

Women Can Aid In Protecting Nation

The women can and should take an important part in protecting the nation from economic chaos. So said S. F. (for Sylvia) Porter, noted woman financial columnist of the New York Post, at the Stephens College forum on "The American Woman and Her Responsibilities" at Columbia, Mo. As keeper of the family pocketbook and manager of the home, Miss Porter said, the American woman will play a crucial role in deciding: Whether inflation does come; whether the Defense Bond sale is to be "the success it should and must be"; whether our lawmakers are able to put through the tax laws, and the price- and wage-restrictive laws that are "essential to our economic democracy"; whether our industrial inventive geniuses are to succeed in helping us maintain our standard of living through the use of substitutes for scarce goods, and simplification of product design and styles. She particularly warned against hoarding of goods, against "being scared into runs on the stores to stock up on commodities like silk stockings and sugar".

Kicker In Country's Late Taxation Bill

Kicker of the "outlined" brand new $5,000,000,000 tax bill mentioned last week proved to be the 15 per cent "withholding" income tax, to go on top of already steepened income tax rates. Congress shows signs of balking violently at putting through that drastic a sock, especially at doing it in the big time of two months. But most agree that, whatever and whenever new taxes are enacted, they should be of the "deduct at source" type. It was emphasized that Secretary Morgenthau did not submit his new tax ideas as "proposals" for action—just as an "outline." Since a prime motive for the new taxes is to guard against inflation, Congress may try to achieve the same end, in part, by stiffening the price ceiling legislation now in the works, thus partially easing the pressure for making new taxes as severe as those outlined.

North Carolina Has a Real Part in the Story of American Democracy

Democracy is a much written and a much spoken word. Every nation seems to be "for" or "against" the democratic way of life. In the story of the world, three real democracies are the ones usually used as reference illustration in speeches and articles. Athens of Ancient Greece is famous as the birthplace of democracy, for all the citizens were allowed a part in the government of that city. A true or real democratic government is one that gives everybody a direct part in governing. In the past only small communities have been able to have a meeting of all the citizens when laws were to be adopted or plans made.

Our United States is a democracy in the republican form. This nation is a republic because it is not possible for every citizen to go to Washington and assemble in one group. Representatives are elected by the people to be sent to Congress. Long before North Carolina was settled, little groups in New England held town meetings. Those meetings are a familiar part of the story of American self-government. From the platform, patriotic speeches ring out telling the story of those New Englanders who held town meetings which included all the citizens of the community. They came together as one group to make their laws. The third illustration known by the average man is the Swiss Canton.

Representative government goes so far back in the history of North Carolina that the occasions when true democracy was practiced have been forgotten. Side by side with New England town meetings, the first assembly that met in North Carolina should be included in the story of American democracy. The planters who had settled in the new colony south of the Virginia line met as a group to make laws by which they were to be governed. Ashe's history of North Carolina

2-Week Airport

Army engineers are shown at work on the portable airport being laid down at Marston Strip, S. C. Metal strips 16 inches wide and 10 feet long are locked together to form a runway 150 feet wide and 3,000 feet long. The job takes two weeks. Holes in the metal mat permit grass to grow through it and serve as camouflage.

Conservation Rates Of AAA Announced

Rates of payment for planting within special crop allotments under the 1942 Agricultural Conservation Program of the AAA have been announced, according to E. Y. Floyd, State AAA executive assistant at State College. The rates and other provisions of the program, explains Mr. Floyd, are "directed at greater conservation achievements on individual farms and at helping farmers attain record production of farm products needed under the Farm Defense Program."

Payment rates, except for commercial wheat, are somewhat lower than in 1941. The rates include: one and one-quarter cents per pound for cotton; 10 and one-half cents per bushel for commercial wheat; $1.45 per ton for peanuts; two cents per pound for commercial potatoes; seven-tenths of a cent per pound for flue-cured tobacco, and seven-tenths of a cent per pound for burley tobacco.

Payment for complying with acreage allotments will be made in ratio to the degree to which soil-building goals are carried out on the farm.

In lieu of total soil-depleting allotments established under past programs, the 1942 program provides that a specified percentage of cropland be devoted to soil-building and soil-conserving uses.

"This provision in the 1942 program, bolstered by continuation in 1942 of the increased funds set aside in 1941 for carrying out soil-building practices, is a forward step in the continued improvement of the country's soil," Floyd said.

The AAA officer stressed the importance of farmers planning their programs this year in line with defense needs. The conservation provisions of the appointment of William Drummond as governor and adds these comments: "Shortly after the government was organized, not later than the spring of 1665, the first Assembly was held, and the little settlement became a self-governing community, a pure democracy, the entire body of the inhabitants acting for themselves, and not through the instrumentality of representatives."

Soldiers Use Dogs To Bait Catfish

Sgts. Robert Connor and Jack Barry, Battery G, 207th C. A. (A.A.) recently spent an afternoon during a recreation period between Army Troops manuevers fishing in a small stream near Albemarle, N. C. After hours of catching nothing, they ran out of bait, since the fish would merely gobble and run. Sgt. Connor thought of the wieners they had brought along to roast for a picnic supper.

The sergeants returned to camp with their packs full of catfish.

The program is aimed at increasing production of specific crops needed for defense.

Look into the Last Mile... FIRST

MAYBE it's a little hard to picture this trim Buick as it will look on that unknown day when you come to turn it in.

There may be scars in its fenders, and use-stains on its upholstery—but the thing that matters is it'll still be going great guns.

You can count on that husky valve-in-head straight-eight to be ticking off the miles with the satisfying efficiency it now boasts.

You can rely on Compound Carburetion! to hold your gas-costs down, squeezing every last power-pounding mile out of the fuel you burn.

There won't be any loss of easy comfort in those all-coil springs, or any need for care to keep them gentle.

As for such things as connecting rods and bearings—Buick rods are extra strong, while tests show that our oil-cushioned bearings last twice as long as others under the same load and service.

So go right ahead! Buy Buick on its last mile instead of its first.

If you can get one now, you'll be smart to grab it!
