The Postwar Period

Considerable fear and uncertainty are being read into the postwar period, and if we continue our demands for gains and advantageous positions there'll be good cause for fear and uncertainty in that period.

Two schools of thought are loose in the world today. One school sees the problem through a greedy eye and talks about boundaries, trade routes on land and sea and in the air. The other school is adhering to golden rule principles, and is willing to give and take in the name of a lasting peace.

No matter which school succeeds, the postwar period is not very encouraging from here. The shock that is due to follow the wholesale death and destruction is certain to make itself felt, and it will not be absorbed by the cunning and sly who maneuver for advantageous positions in trade and relations with other peoples and nations.

If America goes into the peace problem with a burning desire to build for a lasting peace, good results are to be expected. Let America and Britain, too, go into the peace problem with unjust demands and it is quite possible that the peace will be short lived.

America and Britain are spending billions and sacrificing thousands. Surely the price we are paying now and the price we will have to pay in another war will be far greater than the one we would have to pay in surrendering fabulous claims and working for a just peace.

If we play fair at the peace table we can expect fair treatment; if we leave it up to a cock-eyed senate and half-baked politicians, we can expect another war in due time with chaos and strife ruling supreme during the meantime.

Help FSA And The Little Man

Progressive Farmer. FSA is regarded as the one agency of the Government especially created to help the low-income farmer. While the American Farm Bureau and the National Cotton Council, through their splendid accomplishments, have helped all Southern farmers, yet by their attempted destruction of FSA they not giving support to opponents who charge that they are more interested in the big farmer than in the welfare of the small producer? Regardless of their intentions, in this fight on FSA they are driving a wedge between farm classes at a time when good feeling and unity of action by all farmers are imperative.

The Progressive Farmer believes that, as a whole, FSA has done a fine job. It has helped 30,000 farmers to become landowners and it has come to the aid of other thousands of small tenant farmers who were able to find help from no other source. Now that the war calls for all-out production, FSA has a logical place in the program. It is the small farmer who is least troubled by labor shortage. With FSA loans and supervision he can maintain or increase farm production in 1943 to an extent greater than any other group of farmers. Figures made public just a few weeks ago show that FSA borrowers, representing but 7.6 per cent of the nation's farms, produced more than a third of the nation's increase in milk in 1942. Ten per cent of the total increase in chickens and eggs came from these same farms and 9 per cent of the increase in pork.

And if our Congressmen who have been fighting FSA think Southern farmers are not interested in this matter, we would commend the answers of 168 representative Progressive Farmer subscribers who recently answered this question: "Should the Federal Government largely increase its efforts to help worthy tenant farmers become home-owners?" "Largely" was the word used, mind you. And of the 168 answering, only 9 said no, 159 said yes.

Take A Risk For America

Take a risk for America this year. Don't underplant; plant all the acreage you think you can harvest under most favorable conditions. Then if these favorable conditions are realized, you will have done your utmost for America and for victory. If conditions are unfavorable, you will at least have done your patriotic duty.—Progressive Farmer.

THE SECOND WAR LOAN STARTS APRIL 12th

(WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE)

13 Billion Dollars Must Be Raised!

THE GOVERNMENT of the United States is asking us to lend it 13 billion dollars in the next few weeks. We can do it. And we MUST do it. Every American must realize the truth:

In this, our toughest war, we've made a good start. We've trained a lot of men—made a lot of weapons—built a lot of ships.

But it's only a start. No man or woman among us would content for a single instant that we're doing enough NOW to win this war!

WE'VE GOT TO BUILD MORE!

We broke all records building 8 million tons of shipping last year. But grim-faced Army and Navy men will tell you that the 18 million tons we're building this year STILL won't be enough.

WE'VE GOT TO FIGHT MORE!

From now till this war is won, America must be on the offensive. In ever-increasing numbers, your sons, brothers, husbands must go into actual battle. Our losses have already begun to mount—and they will not grow less.

AND WE'VE GOT TO BUY MORE WAR BONDS

Sure we're all buying War Bonds now. But we've got to help pay for our increased fighting and building. . . . We've got to match, as best we can, the sacrifice of those Americans who are toiling and sweating on a dozen battlefronts—with the bloodiest yet to come. The blunt fact is this: to keep our war machine going, we've got to dig up 13 billion EXTRA dollars this month. 13 billion dollars over and above our regular War Bond buying!

In the next few weeks you may be visited by one of the thousands of volunteers who are contributing their time and effort to this Drive. But don't wait for him. Make up your mind now that before this drive is over, you're going to march right down to your nearest bank, Post Office, or place where they sell War Bonds and do your duty. And don't ever forget this: in doing your duty, you're doing yourself one of the biggest favors of your life!

For United States War Bonds are the greatest investment in the world—bar none. They're investments tailored to fit your particular situation. And they give you the chance of a lifetime to order and GET the kind of world you want to live in after this war. Every cent you put in War Bonds now will help to guarantee plenty of peace time jobs making peace-living for every one of us.

For your Country's sake—for your OWN sake—invest ALL YOU CAN!

There Are 7 Different Types of U. S. Government Securities— Choose The One Best Suited For You!
