

Dealers Will Offer Seed For Gardens

Collections of seed for "Food for Freedom Gardens in 1942 Gardens" will be offered by seed dealers throughout the State, according to L. P. Watson and H. R. Niswonger, extension horticulturists of N. C. State College. Seven wholesale seed distributors have been asked to quote prices on the garden seed collection, and county farm agents of the Extension Service have been asked to contact reliable local seed dealers about the same service.

Every North Carolina farm family has been requested to grow a home garden as a part of their contribution to the Nation-wide "Food for Freedom" campaign. To make it easier for rural people to achieve this patriotic goal, the two extension horticulturists have compiled a list of vegetable seed, together with varieties and quantities of each, necessary to feed a family of five.

The dealers have been asked to wrap the seed in labeled packages and deliver all the seed at the same time. The collection includes approximately 26 pounds of seed, and is a sufficient quantity to furnish both fresh vegetables and supply of canning.

The seed, and the amount needed for a garden to feed a family of five, are of the following vegetables: Bush Lima beans, 2 1-2 pounds; pole Lima beans, 2 1-2 pounds; bush snap beans, 5 pounds; pole snap beans, 2 1-2 pounds; beets, 2 1-2 ounces; cabbage, 1 ounce; carrots, 2 1-2 ounces; collards, 1 ounce.

Cucumbers (slicing) 2 1-2 ounces; lettuce, 1 ounce; okra, 2 1-2 ounces; field peas, 2 1-2 pounds; garden peas, 2 1-2 pounds; peppers, 1-2 ounce; onions (sets) 5 pints; kale, 2 1-2 ounces; spinach, 2 1-2 ounces; squash, 2 1-2 ounces; sweet corn, 1 1-4 pounds; mustard, 5 ounces; tomatoes, 1-2 ounce; and turnips, 5 ounces.

Club Program Has Been Changed in '42

Miss Ruth Current, State home demonstration agent, announces that a state-wide Home Demonstration Club program for 1942 has been adopted under the theme: "Thrift and Health for Better Living." All of the 75,000 or more farm women and 4-H clubs will study the same subjects each month, instead of having single major and minor projects for the entire year.

The month-by-month program will be as follows:

January — Outlook meetings at which time "Family Plans for 1942" will be studied.

February — A study of the nutritional situation; what to do about food production, meal planning, food preparation and preservation, under the title, "Living Above the Safety Line."

March — "My Clothing Needs," including an inventory of what we have, what we need, and how to get it. A study of the minimum essentials of an adequate wardrobe.

April — "Future Security Through Conservation." — House furnishings and equipment, and garden and farm equipment.

May — "The Staff of Life—Whole Grain Products and Their Use." This will include a "Better Bread Campaign," a study of whole wheat breads and cereals and the food value of soybeans.

June — "Home Care of the Sick." Emphasis will be placed on diets, equipment and good bedding.

July — "Food Conservation," including demonstrations of canning fruits and vegetables.

August — "Planned Recreation" for all members of the family.

September — "Wise Use of Time and Money" at harvest time and when the children go back to school.

October — "Clothing Clinics" to learn the care and repair of wearing apparel and household furnishings.

November — "Building Strong and Sturdy Bodies" and the preparation of protein dishes.

December — "Housing Repairs and Improvements for Happier Living."

SCHOOL PUPILS SELDOM SEE REAL INDIANS

A "red man" is a stranger in the average North Carolina community. Only a few of the 900,000 pupils attending our North Carolina schools have seen real Indians. Even the Cigar Store's Indian Chief has disappeared.

Nevertheless, there are more than 15,000 red men living in North Carolina today. The Old North State has the largest organized reservation east of Wisconsin. Our Eastern Band of Cherokees is settled on 63,000 acres of reservation located in Swain, Jackson, Graham and Cherokee counties.

In the real Indian days of long ago, the Cherokee tribe was more populous than any other group in North Carolina. It was a powerful, detached member of the Iroquoian family. These Indians held a large mountain region lying partly within Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, and Alabama. These red men were appropriately called the "mountaineers of the South."

When an enemy struck with two much "thunder," the Cherokees turned to the hills of the great Smoky Mountains for protection. When the white armies marched against these red men, they fled to the Smokies to find refuge among the rugged mountain peaks.

During the American Revolution, the English encouraged uprisings against the Carolina frontiersmen which brought disaster and terror to the settlers of Western Carolina. General Griffith Rutherford was sent to the hills with a force of more than 2,000 men. Thirty-six Indian settlements were burned, and many of their men, women and children killed. Although their villages were left in desolation and ruin, the warriors found the great Smoky Mountains a safe land of retreat.

Again the soldiers of the white inhabitants marched against the "reds." President Andrew Jackson was determined to move the original American mountaineers to the reservations in the West and to open up their lands for settlement. President Van Buren sent General Winfield Scott to the mountains to round up and move the remaining Indians. He took with him soldiers of the regular army, militiamen and volunteers. The inhabitants of the mountains were herded together in forts and stockades. Then the long westward trek was begun. Thirteen thousand were thus transported. A tremendous number of them died on the way to their land of exile. The route they followed is known as the "Trail of Tears."

The strength of this once powerful Cherokee tribe was not broken; but the soldiers were unable to search all the mountain ranges of Western North Carolina. The Great Smokies were again the haven of safety for the original Americans who fled before General Scott's troops.

Happenings In The Jamesville School
