Promoted To Rank of Captain In U. S. Army

Dr. Jas. S. Rhodes, Jr., local young man, has been promoted to the rank of captain in the U. S. Army, it was learned here this week.

Captain Rhodes sailed for overseas just a short time ago, and is believed to be in the African area of operations.

Joe Everett was here from Norfolk this week.

Miss Pattie Battle, of Baltimore, visited relatives here last week-end.

Allies Established Firmly on Sicily in Second Major Drive

ping up, the combined Allied fleets and air forces are pounding the enemy from all directions. Big battle wagons, stationed near the 150-mile bridgehead, hurled shells ahead of the invaders, and Allied warplanes, playing the role of long-range artillery, swept over Sicily and Italy from dawn to dusk Sunday, wrecking 400 troop and supply trucks and destroying 47 enemy aircraft in one-sided sky battles.

All types of planes, from deadly little fighter-bombers to big Flying Fortresses and Liberators, winged out from Malta, the Middle East and North Africa to give the enemy another display of Allied air power.

Only 11 Allied planes were lost all day, including two of Malta's Spitfires, which shot down 24 enemy planes, and nine from the North African commands.

(A United Press Valetta dispatch said Malta's planes shot down 27 enemy planes Saturday night and Sunday, three of them apparently Saturday night for a total of 50 enemy planes destroyed in that period.)

The Allied attacks were spearheaded by the new six-gunned United States A-36 bombers which concentrated on truck convoys rushing men and supplies to the areas where the Axis was trying to halt American, British and Canadian troops. Zooming down with all guns blazing, the A-36's dropped hundreds of wing-bombs on the convoys, one numbering 200 trucks.

Four Sicilian airfields — Catania and Gerbini in the east; Milo in the northwest, and Sciacca in the southwest — were attacked by Flying Fortresses and medium bombers. Meanwhile, American Liberator bombers of the Middle East attacked the air-dromes at Reggio Di Calabria and Vibo Valentia in southern Italy.

In Russia, fierce fighting continues in the Belgorod sector, but it is fairly apparent that the Germans are meeting their match and are making little or no progress there.

The big offensive, the third in as many summers, is nearing an acute stage. During the eight days the battle has been raging along the 150-mile front, the Germans have

Eleven-Cent Cut In Special Road Tax For This Township

Thirty years ago the township bond issue was floated. Workers hauled clay and sand on the roads in the township. The rains soon washed the clay away and the wind soon blew the sand away, but the debt stayed on to plague taxpayers through storms and fair weather and through good times and bad times.

At the present time $1,698.72 is due on the bonds. Approximately $900 is due in back taxes, leaving about $798.72 to be raised by the 4-cent levy. But it isn't likely that all the back taxes will be collected since they run back to as far as 1928, but it is estimated the 4-cent rate will clear the old debt.

lost 2,600 tanks and 1,126 planes. No late report on casualties has been released, but during the first six days, the count was nearing 50,000 Germans killed, wounded and captured. And that's large-scale fighting.

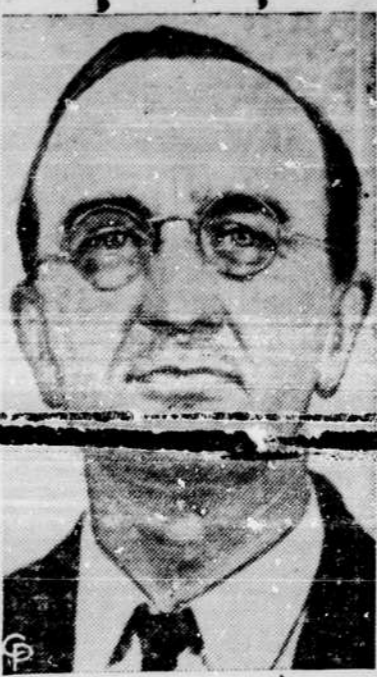

In the Pacific there's also some hot fighting on land and sea and in the air. And the Japs are getting the worst of it, indeed. Four more Jap ships, a cruiser and three destroyers, have been sunk in Kula Gulf, a body of water only fifteen miles long and about eight miles wide. The Jap attempt to reinforce its garrisons on New Georgia Island has cost the enemy between fourteen and fifteen ships, and the sea battle is believed to be still raging there.

The fall of Munda, the important base on New Georgia, is expected within a few days, late reports stating that American Marines and Armymen are steadily pushing forward. American airmen state that little has been left in the wake of their raids at Munda.

A PERSONAL INVITATION

Due to the scarcity of gasoline it will be next to impossible for us to call on all the tobacco growers in eastern Carolina this year. We trust you will appreciate our position and accept this as a very personal invitation to sell your tobacco with Claude Griffin and Jimmy Taylor at the Roanoke-Dixie Warehouse in Williamston. Jule James will be with us again this year and he joins in welcoming you to our warehouse. As always, tobacco will sell higher in the Roanoke-Dixie Warehouse. Begin the season right . . . Sell your first load with us opening day.
