

Thanksgiving Day Feast in the Army

Fort Bragg—With the majority of its troops in the field on maneuvers Fort Bragg will on Thanksgiving still give a good account of itself in the gustatory department. According to the Quartermaster Subsistence Office, soldiers of this largest artillery post in the world will consume some 24,000 pounds of turkey. As the birds weigh anywhere from eight to twenty pounds each it is estimated that the number of gobblers to receive military funerals on November 20th will approximate 1600.

On the lavish menu with the turkey will be all manner of delicacies not usually enjoyed by the soldier at home. A sample Army Thanksgiving day bill-of-fare follows:

Dinner—Celery and olives, oyster cocktail, creamed celery soup, roast turkey, sage dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, candied yams or mashed potatoes, buttered string beans and creamed carrots, lettuce hearts and Russian dressing, pumpkin or mince pie, cheese, cocoshut layer cake, oranges, apples, bananas and grapes, mixed nuts and mixed nut rolls and butter coffee.

In order to furnish such a meal to the thousands of troops stationed at Fort Bragg the post Quartermaster will purchase calmly food supplies which would stagger the imagination of any housewife.

A list of the orders on hand follows: 24,000 apples, 10,800 bananas,

4,800 stalks of celery, 6,000 pounds fresh carrots, 3,320 pounds canned string beans, 2,400 pounds butter, 7,200 pounds bread, 3,600 pounds American cheese, 1,920 pounds coffee, 2,880 pounds canned cranberry sauce, 4,080 dozens eggs, 6,000 pounds flour, 20,400 pounds Irish potatoes, 7,200 pounds sweet potatoes, 1,440 pounds pumpkin, 6,240 pounds granulated sugar, 720 pounds brown sugar, 7,200 pounds fresh grapes, 2,400 pounds smoked ham, 5,760 heads of lettuce, 24,000 bottles of milk, 2,880 pounds canned mince meat, 2,400 pounds mixed nuts, 960 quarts, green olives, 1,300 pounds fresh onions, 48,000 oranges, 480 gallons oysters, 1,600 pounds assorted candies.

In addition to the royal feast, usually enhanced by the ingenuity of individual mess sergeants and cooks, soldiers will find cigars and cigarettes beside their plates. The extras are paid for out of the company fund and the savings made by units who purchase from the Quartermaster—usually amounting to 2 per cent on food.

On Thanksgiving day officers of all organizations are especially careful in their inspections of kitchens and dining rooms to make sure preparations have been properly made and that the food will be attractive and served. As a rule, the mess halls are decorated for the banquet and often special menu cards are prepared for the occasion with the name of the soldier's unit and a Thanksgiving sentiment included with the bill-of-fare. Every effort is made to give the boys in khaki a holiday to make the boys in khaki happy and satisfied inside and out.

Curtailment Moves In Another Phase

Curtailment of peacetime goods production to save materials for arms is moving into a new phase, with attention being directed to leaving off non-essential features of basic articles. Autos, of course, shed their "bright work" come December 15. Electric stove makers face somewhat similar problem: either simpler and smaller models—or smaller unit quota allowed. Candy industry is trying to meet OPM request to cut down by 25 per cent on amount of paper used, by less pretentious boxes, fewer dividers and trays, etc. . . . Even for household replacements like electric switches, pipe and cawtoughs we may eventually have to sign slips at the store certifying the article is needed for replacement.

However, restrictions against use of copper sheet, strip and screen in private building have been postponed to January 1; after that, manufacture in those forms for that purpose will be prohibited.

Beaufort County Farmer Tells Friends Pow-O-Lin Relieved His Suffering

"I Felt So Achy, Sluggish and Worthless, Often Felt I Couldn't Make It To My Barn and Back," States Mr. Gerringer. Tells of Happy Relief Through Pow-o-lin. Recommends It To His Friends.

MR. J. D. GERRINGER

Throughout this entire section, well known men and women continue to pour out their heartfelt, grateful praise to Pow-o-lin, strongly endorsing this purely herbal preparation for the splendid benefits they received when taking it. Among these is Mr. J. D. Gerringer, prosperous tobacco and cotton grower of Route 1, Box 51, Washington, N. C. Mr. Gerringer happily declares:

"When I read statements of well known men and women who had taken Pow-o-lin with such happy relief, I decided I would try it. I suffered terribly from indigestion, and it seemed everything I ate would hurt me, swell me with gas and bloat me until I was actually afraid to eat. Undernourishment weakened me until sometimes I felt I couldn't make it to the barn and back. My nerves were on edge from worry and I often heard the clock strike every hour of the night. Morning found me feeling all in, worthless, unable to attend to my work. My family was worried about me, for I had tried everything I ever heard of with only disappointment. Constipation forced me to take strong purgatives that seemed to tear through me and leave a soreness I could hardly stand. I don't suppose there was a more wretched man in all Beaufort County. Pow-o-lin lost no time in getting in its work. I now am not afraid to eat what I want and am relieved of the harassing gas and bloating. My head feels clear, my nerves calm and food gives me energy and strength. I don't have to take harsh laxatives and I haven't felt so good in a long, long time. Pow-o-lin deserves all the praise one can give it. It is the best medicine I ever saw." Pow-o-lin is a purely herbal, laxative preparation for the relief of distress of symptoms as plagued Mr. Gerringer when due to constipation. Thousands praise it. Pow-o-lin may be obtained at Clark's Pharmacy.

Soldiers Fighting The Food Surplus

Fort Jackson, S. C.—Compare your household food purchases with the amounts of food supplies being shipped out of the quartermaster depot at Fort Jackson to the 150,000 troops engaged in maneuvers in the western section of the Carolina maneuver area. Enough food is shipped in one day to feed an average small town for some time.

Between 30 and 35 carloads of food are shipped into the maneuver area daily. On the basis of strength reports, the supplies are shipped to various railheads spotted throughout the Carolinas. At present the Fort Jackson depot is supplying the food for the First Army Corps, two armored divisions and attached smaller units.

Huge quantities of food are supplied at the post and daily freight car loads of fresh supplies arrive. A recent check showed that the cold storage warehouse at Fort Jackson there were 300,000 pounds of boneless beef, 150,000 pounds of which was shipped out Monday. Beef is the most popular meat for troops in the field.

Troops get eggs every day and to meet the needs of cooks in the field who scramble, fry and boil them, 30,000 dozens go out each day. It takes three freight-cars to haul that many eggs.
