Will Face Strong Eleven In Opener

Ten Lettermen Are In the Line-up For Action This Season

Limited Reserve Offering Big Problem As Wave Starts New Season

Williamston High's Green Wave will open its 1941 football season here Friday night, September 26th, at eight o'clock. The Wave will tan-gle with a powerful Hertford eleven here that night under the arcs.

According to pre-season prospects Williamston will turn out one of its best teams in a number of years, with the line play expected to be smoother, and the light backs should cause opponents a great deal of trouble.

We will have ten lettermen back to form the nucleus of what looks to be a fast but light squad," said Coach Sam Edwards, in commenting on his proteges. "My main trouble will be in finding capable replace-

Of the veterans returning Jack Sullivan is slated to take over the leading role in the backfield, with Garland Wynne, J. D. Woolard, Jim Critcher and George "Jubilee" Cunningham all expected to turn in de pendable and steady performances. All of these youths saw action last season and played inspired ball at

In the line Conrad Getsinger will return at one of the end posts. Getsinger snatched numerous passes for neat gains during the '40 season and with experience he seems destined guards, a pair of tough hefties who fight hard all the time; while Billie and Howell Peele will again play the tackle positions.

The local gridders will display flashy new uniforms in their opening affray. Wearing silver pants trimmed in green with green and white jersey and black enameled helmets, the Green Wave will present not only a formidable array but a well-dress squad which the fans of this town should be proud of.

These uniforms were not given to the team and in order to pay for them season tickets will be sold for all home games, which include three night affairs and one afternoon tilt. The price of these season tickets is very small and everyone is urged to purchase one right away, attend ev-ery home game and help rebuild the interest and support which football here in past years. The tickets will go on sale today.

In announcing the home schedule, Coach Edwards stated that the three here on the afternoon of October night games to be played here will 31st. be as follows: Hertford, Sept. 26; Su Columbia, October 10 and Windsor, show

Martins' All-Stars And E. City Rebels Battle To Tie Here

Game Called at End of the Eleventh With Score Knotted 1-1

The Martin All-Stars, facing unusually strong opposition, played the Elizabeth City Rebels to a one-all tie during an eleven-inning contest here last Tuesday evening. The game settled down to a pitching contest with Ken Rymer, first string twirler in the Coastal loop last season, representing the All-Stars, and with Sawyer handling the mound assignments for the visitors.

Rehabilitation Of Physically Unfit

Physical Status of American Youth "Shameful", Director Hershey Declares

Approval of plans to facilitate the rehabilitation of Selective Service registrants who fail to qualify for military service because of remediable physical defects was recently announced by National Selective headquarters. Arrangements for cooperating by giving data concerning such registrants to authorized agen-cies have been under study at naheadquarters for months and now are virtually completed, it was stated. The program, announced by the Office of the Coordinator of Health, Welfare, and Related Defense Activities, was initiated following findings of a high rate of rejections of registrants for remediable physical defects. Conferences with other government agencies and representaives of the medical profession ng to the formulation of a rehabilitation program were inaugurated early this year by the National Headquarters, Selective Service System. Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, dicector of Selective Service, brought its need sharply to attention last May in an address to the National Nutri-tion Conference for Defense, when he termed the physical status of American youth as revealed by Selective Service tests to be "shameful". He prdicted that the general public would tire of having men ecape military service because of some minor disability that could be removed by proper treatment.

Commenting today on the an-nouncement by Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt that government financing will be sought for the proposed rehabilitation pro-gram, General Hershey said:

'National Headquarters has consistently advocated that efforts be made to rehabilitate registrants who have remediable physical defects. Al-though more than a third of the men examined are rejected as unfit for general military service, a substan-tial percentage of them have imperfections which can be corrected.

"If proper measures are taken, ev ery registrant who has remediable defects will be given opportunity for treatment so that he can qualify for military training at a time when his nation and his heighbors need his service.

with those agencies primarily re-sponsible for the rehabilitation program by giving them the names and other essential information concerning rejected registrants who have remediable defects. Plans to make the information available to authorized agencies will be completed within a few days."
