very best love and hope you do not worry when you hear of the raids.
