Mighty Small

When men offer their lives on distant battle fronts in the name of freedom, they must think it mighty small of us to wrangle over a gallon of gasoline for pleasure driving on the peaceful highways and byways back home.

Be it fair or unfair, gasoline rationing as it is respected back home, no doubt, has caused many fighting men to wonder if the civilians are willing to accept sacrifices and support the war program. Let it be recorded here and now that many, many people are accepting gas rationing along with the entire program of war economy without complaint.

These people, no doubt, appear mighty small to the man who risks his life, and their acts, regardless of how well they are covered now, will find their way into the light in due time and bring contempt down upon their heads.

Must Not Forget

On the eve of another marketing season, interest centers in tobacco prices. It is no more than right for the man who has labored long and hard to expect an honest reward for his efforts.

winning the war.

When the dollars begin to pour in from the harvests, we should remember that the young men still hanging on to life's waning spark in Japanese and other enemy prisons have a first claim, morally at least, to those dollars.

Ten Martin County men have sacrificed their lives, one experiencing suffering and agony and death in a Jap prison. Possibly more than two thousand others are in the service, many of them doing their bit in the front lines in the jungles of the South Pacific, others in the bleak wastes of the Aleutians, and some in the European Area.

Protest unfair tobacco prices, yes, but let us not forget or falter in the task entrusted to us. Let us buy bonds and more bonds, let us share sacrifices on the home front as loved ones share in full measure their sacrifices on the battle front.

Martin County's bond buying record in recent months has not measured up to expectations. Naturally, the dull summer months account for the poor showing in part, at least.

Living Costs

During the first week in August shoppers in southwestern Connecticut paid forty cents a pint for raspberries, two dollars for a watermelon, twenty-two cents each for a small lamb chop, forty-nine cents for a pound of cherries, twenty cents for a head of lettuce, twenty-five cents a pound for lima beans, $1.40 for a small broiler.

Have you bought a pair of shoes lately? Clothes do not cost as much as they did in War I, but prices have increased. In the main, the retailer is being squeezed as he is forced to pay more for his goods and has to face the ultimate consumer.

These facts and figures have been pointed out by the low-salaried man, but when he presents his case he is confronted with some other brand of statistics.

What appears to be so impressive is the small number who are rising up in indignant protest. Those who are plodding along and doing the best they can are the ones who are forming the backbone to the war effort at home.

Timely Suggestions For Farmers During The Current Month

Plenty To Do On Farm Now, Agricultural Teacher Points Out

By FRANK MEAGHAM, Agricultural Teacher

The following are a few of the accepted indications that a good farmer is on his job in August. It might be safe to say that the more of these things he does during this month the better farmer he will show up to be.

Tobacco stalks should be cut or destroyed as soon as the last barn is cured, for the old stalks and suckers furnish excellent breeding groups for all kinds of insects and diseases that will bother your tobacco crop next year.

Peanut poles are to be set in the field well before the rush of digging time is here.

The winter wood supply is cut and stored in the dry. This will prevent many headaches due to wood shortages during cold wet weather.

Ditch banks should be shrubbed clean for looks, insect shelter, and the drain on available plant food.

Those weeds in pastures, lots, and other places will have a hard time keeping healthy if they are cut close at this time. For best results be sure and cut before the seed ripens.

The fall garden should be well underway. Much good food can be produced in it before cold weather arrives.

It will be well to cull those hens and pullets as feed is too expensive for anything but the best chickens. Work stock should get some rest in a good pasture.

There is also some time for community service in making it a better place in which to live, without looking for the dollar and cents return.

Now is also a good time to help that boy or girl get something out of farm

Judge Saves Towels And Family Dishes

Chicago.—William H. Boulton, appearing before Judge Francis Borelli recently on a disorderly charge made by his wife, explained:

"It all started over the dishes. I tried to get her to wash the pots and pans last because I wipe the dishes and when you wipe pots first they ruin the towels."

The judge dismissed the case. "Go home," he told Mr. Boulton. "You wash the dishes and let her wipe them." The Boultons smiled and departed arm in arm.

life except long hours and hard hot work. Let them visit Uncle John or Aunt Kate or catch up with their fishing.

As for the farmer himself, if he has not already taken a vacation in "piece meal" at the local filling station this summer, it would do him good to take a few days' vacation.

IMPOSSIBLE?..NOT IN AMERICA!

ON A RECENT FRIDAY EVENING. Over the phone came word from the Philadelphia Army Ordnance of a rush call from North Africa. A totally new kind of petroleum product was needed—a product never before made. Shipment must be made in eight days. How soon could 45,000 pounds be ready? In less than twenty-four hours our chemists, working from a rough description of the material, had an answer.

MONDAY MORNING. Via Army Jeep a sample arrived at the laboratory. Chemists took it apart, analyzed it. Refinery experts worked out manufacturing procedure. The Army pitched in to help gather needed materials. By Wednesday, as promised, 45,000 pounds of a petroleum product never before manufactured was being produced on schedule.

THE FOLLOWING FRIDAY. Another call from Army Ordnance. Could we make an additional 150,000 pounds in less than a week? By mobilizing another plant, we thought we could...even though some of our equipment was breaking down under the strain of making a product it hadn't been designed for. As the deadline approached, still another plant was called in from the Army for an extra 50,000 pounds!

4 A. M. FRIDAY, ONE WEEK LATER. Express cars had been coupled to fast passenger trains...even giant Army bombers were helping to speed delivery. But the job was done! 245,554 pounds of new material for a job that had never been done before—and for an invasion that wrote a new page in history.

A little more than was asked, a little sooner than was promised!...That is how all of us can help to shorten this war. It is the way the people of this and other organizations all over the country are getting the job done—the American way.
